Joint Seminar For Employers Held By C of C

Complete review of the new federal occupational safety and health act (OSHA) will be given at a seminar for employers at Crookston on Thursday, April 20. The meeting is being cooperatively sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce of Crookston, Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks and is open to all area employers.

The seminar will be held at the Eagles hall, 105 Broadway in Crookston from 2 to 5 p.m. It will be more detailed than the session held here and informational packets will be distributed to those registering attendance.

The meeting will be conducted by staff members of the Minnesota Association of Commerce and Industry (MACI), with Oliver S. Perry, MACI's executive vice president, serving as chairman. Perry announced that this will be the 15th seminar to be conducted under MACI sponsorship in various areas of the state. He added that over 2,500 persons have attended these seminars which involve detailed discussions on the new law, its record-keeping requirements and job safety standards to which employers must adhere.

In urging all Thief River Falls employers to have representation at the seminar, Perry stressed the fact that the new federal law is tough, technical and complicated and that it is important for all employers to know how it will affect their businesses.

He pointed out that OSHA applies to almost every employer and that those not complying with its provisions can be subjected to stiff penalties for failure to provide safe and healthful workplaces for the employees. According to Perry, many employers mistakenly believe that the law applies only to large firms or those in manufacturing activities. He emphasized that its application is to all types of employers, including those who hire agricultural labor.

Participating in the seminar besides Perry will be Harry D. Peterson, MACI director of employee relations.

Registration for the seminar should be made with the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce by Monday. A $4.50 per person registration fee to cover the cost of materials and incidental expenses is being charged.

National Guard Citizens' Group Being Activated

by Dennis Johnson
Times Reporter

One of the vital characteristics of the National Guard is a close tie-in between the local unit and the community. To maintain this relationship, personnel of local units are reminded that public relations is a two-way street requiring the guard's support of local activities in return for community support of the unit. To establish effective liaison with the community, commanding officers of National Guard units are encouraged to form a local citizens' committee.

Members of the committee are appointed by the governor of the state upon recommendation of the local commander and approval of state headquarters of the National Guard. They are appointed for a term of three years and may be re-appointed for succeeding terms. Each member receives a certificate of appointment from the governor.

Selection criteria for membership has been established by regulation from state headquarters. Commanders are instructed to look for desirable qualities when selecting members. It is prescribed that committeemen should have a sincere interest in the National Guard. They should be respected citizens with personal integrity and a reputation for possessing common sense. A willingness to devote time and effort when needed is also important.

Members of the citizens' committee are invited to visit the unit informally at any time. They also receive specific invitations to special or ceremonial functions. They are particularly welcome to visit the unit while in field training.

The National Guard unit in Thief River Falls Company B, Second Battalion of the 136th Infantry, Minnesota National Guard, has had a citizens' committee for several years. After the terms of the first committee expired, a second one was appointed in 1971. It is composed of eight members from the Thief River Falls area. Orville M. Hanson, Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Ellsworth Jorgenson, Arnold Narverud, David K. Strong and Gerald A. Wigness are members from Thief River Falls. Edward L. Keifenheim and Edgar A. Naplin from Red Lake Falls are also on the committee.

Six committeemen ate with the unit Sunday noon and held a meeting after the meal. Captain Ronald P. Anderson, company commander, briefed the group on present guard activities and the scheduled events in which the unit will be participating.

Capt. Anderson also made a specific request of the committee. He asked that the group suggest community projects that the unit may participate in. He stated that units in other areas have helped clean parks or play grounds, assisted in preparing a camping area for summer occupancy, and worked with local groups on bicycle or firearms safety. Some of these activities are already being handled by organizations locally but were mentioned to illustrate the possibilities.

Resources of the local unit include about 80 to 85 men and several trucks. They are particularly looking for projects that would utilize a large portion of the manpower and be accomplished in several hours on a Sunday. Individuals with ideas or suggestions may contact a member of the citizens' committee or the local guard unit.

During their meeting, committeemen discussed several ideas for a unit project and will continue to consider them along with any that might be suggested. They also started making plans and preparations for attending part of the summer training session when B Company goes to Camp Ripley for two weeks in June. A helicopter has been requested to fly them down and back but it is not yet known if one will be available.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Barbed Humor

"Many a truth," says an old proverb, "is spoken in jest."

But what about a lie that is spoken in jest? Is a false statement excusable if the speaker is "only kidding"?

Consider the case of a television personality who, in the course of his patter, referred to one of his guests as "a member of the Mafia."

The remark got a big laugh from the audience, but the guest was not amused. Instead, he filed a defamation suit against his host, accusing him of soiling an innocent person's good name.

Nevertheless, the court turned down the guest's claim. The judge pointed out that the remark not only was intended to be funny but also was taken that way by the audience.

It is this last item—the reaction of the audience—that matters most in the law of defama- derogatory remark seriously, the tion. Unless listeners take a person's reputation simply is not harmed.

On the other hand, a jest may indeed be defamatory if those who hear it take it as true. Thus:

A guest at a party passed the word that his hostess had been dabbling in adultery. When she later sued him for defamation, he explained that he had been trying to be funny.

"How can I be liable," he said, "when I had no guilty intent? It isn't my fault that some people just did not catch on."

But the court ordered him to pay damages for failing to make his humorous intentions clear. As one judge put it:

"A person shall not be allowed to murder another's reputation in jest."

Even words of flattery may be defamatory if they carry a hidden sting. Another case arose because of repeated references to a local political leader as "beautiful" and "godlike." In fact, the man was widely known to have an ugly deformity, left from a severe illness some years earlier.

Under these circumstances, the court held that the words of seeming praise were actually defamatory. The court said the insult was no less painful, merely because it came in disguise.

Computer Soil Testing Offered For Homemakers

A computerized soil testing program to aid homeowners in lawn and garden care is being started this spring by the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service and soil science department.

Soil tests measure the relative nutrient status and guide in the making of recommendations for the efficient and safe use of fertilizer and lime.

Recommendations for lawns, gardens, fruit and shade trees and shrubs will be made to accommodate the soil's needs while attempting to avoid environmental pollution through excessive use of chemicals, William E. Fenster, university soil scientist said.

The computer program is designed to give recommendations based on the individual homeowner's situation, faster and more efficiently than previously was possible. Recommendations will be made for fertilizers generally available in local garden centers.

Information and materials for soil testing are available from county extension offices and most garden centers. There is a $2 fee for each sample tested. Samples can be delivered to room 29, soil science building, or mailed to the Soil Testing laboratory, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 55101.

Although homeowners are being offered the computerized program for the first time this year, soil testing is not new to Minnesota. County extension agents have been involved in making fertilizer and lime recommendations since 1955. Soil testing through the university has been available to Minnesota farmers in some form for the past 50 years.

The computerized system, which went into operation in September 1968, gives consistent, fast recommendations while maintaining personalized service. Results are returned in five to seven days.

The computerized system can make complete recommendations for 72 different crops. Such a job would take many hours for the trained soil scientist or county extension agent, but the computer does it quickly, taking the possibility of human bias or error out of fertilizer and lime recommendations.

ANSWERS ANSWERS ANSWERS

An adding machine performs accurately for anyone who uses it correctly. Each person may record a different column of figures. Answers will vary accordingly but each will be correct.

Life also registers what we give it . . . produces results correspondingly. Sometimes we are so harried and hurried with whirling activities we forget to include worship.

When we do clear our minds for understanding and prayer with God, good results follow.

The Church has accurate answers for modern problems. Let it help you find correct solutions.

The following day we drove through Dodge City and Sun City, Kan., we reached Vaughn, New Mexico that night. The following day we drove to El Paso, Texas and drove to Torez, Mexico where we enjoyed shopping in the old City Market. We spent that night at Tucson, Ariz., arriving the following forenoon at Mesa, Ariz., where we rented an apartment and contacted a doctor for Alice. During the time we spent in Mesa, we visited with my cousin and his wife the Agon Hanson's of Butterfield, Minn., who were spending the winter in Mesa also. Tips On Car Care

Change Oil And Filter Together

Engine oil is the lifeblood of your car. You might call an oil change a lubrication transfusion. Without a transfusion now and then, the engine isn't going to live. And in between transfusion-changes, the oil needs to be kept clean. That means the oil filter. Tests have shown that an engine without an oil filter wears out 85% sooner. Today, all engines have filters and with frequent changes of oil and filter together an engine's life can be extended 25% longer that if filters are changed only every other oil change.

Question: When to change or not to change.

Until recently many motorists usually went in for an oil change twice a year, but a new oil filter was installed only once a year.

Fram Corporation, for one, is now challenging that attitude. For years, car enthusiasts have changed filters at every oil change. There is mounting evidence that every driver should do the same.

The average crankcase holds five quarts of oil. One quart is held in the filter, so even though you change the oil, the result without a new filter is only 80% effective.

Actually, if an oil change were concerned only with dirt contamination, there would be no need to change oil, just the filter which traps all the harmful dirt and abrasive contaminants in the oil. But today, a great deal of engine contamination comes from chemical pollution. Acids, water, varnishes and sludges — all can flow through the filter and the engine, poisoning as they go. Stop-and-go neighborhood driving causes most of this. The engine never reaches operating temperatures and its consistent coldness causes chemical pollution.

Fram engineers urge you to make your oil change a complete change, possibly every 3,000 miles. If your car is new, follow the factory warranty recommendations. The new high compression engines generate extra heat and quickly break down the chemicals in the oil designed to fight sludge, acid and corrosion. Whatever oil change interval used, always include a new oil filter. Infrequent oil changes or an incomplete change without a new oil filter can eventually produce sticky oil rings, noisy valve lifters, burned valves, overheated engines, rapid wear, poor mileage . . . and that great spur to preventive maintenance the ultimate ring and valve job, or even worse bearings and perhaps a whole new engine.

Delightful Dolly

If one word had to be selected to describe the experience of attending the Lincoln senior high school choir's production of the musical "Hello, Dolly!", that word would have to be delightful.

There are other descriptive words which could be used regarding the musical—all complimentary—and we are sure they have been used extensively among the many hundreds of people who attended during the four nights of performances. Accolades are certainly due to the entire cast, director David Morken, James Solsten and his high school orchestra and the myriad people involved in assuring a smooth functioning of the lights, curtain, sound and sets.

Perhaps it is to some degree the enthusiasm of the moment, but it seems that each year the musicals get a little better. This year again it seemed that absolute excellence had been attained and that improvement would have been difficult if not impossible to secure. We are unable to see where a finer job of casting for the particular roles could have been done.

Taking nothing away from the performances of the lead characters who displayed outstanding talent, we would give the nod to a couple of young performers for superlative portrayals. Freshman Joe Kezar as Barnaby Tucker turned a lesser role into a major performance with an exhuberance and feeling for the part beyond the normal scope of one so young. Sophomore Karen Lindquist as Irene Molloy exhibited poise and stage presence beyond her years and perhaps the finest female singing voice in the cast.

Cast in the title role as Dolly, senior Shelley Worner showed her greatest strength in her acting and speaking. The gestures, facial expression and voice inflection, volume and timing were exceptional and her singing was only an added plus to the total performance. If there was anything unbelievable about the part, it was why anyone so obviously attractive should have to work so hard and deviously to catch the man she wanted.

Rob Swenson in the male lead was never out of character as the well known half a millionaire, Horace Vandergelder. With a shining athletic career in football, hockey and track coming to a close at Lincoln, Swenson did nothing to tarnish the image with his role in "Hello, Dolly!" He used facial expression, eye movement and a strong voice to carry off a very realistic and highly amusing performance.

Special tribute must be paid to Randy Carlson as Cornelius Hackl for both his hilarious actions and his fine singing voice. His ability to change moods completely in mid-sentence was amazing.

Mention must also be made of an impromptu performance Saturday evening by Vern Lindquist, picked from the supporting cast to fill in as Barnaby when Kezar developed a high fever and was confined at home. He withstood the pressure and carried off the part in acceptable fashion.

Credit for fine performances should also to go Solveig Swenson as the floozy Ernestina Money, Cam Peterson as the shy Minnie Fay, Lindy Sampson as the wailing Ermengarde, Mike Engen as the impatient Ambrose Kemper, Greg Sorenson as Rudolph, Heidi Ortloff as Mrs. Rose and Jon Anton as the Judge.

Director Morken must be given credit not only for the superb casting job but for developing a fast-paced production utilizing as many members of the choir as wanted to participate.

Attendance for us was a totally enjoyable evening—truly delightful.

Yes, Virginia: A Sanity Clause!

Following editorial is from the North Hennepin Post:

Yes, Virginia, there is a Sanity Clause.

Charles Loberg, executive secretary of the Regional Congress of Constructions Employees (RCCE) may not be too popular with the many construction workers around here, but he gets a doff of our hat for a statement he made last week.

Some of you out there better grab something firm before continuing—but consider this:

IN A PREPARED news release dated March 14, Loberg said contractors who are negotiating with the building trades are demanding that there be no increase in wages or benefits for at least one year.

The time has come to start thinking of the best interest of our industry and the community. As long as our customers, whether they be individuals or huge corporations, are priced out of our markets, the contractor's business will suffer and there will be fewer jobs for building tradesmen," Loberg stated.

He also said wage rates in the construction industry have reached a level that is no longer saleable, adding: "Wage increases in the last three years have been inconsistent with other industries, the cost of living and productivity. In many cases, total wages have increased 50 per cent since 1969. Because of this sudden disproportionate rise in wages and costs, the future of union employees and employers in this industry is in jeopardy."

POINTING OUT THAT unemployment in the building trades is increasing steadily, Loberg commented: "We know that the level of building activity is dropping steadily and we are being told almost daily by our customers that it is going to get worse." He added that the building trades unions have to accept their share of the blame for soaring construction costs. "And more important," he said, "They have to recognize their responsibility in helping to remedy the situation."

Loberg didn't single out any certain trade, but someone told us recently that many of the men building the huge IDS tower in downtown Minneapolis were earning $12 an hour, or $96 PER DAY. Maybe Loberg had something like that in mind when he issued the statement.

Gumperson's Law

Following commentary is from the Mahnomen Pioneer:

You may never have heard of the name of this law, but chances are you have been struck down by it many times!

"It's called Gumperson's Law.

Stated simply its says, "The contradictory of a welcome probability will assert itself whenever such an eventuality is likely to be most frustrating," or if you prefer, "The outcome of a given desired probability will be inverse to the degree of desirability."

For example: You can throw a burnt match out of the window of your car and start a forest fire while you can use two boxes of matches and a whole edition of the Sunday paper without being able to start a fire under dry logs in your fireplace!

Dr. R. F. Gumperson began serious work in 1938 on a phenomenon long known to scientists but up to that time was considered a mere curiosity. This was the fact that the forecasting record of the weather bureau, despite the use of the most advanced equipment and highly trained personnel, was not as good as some almanacs. After four years of research, Dr. Gumperson came forth with this law and was able to make a series of predictions, later confirmed by other scientific workers in the field.

Some of Dr. Gumperson's better known predictions are these:

After a raise in salary you will have less money at the end of each month than you had before.

A girl at a race track who bets according to the color of the jockey's shirt will pick more winners than the man who has studied the past performance of every horse on the program.

Children often have more energy after a hard day of play than they do after a good night's sleep.

The person who buys the most raffle tickets has the least chance to win.

A child can be exposed to mumps for weeks without catching them but can catch them without exposure the day before the family goes on vacation.

The dishwasher will break down the evening you give a dinner party for 10 people.

Good parking places are always on the other side of the street.

Dr. Gumperson served as a consultant to the armed services during World War II and evolved the procedure whereby the more a recruit knew about a given subject the better chance he had of receiving an assignment involving some other subject.

There is no knowing to what heights Dr. Gumperson's genius might have led him but for his untimely death in 1947. He was walking along the highway one evening, obeying the pedestrian rule of walking to the left facing traffic, when he was struck down by an Englishman driving his car on the left side of the road.

Remember. . .The contradictory of a welcome probability will assert itself when ever such an eventuality is likely to be the most frustrating.

We just thought you'd like to know why you have "days like that!"

Borrowed Nonsense

Modern young lady (to real estate agent who tried to sell her a house): A home? Why do I need a home? I was born in a hospital, educated in a college, courted in an automobile and married in a church; I live out of the delicatessen and paper bag; I spend my mornings on the golf course, my afternoons at a bridge table, and my evenings at the theater; when I die, I am going to be buried from the undertaker's. All I need is a garage.

THE PHOTO FACTFINDER

Question: How can we make more interesting movies of our baby?

Answer: There are two general approaches to filming your baby in motion. Either approach can produce successful films.

Great unplanned films, like "accidental" scientific discoveries, come to those who are ready for them. Keep your camera loaded and handy if you want to capture those fleeting moments when your baby makes a surprising discovery or attempts to learn a new skill.

Planned films can be just as exciting. Film baby as he receives a new toy. Put a big bowl of whipped cream in front of him and film what happens next. Your movie should be worth the mess.

If your camera has a zoom, you can get charming closeups from a doorway before baby spots you. Add a touch of adult humor to your movies. For instance, when editing film of baby in the bath, interrupt the action with a title card that says "ouch!" if he accidentally gets soap in his eye!

Question: I just developed the movie film I shot on a day's fishing. I find that I have great zoom close-ups of fish, but blurry film on my son, who was in the boat with me. What went wrong?

Answer: Either your camera is incapable of taking closeups in a small boat or you forgot to bring along an attachable wide-angle lens. Conventional zoom cameras which give excellent magnified closeups from four feet away or more are often useless when the subject is closer than a yard. An exception is the Bolex 280 Macrozoom, which lets you get as close as you like without attachments. It also adjusts itself automatically to changing light conditions and has built-in features that help you make imaginative titles and message inserts.

If you don't have a closeup lens, your camera store's accessory counter may be able to supply one. Renting a slightly longer boat is another possible solution!

For more ideas on how to make your films more interesting and on how to get around technical difficulties, write for a two-year subscription ($2 for four issues) to Bolex Reporter Magazine, 1900 Lower Road, Linden, New Jersey 07036.

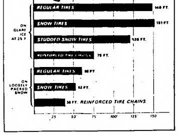
CAN YOU STOP IN TIME?



The above chart, prepared by the Safe Winter Driving League, summarizes latest test findings of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. These tests have disclosed that conventional snow tires are of no help in stopping on glare ice. Studded tires, however, reduce braking distance on ice by 19%, and reinforced tire chains by 50%. Snow tires reduce braking distance on loosely packed snow by 13% and tire chains by 37%.

Regardless of the help provided by this equipment, however, drivers should realize that braking distances on snow and ice are far greater than the normal dry pavement distance.

Turkey And Vegetables For Spring

"Turkey for spring" is the economy tip of the season. Turkey provides a favorite flavor for all ages that is highly nutritious (highest in protein, high in niacin and riboflavin) and a dieter's dream (lowest in fat and cholesterol content), but it's also an economical meat to serve—as low in price today as it was 15 years ago.

With such a list of credentials turkey should be served often in every home. It's truly spring's best meat buy!

Spring Turkey With Vegetables

1. Thaw turkey at room temperature, allowing 1 hour per pound.
2. Remove plastic bag. Remove neck and giblets from cavities; rinse turkey and drain.
3. Stuff as desired and fasten legs either by tying or tucking under skin band. Neck skin should be skewered to back and wings twisted to rest under turkey.
4. To roast, place turkey breast-up on small rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with melted butter, if desired. If roast meat thermometer is used, insert into thick part of thigh. Roast at 325°F. Time chart below is guide to length of cooking time. About 1½ hours before turkey should be done, place pared carrots and potatoes around base of turkey, turning to coat each with drippings. Continue roasting until thermometer registers 180-185°F., when turkey is done.

NOTE: A "tent" of foil placed loosely over the turkey will control the degree of brown-ness and may be removed the last half hour for final browning.

TIME CHART FOR ROASTING STUFFED TURKEY

Preheated oven 325°F.

Ready-to-cook Weight	Approximate Cooking Time
8 to 12 pounds	3½ to 4½ hours
12 to 16 pounds	4½ to 5½ hours
16 to 20 pounds	5½ to 6½ hours
20 to 24 pounds	6½ to 7 hours

NOTE: Because turkeys vary in conformation, variety, etc., cooking times can be only approximate. Thus, it is well to allow an extra half hour of roasting time in case the turkey needs that extra cooking time. Unstuffed turkeys require approximately ½ hour less roasting time.

Northland Play Opens Thursday

Northland state junior college will present Eugene Ionesco's avant-garde play "Rhinoceros" Thursday, Friday and Saturday with performances at 8 p.m. in the college theatre.

Ionesco achieved international renown and acceptance as a major figure in the theatre upon the appearance of his play "Rhinoceros".

The disease "rhinoceritis", which innundates the city in the play, is representative of the spread of the Fascist movement before Ionesco left Rumania in 1938.

Because of this similarity, the play has interest for political scientists, sociologists and philosophers as well as those interested in the play as an example of the theatre of the absurd, and can be enjoyed for both its comedy and serious intent.

Included in the cast are Clark Dyrud, Dave Cameron, George Martin, Charlie Hanson, Mary Sherack, Rick Adams, Rob Womack, Dennis Dee and Mike Swenson of Thief River Falls; Leonard Kotta of Roseau; Pat Kleinwachter of Strandquist; Robin Westrum of Leonard; Peggy Barron of Baudette; and Janeane Hanson of Mentor.

Student admission is 75 cents and adult admission is one dollar.

Workshop Plans Its Open House

Minnesota's northwest area sheltered workshop will hold an open house Thursday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. The workshop is located at 8th street and North Davis avenue.

Millard F. Dailey, a grain farmer from Red Lake Falls, was elected chairman of the federal farm credit board at its organizational meeting Wednesday.

The 13-member board sets national policies for the cooperative farm credit system through which its farmer-owners borrow more than $14 billion annually. The board consists of 12 members who are appointed by the President of the United States for six-year staggered terms. Since the board was established in 1953, all of these appointments have been made from among nominees submitted to the president in elections by the three units of the system.

Dailey owns and operates a 440-acre grain farm. He is secretary-treasurer of the Red Lake Electric cooperative, a member of the board of directors of Minnkota power cooperative and a director of AID, Inc.

TRF Group Gains Control Of Oklee Manufacturing Co.

John Womack, president of Union state bank, heads a Thief River Falls group which recently gained control of Oklee Manufacturing company and is expected to assume operational control today (Monday).

The group purchased 25 per cent of the corporation from Wallace Groberg. Combined with a small amount of stock they already possessed and a coalition agreement with other stockholders, the Thief River Falls group effectively gained control of the company, although Groberg is still the largest single corporation stockholder.

Elected to the board of directors of Oklee Manufacturing were J. J. Womack and Mervin Prestebak of Thief River Falls; David Bachand, Margaret Johnson and Alvin Jenson of Oklee; and Bob Severson of Hallock. One seat was left open, Groberg reported, so that the new management will have a place on the board.

Reorganization is expected to give the clothing manufacturing company new management and more sales expertise. According to Groberg, this will provide more employment through expanded sales. The company's employment potential is about 125 workers.

Founder of Oklee Manufacturing, Groberg said he will concentrate his efforts now on sales for OMC as well as for Trail Craft company and Oklee Surplus which he will continue to manage.

Trail Craft, with a plant at Trail, is presently working on a contract for windbreakers for Polaris, for a Boston store and surplus from this plant will be available through the Oklee surplus store.

The board of Oklee Manufacturing has not held a reorganization meeting as yet, therefore announcement of a new company president or manager can not be made.

Toll-Free Calls To Goodridge To Start On Sunday

Starting Sunday, April 23, Thief River Falls telephone users may call and be called from Goodridge without paying a long distance charge, according to D. L. Lindquist, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager in Thief River Falls.

"On these calls, just dial the seven-diget Goodridge number," he said. "It will no longer be necessary to go through the operator on and after next Sunday."

Lindquist said Goodridge numbers are listed in a new telephone directory being mailed to all customers this week.

He said the new calling arrangement was made possible by the installation of additional facilities by the Garden Valley Telephone company, which serves Goodridge, and by Northwestern Bell.

The new directory will contain both alphabetical and yellow pages listings for Thief River Falls, Baudette, Crookston and Warroad, and alphabetical listings only for Badger, Beltrami, Goodridge, Malung-Wannaska, Holt, Middle River, Newfolden, St. Hilaire, Rainy River, Ont., Viking and Williams.

Hydra-Mac Purchases ACS Property; To Locate Here

Thief River Falls will have a new industry beginning early in May, following purchase of the ACS building and property in the Thief River Falls industrial park by Hydra-Mac, Inc., of rural Red Lake Falls. The firm presently manufactures and markets a small four wheel drive loader and is just releasing a larger model.

The purchase includes the 120x150 warehouse and attached 25x80 office and eight acres of land from William LaFave, Lowell Swenson and James Winjum of Thief River Falls. Hydra-Mac also purchased five additional acres from Jobs, Inc., directly north of the present property and also in the industrial park.

Only a portion of the office area had been used by ACS industries and the warehouse had been rented to the local school district for school bus storage. With purchase of the downtown Arctic building, the school district will now have its own bus storage facility.

Hydra-Mac is a close-held corporation which includes Douglass Steiger as president, Clifton Johnson as vice president and Maurice Steiger as secretary-treasurer. All are from Red Lake Falls. Johnson will be production manager at the new facility and has been production foreman at Steiger Manufacturing at Red Lake Falls.

Directors of the corporation include Douglass and Maurice Steiger, Red Lake Falls; Robert Flynn, Thief River Falls; William T. Secrest, Edina; Ronald Wiemeri, Duluth; Fran Bogner, Beaver Dam, Wis.; and Joe Ecker, West Bend, Wisc.

Hydra-Mac is an outgrowth of the Steiger Tractor company which has been sold and is now located in Fargo, N.D. The Hydra-Mac company is in no way connected with the present Steiger tructor company.

Steiger Manufacturing company will continue to operate in the present location on the Steiger farm at rural Red Lake Falls. It will serve as a subcontractor to Hydra-Mac and also be engaged in other manufacturing as it has in the past.

The firm presently has 47 employees and expects to about double that number when in full production in the new facilities in July. About 25 will remain at the rural Red Lake Falls site. Management group of Hydra-Mac in Thief River Falls will be transferred out of the Steiger Manufacturing company management. All final assembly, sales, service and shipping will be done from the Thief River Falls plant.

The Mitey Mac unit manufactured by Hydra-Mac was first shown in June of 1970 and the first unit was sold in October of that year. Production was one machine a day until August of 1971 and has now grown to the extent that it has reached capacity at the Steiger farm. Net sales of Mitey Mac and allied products in March totaled

Hearing Held In Drug Raid Case

Pre-trial hearing for the five young men apprehended in the March 25 drug raid in northern Red Lake county was held in the Red Lake county court Thursday.

Purpose of the pre-trial hearing, under the American judicial system, is to determine if there is sufficient evidence available to bring an individual to trial.

Michael Sorenson, 25, Minneapolis, was released because of insufficient evidence. The cases of the other four—Leroy Ose, 19, rural Thief River Falls; Kim Engelstad, 19, rural Red Lake Falls; Calvin Wicklander, 20, rural Red Lake Falls; and Gary Toren, 19, Red Lake Falls, have been taken under advisement to permit the attorneys to prepare information briefs on the legality of the search which uncovered the evidence in the case.

If the judge, Joseph Harren, feels that the search was properly conducted and that the evidence obtained from the search is sufficient to show that the defendants should be tried, he will instruct that a trial date should be scheduled. If he does not believe that these requirements have been met, the defendants will be realeased and charges will be dropped.

The action taken is considered normal court procedure and does not give any indication of the final disposition of the case.

NSJC Has Third Student President

For the third time in the 1971-72 school, Northland state junior college's student association has a new president. Kim Murphy of Thief River Falls was elected to the position after Larry Fonnest resigned because of his concern for losing contact with students when he started an internship in the county welfare office.

Fonnest took the president's job before Christmas when Dennis Dee resigned. Dee stated that he did not have enough time to devote to the position.

A TOUCH OF SPRING was experienced again late last week when temperatures reached upward near the 60-degree mark and the little remaining snow in the area shriveled and shrank beneath the heat. This natural drainage course southwest of St. Hilaire spilled over the edges into a deep man-made ditch, creating the picturesque scene above. The sound of rapidly running water is always one of the signs of spring. And the Red Lake river in Thief River Falls opened without fanfare early Sunday morning and a few cakes of ice were floating downstream this morning as it continues to break upstream.

Negotiations By Council, Police Near Settlement

Pay negotiations between the police department and the Thief River Falls city council are nearing a settlement stage, at least from the city council's point of view.

At Tuesday's council meeting the council's negotiator proposed a pay offer to be sent to the police negotiator and recommended that the council stipulate that it would be the council's final offer. Members of the council agreed to go along with the recommendation.

The council has been presenting figures to the police for a two-year agreement for 1972 and 1973. The council proposes a 1972 starting salary of $575 for a patrolman and $25 raises every six months for 36 months. The 1973 pay scale would start at $585 and progress to $605, $630, $690 and an additional step to $720 after 48 months in the police department.

There would also be educational incentive pay of $8.25 per month when a policeman completes 30 hours of college credit, $16.50 for 60 quarter hours and $25 per month for 90 quarter credits. Police sergeants, although they are not part of the bargaining unit, would receive five per cent above the top patrolman. In 1972 that would total $708 per month and $756 per month in 1973. The investigator's pay would be increased from $752 per month in 1972 and $780 in 1973.

The council also held the first reading of an amendment to the Municipal Code of Thief River Falls which would permit persons under 18 to work on the premesis where 3.2 beer is sold and as cashiers in those establishments.

The finance committee recommended pay increases for Mike Mongoven, park and recreation director; Catherine Simon, office secretary; and Ethel Josephson, receptionist and assessments clerk. The increases to $950, $475 and $455 respectively were approved effective April 12. The council also agreed to give Larry Leader, police patrolman, his regular progressive raise of $20 per month.

Median Driver Described By Research Study

The "median" driver of a motor vehicle in the United States is a 38 year old male with 10½ years of formal education and has 20/20 vision. He drives between 9,000 and 12,000 miles per year.

The characteristics are described in a study by the highway research board titled "The Development of Information Requirements and Transmission Techniques for Highway Users," in furthering safe driving.

Because an overwhelming part of the population is drivers, the psychological and physical attributes of a median driver were determined by an equal division of the total population. About 58 per cent of all drivers are male, the median IQ (Intelligence Quotient) is 100, with a range from 70 to over 150.

The median driver was established as a basis in research for an answer to the question "What information is needed by highway users for safe, convenient and comfortable performance of the driving task?" The researchers found that the driver's most immediate need was for information regarding tracking and speed control. Secondly, he looks for information on road and traffic situations. In lowest priority is information on direction finding and trip planning.

Farm Employment Has First Gain In Over 20 Years

Farm employment in Minnesota scored its first gain in more than 20 years last year, Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald reported today.

Revised farm labor statistics revealed that an average of 178,000 persons, seventh largest farm work force in the nation, were employed on Minnesota farms during 1971.

Commissioner Wefald said that while the new figure represents a modest gain of 1,000 jobs over the previous year it is a significant reversal of the trend that has plagued the state's biggest industry since 1935 due to declining family farm numbers.

Minnesota's hired labor force accounted for the net gain by increasing 2,000 jobs over 1970 and offsetting the loss of another 1,000 family farm workers. The hired farm labor force last year, at 21,000, returned to a level last achieved in 1967 and 1968.

The average of 157,000 family farm workers also indicates a leveling off in the erosion of the farm population. The 1,000 jobs decline was the smallest since 1963. However, since 1963, Minnesota has experienced the loss of 63,000 farm family jobs.

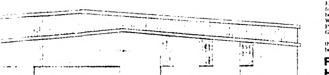
Commissioner Wefald also reported that on a monthly basis Minnesota hit its traditional farm employment peak of 241,000 workers last July, including 187,000 family members and 54,000 hired employees.

He noted that the peak hired labor force last July was 5,000 to 8,000 greater than for the same month in the preceding three years and the biggest hired block of manpower since 59,000 were employed in 1966 by Minnesota farmers.

Minnesota ranked fifth among all states last year in the number of family farm workers, the same rank it holds in gross farm income, but ranked 19th in the number of hired farm employees, comparing averages for the year.

December, as usual, was the lowest month for farm employment in Minnesota, with 107,000 family workers and 8,000 hired workers. Again, the number of hired workers was the greatest for any December since 1966.

T. R. Falls STORES OPEN 'til 9 THURSDAY NIGHTS



REMODELING of the office area of the present ACS building in the Thief River Falls industrial park will be accomplished to provide adequate space for Hydra-Mac, Inc., which is moving its manufacturing operations here from rural Red Lake Falls. Only a portion of the office area of the building is now being used for office space and the full 25x80 office area will be utilized by Hydra-Mac operations. The Red Lake Falls firm has purchased the ACS building which includes the 25x80 office and 150x120 warehouse, eight acres of land with the building and an adjoining five acres to the north.

ANOTHER LOAD of Mitey Mac four wheel drive loaders is prepared for shipment to Iowa at the Hydra-Mac plant at rural Red Lake Falls. A major portion of the operation will now be moved to Thief River Falls, as Hydra-Mac has completed arrangements for purchase of the ACS building and grounds and an additional five acres of land in the city's industrial park. Thief River Falls will be the site of all final assembly, sales, service and shipping for the company which expects to double its production through use of the new facilities here.

Channel Project Halted Under Environment Act

A major precedent-setting case that will require the agriculture department's soil conservation service (SCS) to prepare an environmental impact study on all future channelization projects has been won by the national wildlife federation and four other groups.

The test case was brought over the Chicod Creek watershed project in eastern North Carolina and the SCS' plans to dredge and straighten more than 66 miles of the creek's natural water course. U. S. district court Judge John D. Larkins recently issued a temporary injunction barring construction until the SCS complies with the national environmental policy act by preparing an impact statement on the project.

The main contentions of the conservation groups were that the SCS had failed to prepare an environmental impact statement as required by the 1970 act and that there was a lack of economic justification for the project. Although the watershed protection and flood prevention act states that the SCS can proceed with a project if the benefits exceed the costs, the groups contended that the agency ignored Chicod Creek project costs and exaggerated project benefits.

The groups were supported by the interior department's bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife which had declared that the project would eliminate an excellent fishery, drain wetlands used by waterfowl for feeding and roosting and destroy habitat for small fur-bearing animals. The NWF and the other groups, natural resources defense council, North Carolina wildlife federation, friends of the earth, and Pamlico-Tar conservation coalition, also argued that the project would strip bank vegetation up to 100 feet away from the channel in order to "make room for the heavy construction machinery and provide a place to deposit the dredged spoil".

In the ruling, Judge Larkins said that he was "gravely concerned" in balancing the equities of the environmentalists and the farms who might benefit from the project. He declared, however, that it "would constitute irreparable harm for this project to proceed without the environmental aspects being properly considered".

"Unchecked channelization destruction by the SCS and the U. S. army corps of engineers has recently come under heavy fire from conservationists," the wildlife federation points out. "Since 1935, the SCS has channelized over 6,000 miles of the nation's streams and rivers and new plans call for channelization of another 12,000 miles in 700 'authorized and active' projects. In the past, the SCS has not prepared environmental assessments of it projects, partly on the ground that 'the impact of channelization is negligible'."

Highway Roster Back To Level Working In 1956

Despite additional maintenance required by the 600 miles of twin interstate highways now open to traffic, the personnel roster of the state highway department today is not much longer than it was in 1956, before construction of Minnesota's 914-mile Interstate segment began.

Sixteen years ago highway department personnel numbered about 5,100. By 1958, with interstate work added to the agency's responsibility for construction and maintenance on the 12,000-mile trunk highway system, the personnel complement increased to 5,750. It reached an all-time high of almost 7,500, including temporary seasonal employees, at the peak of construction in August of 1967. The figures include highway patrol and safety division personnel, 894 of whom were transferred to the new public safety department in 1971.

Today, with 300 miles of interstate still to be completed, the employee count stands at 5,130. Close to 3,000 are professional technical and clerical workers employed in the nine district offices and the St. Paul headquarters. The remainder comprise highway maintenance forces working out of 200 maintenance locations across the state.

Red Lake Falls Kiwanis club will hold its charter banquet April 24 at Sullivans. Festivities will begin at 7 p.m.

The Red Lake Falls club was sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Grand Forks. Since early last fall, men from neighboring Kiwanis clubs have been helping the Red Lake Falls men organize. April 24 will be the culmination of their efforts when a new charter is placed in the hands of Edward Franzmeier, president of the new club.

The banquet festivities will be highlighted by a key-note address from Vernon E. Hektner, governor of the Minnesota-Dakotas district. Hektner has given twenty one years of service to his community through Kiwanis.

The Red Lake Falls Kiwanis club forms with thirty-two charter members. Elected officers are Ed. Franzmeier, president; Dr. David Mersy, vice-president; Don Audette, vice president; J. A. Hughes, secretary-treasurer; and eight directors: Cor Woodard, William Schultz, Dr. Michael Spears, Willard Brunelle, Chuck Stephans, Tony Schmitz, Paul Petersen and Gerald Thibert.

Officials from neighboring Kiwanis clubs participating in the charter ceremony will be: Carton Nelson, president of Grand Forks Kiwanis; Erling Lodoen, lieutenant governor of Div. 7; Carl Adams, governor elect of the Minnesota-Dakotas district.

Songs to be sung will be "Take Me Down to Kiwanis," and "In the Good Old Summertime."

RLF Hospital Lifts Age Limit For Visitation

St. John's hospital in Red Lake Falls has lifted the long established age restriction on visitors.

In the past, it was required that visitors be 14 years old or older to visit someone in the hospital.

The new visiting policy for St. John's is contained in seven rules.

1. No more than two visitors per patient in one room at a time.

2. No age limitation—small children may visit with a parent, but must remain in the patient's room and not run up and down hallways.

3. Ambulatory patients are encouraged to go to the lobby to visit with family members.

4. Visitors should always consider other patients in a double room.

5. Visits may not be permitted to a critically ill patient, at the nurse's discretion—if the patient needs rest, etc. The nurse will evaluate the effects of visitors on the patient and ask them to leave if she feels this is best for the patient.

6. Visiting hours may be flexible, but they should not interfere with the patient's care or the amount of rest that the patient requires.

7. Screening of visitors is important. Anyone with a cold, flu symptoms, cough, or infection will not be allowed to visit patients.

In addition to these rules, the medical staff may prevent patients from having any visitors when medical conditions indicate the advisability of such restriction.

It is hoped that the new policy will be beneficial to the patients and, so far, it has been enthusiastically accepted.

7 ways to wring every dime out of your telephone.

If you're using the phone improperly, you may be wasting more money every month than the recent rate increase amounts to on your bill. Here are some tips that will help you use the phone more efficiently. Most of them will save you time and money. Some of them will also save us time and money and that will help us give you more economical service in the long run.

1. How to get Direct Dial savings.

Even though you can't yet dial long distance calls direct in this area, you can still benefit from low direct dialing rates, available on many long distance calls. Here's how: Simply call the operator who will dial your station-to-station call anywhere in the continental U.S. . . . and you'll get the low direct dial rate. Greatest savings are after 5 p.m. weekdays and all weekend. For calls within Minnesota, for example, you can save up to 77 percent on a 3 minute station-to-station call over an operator-assisted, person-to-person call. Direct dial rates do not apply to pay telephone, person-to-person, hotel guest, credit card, or collect calls, or calls charged to another number.

2. So you don't know the out-of-town number.

If you do not know the number you are calling in the distant city, dial "0", and tell your local operator the name of the town you're calling and you'll get the out-of-town Directory Assistance operator. There is no charge for this service.

3. Don't make bad business out of a bad connection.

If you get a wrong number, or can't hear on your call, report it to the operator, and you won't be charged.

4. It pays to call when we're least busy.

On an in-state station-to-station call after 5 p.m., you can talk 10 minutes for $1.30 or less on the new Gopher State Bargain Rate. And you can talk twice as long, 20 minutes for $1.30 or less, if you call after 11 p.m. and before 7 a.m. These calls are at direct dial rates even though you do not have direct dialing. Simply dial the operator who will direct dial the station-to-station call for you. However, if you require further services of the operator, the Gopher State direct dial rate does not apply. Nor does it apply between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays or on the legal holidays of Christmas, New Year's, Independence Day, Thanksgiving or Labor Day.

5. You could still look it up.

On local calls, instead of dialing Directory Assistance, keep a record of the people and places you call most often. There's a place for them in every phone book. Just in Minnesota, we spend over $6.1 million a year looking up numbers, 70 percent of them already in the book. Naturally, you share that cost.

6. Repair service.

The Telephone Company will repair your phone promptly without charge. Call as soon as you can so that you can get the maximum use at all times out of your telephone.

7. Plan before you install.

The installation charge is the same to have 1 or 3 or 6 phones put in . . . so long as you do it all at once. Add-as-you-go, piecemeal installations add up fast.

New Neighbors

Current residents of Thief River Falls are getting new neighbors. Hydra-Mac, Inc., of Red Lake Falls is moving into the Thief River Falls industrial park and expects to be in full operation by July.

We became acquainted with the company's principal operators, Maurice and Douglass Steiger, while they were involved in production of the large Steiger tractors. That operation has been sold and the Steiger brothers are devoting their energies to Hydra-Mac, Steiger Manufacturing and quite a few hundred acres of grain farming.

To say the Steigers are ambitious is to say that Babe Ruth played baseball.

The community welcomes Hydra-Mac to Thief River Falls as an addition to our industrial growth, and with a spirit of cooperation to assure that the expected growth takes place. And we welcome the people who will come with the firm, whether they plan to live among us or commute from their present homes.

Best wishes for a long and successful stay in the neighborhood that is Thief River Falls.

If Anyone Asks . . .

In case anyone asks who becomes President of the United States upon the death or disability of the President and Vice President, the following information will help you explain it to them:

The U.S. Constitution provides for Congress to set the order of succession, to be used on the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice President, and for that person to act until the disability is removed or a President elected. Congress has used that power three times—in 1792, 1886 and 1947.

The 1792 act set this order of succession: the President pro tempore of the Senate or, if he were not available, the Speaker of the House. If both those offices were vacant, the Secretary of state was to give public notice "that electors of the President shall be appointed or chosen in the several States."

The 1886 act set this order: Secretary of State, Secretary of Treasury, Secretary or War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of Interior.

Many Congressmen were concerned that the 1886 act provided for succession only by Cabinet members—who are appointees and need never have faced the voters in any election. And so the 1947 act, the current law, set this order: Speaker of the House, President pro tempore of the Senate, Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of Defense, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Interior, Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Commerce, Secretary of Labor.

Since that act, three more Cabinet members have joined the list in this order: Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Secretary of Transportation. And the Postmaster General is now removed because he is not a Cabinet member since formation of the U.S. Postal Service.

Would You Believe . . .

It is hard to believe, but the incidents mentioned below actually came from the records of the national safety council:

For example, hard hats stored in a contractor's field office trailer in California tumbled off a shelf when a truck backed into the trailer. One protective hat struck and stunned a feminine secretary. . . .A mover in France was tugging on a bed he wanted to get out of a second-floor window. The bed got away from hime, fell to the ground below and cushioned his fall when the man came rocketing after it. . . .A woman taking a driver license test turned a corner and crashed into a parked car—owned by the man who was giving her the test! Another unfortunate lady driver put her arm out of a window to signal a turn, and a dog jumped up and bit her arm.

Speaking of biting, a New Orleans angler was startled when a 33-pound mackerel jumped out of the water and into his boat where it promptly clamped its jaws on his arm. A dead snake put the bite on a deputy sheriff in Florida. His dog grabbed a rattler the deputy had shot and shook it so vigorously that the head came off, flew through the air and sank its teeth in the deputy's hand. He had to have treatment at a nearby hospital. . . .Then there was the beer truck driver who saved the day when he saw a car catch fire. Stopping his truck, he grabbed several cans of beer, shook them vigorously, opened them and used the foaming liquid to put out the blaze.

Favors Hunting

A position statement was released recently by the Wildlife Society which shows a concern for wildlife but recognizes the role of sport hunting in the total picture. Text of the position statement follows a summary of the society's background.

The Wildlife Society, organized in 1937, is the association for those professionally employed in the biological or related fields of conservation. Its objectives are: to establish and maintain the highest possible professional standards: to develop wildlife conservations and management along sound bilogical lines; and, to prepare and disseminate publications to effect these ends.

The Wildlife Society recognizes sport hunting as one legitimate and desirable use of wildlife resources and further acknowledges the essential support of hunters for many programs of wildlife conservation, research, and management, including a network of areas managed for all wildlife, non-game as well as game.

In recent years, criticism of hunting has centered around the belief that hunting adversely affects abundance of wildlife, and the feeling that the killing of wild animals is no longer essential to many human cultures.

Many people fail to comprehend the extent or nature of mortality in wild animal propulations. Birth rates must ultimately be balanced by death rates, because no population can expand indefinitely. The consequences of over-population are catastrophic. In nature, death is seldom gentle or easy, but it remains essential. Sport hunting, when properly regulated, is adjusted to maintaining desirable balances in wild populations. Properly managed, hunting keeps populations of some species healthy and in adjustment with the food supply and frequently replaces other forms of mortality. The Wildlife Society favors properly managed sport hunting but opposes any hunting practices that could endanger the survival of a wild species.

Man has been primarily a hunter during most of his time on earth. Modern sport hunting, performed properly, reenacts a drama as old as man himself. In this day and age when many rely upon others to provide their sustenance through the killing of animals, hunting serves to keep man in closer touch with environmental realities and enlivens his interest in his heritage as part of nature.

The Wildlife Society strongly favors preservation of the original human elements of the hunt, and favors the education of hunters and the public regarding the significance of hunting. It encourages safe and ethical hunting methods. The Society endorses the principle that hunting is a means for encouraging wise use and perpetuation of the wildlife resource.

A Costly Victory

When major league baseball players went on strike before the scheduled opening of the season, it was over a requested increase in the pension plan. Well, the players won that round—the pension fund has been enriched by $500,000.

What did it cost the players to win this pension fund increase? Just $600,000 in lost salary during the strike. One would scarcely expect that the players would savor such a victory—but the attorneys representing them probably consider themselves successful. They didn't lose anything.

And speaking of professional sports nonsense, did you see where one of the NHL teams was talking about a strike because the players didn't agree with the league on the amount of curve allowed in hockey sticks? The league allows a half-inch curve and some of the players were miffed because the sticks they planned to use were disallowed.

When highly-paid professional athletes get chippy enough to talk about strikes over such matters, there is something else warped more than the blade of a hockey stick!

So now the baseball season has started, and will be shortened since the games not played are to be canceled. And when fall comes and the division titles are decided on percentages because some teams have played fewer games than others, the players will again pout and stamp their spikes and wail about being unfairly treated.

Just wait and see.

Borrowed Nonsense

Wife to husband: "I certainly wish you had the spunk the government has. It doesn't let being in debt keep it from spending."

Irate woman to airline attendant: "If you can fly this plane 600 miles per hour in the dark and find Los Angeles, why can't you find my luggage?"

Twice as many people are engaged in clerical work now as there were in 1940. Maybe we don't know what's going on, but we're getting it all down on paper.

Letters to the Editor

Editor of the Times:

Space permitting, I would like the privilege of adding a few words to the discussion on the proposed "new motel" complex deal.

First, the words "multi-million dollar investment" are used almost as if the large sum involved would be in itself justification and grounds for automatic approval of the project. Should we not rather consider without undue haste whether the dollar considerations might be outweighed by other things?

Statistics from insurance companies and other agencies compiling such figures tell us that from 50 to 60 per cent of highway traffic fatalities can be directly connected to use of liquor. We are further told that even one drink of hard liquor can definitely affect reaction time of a driver, and the several which would be often consumed at a meal in a place of this type (With its area of respectability), would certainly be a real hazard.

Contrary to the belief of many, it has been shown that it is not the "drunk" or alcoholic who represents the biggest danger on the highway, but the social drinker who is "sure he can handle his car."

Are we justified then, because of the dollars involved, in very probably adding more to the list of traffic fatalities? Will the added dollars to our community repay for the lives lost?

And as the fine letter in Monday's Times said, the method here used certainly seems a circumvention of the law and the wishes of Thief River Falls voters as expressed several years ago. No amount of words can reason away the fact that we would end up with a private on sale liquor license inside the city limits.

One final word—should not morals be taken into all of our actions—even the legal ones? I believe so.

Sincerely,
C. M. Isaacson

To the Editor:

I am an alcoholic.

I am a woman with four children. I didn't believe I was an alcoholic. I am so thankful to the many who have helped me that if my letter helps just one of you to receive help, I will be thankful.

One out of every 16 who drink alcohol are alcoholics. Usually they don't receive help until they have hit bottom. This, to me, is like drowning. We are crying for help, but can't or don't know how to help ourselves, mainly because we don't want to lose our "crutch." We need "that drink" (we think). It gets us through the day and it helps us forget our problems.

It doesn't really—it creates more problems. Our lives become so unmanageable we drink more and more trying to forget. The guilt we carry becomes so heavy—the loved ones we have hurt; our jobs we may be losing; we can't function normally; we are afraid. When fear sets in, this does not stop us. We drink more for false self-confidence.

Alcohol is a drug but this does not mean we all become addicted to it. I am not advocating prohibition. I am only trying, in my own way, to reach out a hand to someone who needs help.

Alcoholism can hit the very young, the middleaged, the student, the doctor, the lawyer, the clergyman, the housewife, the mother. It could be YOU! If you have the symptoms, or you have a loved one who has them, find out how you can help him or her. Do it now before it's too late.

Alcoholics Anonymous has helped so many. If you want to help or be helped ask your clergyman, physician, policeman for help. They will know how to get in contact with Alcoholics Anonymous or ala-non. In A.A. we are a group of people who have the disease who can help each other. We help each other learn "to walk without the crutch." We may stumble, fall down, lean on another, but we will TRY to walk through LIFE again.

An Alcoholic

notes from the governor

Each year at this time one of our principal concerns is the job market for the young people who will soon be seeking employment during the vacation months.

For many thousands of these young persons, the availability of summer employment will actually determine whether they can afford to return to school in the fall.

With six million adults out of work nationally, it is difficult to imagine the Minnesota job market absorbing some 210,000 youth, age 16-21, who will be seeking temporary work this summer.

Emmet Cushing, the state commissioner of manpower services, advises me that our youth unemployment rate this summer may average as high as 20 per cent. In the Duluth area, this figure may go to 50 per cent.

To expand job openings in state government, we will again institute the "1 to 50" program which I inaugurated last summer. This calls for hiring young people in the various state agencies at the ratio of at least one youth for every 50 employees.

Preference for such summer aide positions will be given to persons who come from unemployed or underemployed families. (A family of four is considered to be in such a category if it has a gross income of $6,300 or less, with $750 extra allowable for each additional family member.)

We are also consulting closely with private agencies and businessmen's groups to develop a maximum number of summer job openings.

Young workers accept training easily, catch on quickly, have a fresh outlook and a keen desire to make good.

If you are a businessman who anticipates having any job openings—or if you are a young person who will be seeking summer employment—I urge you to check with your nearest state manpower services office to learn more about the youth employment program. There are 37 of these offices throughout the state, including Thief River Falls.

Our challenge in these difficult times is to move as positively as we can to find employment for our young persons who wish to work, and especially for those who urgently need to do so.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

Last week I mentioned the world struggle between the countries that exercise freedom of the individual and the ones that are controlled by dictators. There are many countries being torn by revolutions and actual invasions of their land by agents and armies trained by these totalitarian governments. The goal of these revolutionists, whether in this country or overseas, is the domination of the underdeveloped nations or the third world countries. South Viet Nam is such a country as is Laos and Cambodia. I have before me a letter written by a neighbor who recently went on a tour of duty to Laos. His name is Major Curtis Olimb. With his permission, I will quote him directly. At the present time he is flying for our Air Force in Laos.

"I am a gunship navigator. We are trying to stop the flow of war supplies out of North Vietnam by blowing up the supply trucks. We also support the Royal Laotian Army when they are engaged by the communist forces by providing "close support." That is we go right in and fire at the enemy forces. Most of that takes place on the Plain of Jars. But the Royal forces are losing because the enemy forces are just too strong and too well equipped. We have to fight (politicians at home such as those in Minnesota who oppose the war) some politicians for army supplies and equipment for our side. It is all pretty disgusting. We are just fighting a holding action here. We know that the communists are soon going to get all of Laos. Their activity in Thailand is stepping up too. Yesterday they killed five Thai policemen just a few miles from Nahkm Phanm. They fired on a train with a machine gun—just a short way out of Bangkok. It looks as if they are going to begin a complete terrorist campaign like they started in Vietnam 10 years ago. That, of course is Mao' plan. He has written much about it and it is no secret to anyone who can, and is willing to read. We have to do all we can to defeat those who want us to quit. This has to take place in Minnesota."

This is a direct quote and as an active participant, he is obviously upset by what is going on.

General MacArthur was very emphatic about our involvement in Korea. He said that if we didn't win that one, we would have to fight again. He was fired for this view, but he was right. We have fought again and this time also, we have not fought to win. The lesson should be obvious. The next scene might be South America or even closer. The question is then, "Will we have the will to resist, or will it go like Chile without a fight?" As the third world is gradually engulfed by these totalitarian forces, our sphere of influence gets smaller and smaller. Politics as usual, politics to be popular, politics for those who run for office is the order of the day. What do these men say about this problem?

Firearms Class Starts Tuesday

Boys and girls age 11 through 15 who are interested in hunting are advised that a firearms safety training class will begin Tuesday at the basement meeting room in the Thief River Falls city auditorium from 7 to 9 p.m.

Fred Mittelstadt will be the instructor for the program which will have meetings on April 18, 20, 25 and 26. Fee of $2.15 is payable at the second meeting of the class. Last year there were 102 youngsters enrolled in the safety program.

Minnesota North Stars have drawn over half a million fans for three straight seasons.

Prowlers Thinclads Will Run In NW Conference Meet

Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Crookston, Breckenridge, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks are expected to battle each other for the first annual Northwest Conference track and field meet in the Crookston winter shows building tomorrow (Tuesday), beginning at 4 p.m.

Although Northwest Conference meets have been staged since 1937, this will be the first events in which new league members Breckenridge and Fergus Falls will compete. It will also mark the first year the event has been staged inside the Crookston arena.

Prowler head coach Jim Sims feels it should be a real close meet that might go right down to the wire. "If we could clean up on the sprints and relays we'll stand a pretty good chance of winning it," said Sims, "but it's going to be real tight."

The Prowler thinclads will be coming off back-to-back second place finishes in the Dragon and Sioux Indoor invitations and may rank as the slight favorite in the meet tomorrow. "We were really pleased with our performance at Moorhead (Dragon)," said Sims. In Saturday's meet at UND we had some good performances, but we also saw some areas where we could use some improvements. But I guess we have to be satisfied with second place finishes in really big meets like those two."

Chet Engleman's Northland state college track squad will also be running in the Crookston arena tomorrow, against Mesabi, Fergus Falls and Crookston Tech.

Crookston Will Host Canadien Hockey Schools

Crookston will host the Canadien professional hockey school for four weeks this summer, beginning June 18 and running through July 15, in the Crookston hockey arena.

All boys seven years of age and older are eligible to attend the clinic. This is the first year that the Canadien professional hockey school has taken their exclusive school outside Canada.

A boy may register for one, or for all four weeks of the school. The program is divided into four plans:

Plan A—A part time hockey school for boys who wish to travel to and from Crookston each day. This plan would include 1½ hours of ice time and a half hour of classroom instruction each day. The cost would be $30 per week.

Plan B—Includes three hours of ice time and an hour of classroom instruction each day. The cost would be $60 per week.

Plan C—This is a day-camp school with sessions lasting the entire day. Plan C includes a noon meal, along with three hours of ice time and an hour of classroom instruction each day. The cost would be $80 per week.

Plan D—This would be the entire day, including housing with room and board. There would be three hours of ice time and an hour of classroom work. The cost would be $120 per week.

Any questions concerning the clinic may be answered by calling Ron Novak, 681-3959.

Lincoln Netmen Open Season Against Ada

Whitey Olson's Lincoln high school tennis team will open its spring season with a rush, beginning tomorrow (Tuesday), as the Prowler netmen face three matches during the first week of the 1972 campaign.

The Prowlers will travel to Ada tomorrow afternoon to open the season before playing host to Mahnomen on the two Thief River Falls courts Wednesday, starting at 3 p.m. The squad will rest Thursday, but will face region eight favorite Crookston on the Thief River Falls courts Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Liden is rated as the number one singles performer in region eight this season, following last year's runner-up and state trip performances. Gary Conda of Bemidji, last year's region eight singles champion, graduated and is now playing for the Bemidji state college varsity. Wendt saw just limited duty for the Prowlers last season.

MSC Opens Spring Football Drills

Head coach Ross Fortier expected 70 applicants to answer the invitation for spring football practice at Moorhead state college when the Dragons began their annual spring examinations this week.

Weather permitting, the Dragons planned to open their spring practice sessions on Tuesday, April 11. Moorhead state is permitted 15 sessions during the spring, and Fortier hopes to conclude drills by April 27.

"We'll be on a day-to-day situation with the weather," Fortier mentioned Monday. "If our fields are dry, we'll start tomorrow (Tuesday)."

The pre-spring Dragon roster contains 35 returning lettermen, five junior college imports and 30 graduates from the Dragon freshman squad of last year.

Fortier heads an eight-man coaching staff for spring. Craig McComb and John Stolpman are expected to work with the offensive line with Jerry Hegna coaching the receivers and Fortier the offensive backs.

Al Holmes and Tom Botsford are tutoring the defensive line, Stu Helgason the linebackers and Gerry Suikhonen the defensive backs. Ron Masang, the Dragons' offensive line coach, is handling the Dragon track squad.

Moorhead will carry an eight-game unbeaten streak into the 1971 season. The Dragons dropped their opener to Concordia college last season and tied Minnesota - Duluth the following week before recording seven straight victories.

Moorhead raced through the Northern Intercollegiate conference campaign with six straight triumphs last fall.

Athletic League Established For College Women

Five area colleges have organized Minn-Kota Intercollegiate conference to provide increased athletic competition for women.

Charter members include Bemidji state college, Moorhead state college, Concordia College, North Dakota state university, and the University of North Dakota, and associate members Mayville and Valley city state colleges. The University of Minnesota-Morris is applying for conference membership this spring.

Conference competition in basketball, badminton, field hockey, golf, gymnastics, tennis, track and field, and volleyball will start operation this fall under a more highly structured program, according to Miss Shirley Malcolm of Concordia, Minn-Kota chairman.

Miss Malcolm explained that while women from the area colleges have participated in limited intercollegiate competition for several years, the Minn-Kota conference will permit more highly organized competition.

Number of games and sports to be included will be determined by interest of the college women, and financial and staff limitations of the participating colleges.

Minn-Kota conference will be governed by standards and policies of the division of girls and women's sports of the American Association for health, physical education and recreation.

The conference will continue to work with the Red River Valley board of women officials.

Marshall ASCS Lists Wildlife Practices Open

Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) wants to make known that development of shallow water and food plot areas has a high priority this year.

Food plots may utilize a variety of grains such as flax, corn, millet barley and oats. Stacking grain to feed wildlife is also recommended.

These conservation practices have been used by Mrs. Betty Rantanen, Middle River, named Minnesota's 1972 outstanding farmer-sportsman.

Anyone interested in creating a wildlife area on the farm is invited to stop at the Marshall county ASCS office at Warren.

Duluth Smelt Run Is Expected To Peak By May 1

Smelt should be running heavily along North Shore streams near Duluth by the end of April, the area fisheries headquarters in Two Harbors says. According to area fisheries biologist Dick Hassinger, the run should be plentiful as in past years.

The catch of the silvery little fish by commercial fishermen in Duluth began late this year because of heavy ice conditions on Lake Superior and North Shore rivers and streams. Stanley Sivertson, partner in Sivertson Bros. Fisheries, Duluth-based commercial fishery, says the smelt have not yet begun to enter St. Louis Bay in numbers. He estimates the run should peak the last week in April—a full week later than usual.

Hassinger observes that day-to-day smelt conditions will vary during the run. This will depend not so much on temperature as on storms coming out of the northeast. Smelt are not hardy swimmers and will not enter river mouths to spawn when large waves are created by strong northeast winds.

Hassinger adds that although the smelt run gives fishermen the idea that smelt school, these ordinarily solitary swimmers pack only during the spawning run.

Smelt fishermen are required to have a Minnesota fishing license. Other tools much in demand during the run are hip waders, dip nets and small seines. . .not to mention pails, wastepaper baskets, garbage cans and other containers used to catch the silvery fish.

Because the weather can be fickle along the river mouths and the lakeside of Duluth's Park Point, visiting fishermen are cautioned to dress accordingly. Duluth civic groups make firewood available for on-the-spot cooking and warmth. Litter barrels and temporary "comfort stations" are placed for smelters' convenience along major fishing spots in the Duluth area. Fishermen outside Duluth wanting precise, up-to-the-moment information on smelting conditions should dial (218) 727-0048.

Department records show that the smelt run usually begins about April 20 and reaches its peak between the 25th and 28th.

Smelt fishing regulations are the same as last year, said Hjalmar Swenson, state fisheries supervisor.

Smelt may be taken with dip nets or with seines not more than 25 feet in length or more than four feet in width. Seines may be used only in the lake, however, and not in the streams, nor within 100 feet of the mouth of any stream. The only exception to this rule is the St. Louis river where seines may be used both in the stream and at its mouth.

It is unlawful to transport live smelt anywhere in the state. Smelt have been discovered in a few inland lakes in recent years, apparently as a result of some illegal stocking by a few smelt fishermen. Swenson warned that in some lakes smelt could have an adverse effect on sport fishing.

Smelt fishermen must have an angling license, but there is no limit on the number of smelt which may be taken and they can be bought or sold at any time.

The law requires a peddler's license of anyone who uses a motor vehicle in his fish sale business.

The Department of Agriculture also insists that persons who sell smelt comply with the Minnesota pure food laws. Violations will lead to seizure of the fish and prosecution of the offender.

Swenson asked smelt fishermen to keep their fishing sites free of litter. He said state laws, explained on page four of the 1972 fishing synopsis, make it unlawful to deposit garbage, rubbish or offal in public waters or on public lands.

Nearly one million pounds of smelt are taken in commercial nets from Minnesota waters of Lake Superior each year. Swenson said it was difficult to estimate the amount of smelt taken by sport fishermen, but the figure probably exceeds several hundred thousand pounds.

Haaven Receives Endorsement By GOP Convention

State Representative Jon Haaven of Alexandria was endorsed for the 7th District Republican Congressional nomination Saturday afternoon at Fergus Falls on the first ballot at the 7th District Republican convention. Haaven received 141 votes, five more than the 60 per cent needed for endorsement.

Haaven is [illegible] years old, a native of Crookston and holds a bachelor's degree from the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks. An 11 year veteran of the television news-casting profession, Haaven is currently an owner of Alexandria Newspapers, Inc., and the publisher of the Lake Region Press at Alexandria. He has served two terms in the Minnesota House.

Other Congressional candidates were Merlyn Valen of Comstock and 25-year-old Concordia student Richard Hahnen of Moorhead. Valan was nominated by Moorhead mayor Dwaine Hoberg, the district's vice chairman. Making a spirited nomination for Richard Hahnen was Concordia president Dr. Joseph Knutson of Moorhead, who also participated in the floor demonstration for Hahnen.

Elected delegates from the 7th District to the national Republican convention in San Diego in August were district leaders Herman Natwick and Kris Sanda. Both have announced themselves as strong supporters of President Richard Nixon. Hahnen and Mrs. Robert (Donna) Kunz of Bemidji, area 3 chairmanwoman of the district, were elected alternate delegates.

A total of 26 delegates and 26 alternates from Minnesota will attend the national Republican convention. Each of Minnesota's eight Congressional districts will elect two delegates and two alternates at their respective district conventions, with the remaining 10 delegate spots and 10 alternate spots to be filled at-large by an election held during the June state Republican convention.

Resolutions passed at the 7th District convention under the leadership of Rep. Douglas Sillers of Moorhead will be forwarded to the 1972 platform committee for inclusion in the state platform which will be adopted at the June state convention.

During the Fergus Falls district convention Saturday, Natwick and Mrs. Sanda announced a decision made by the state executive committee to recommend a separate convention on Sunday, May 2, in St. Cloud to endorse a Republican U.S. Senate candidate. Two potential nominees, Rev. Phil Hansen of Minneapolis and Jim Hill of Duluth, attended the district convention and spoke briefly on their races for the endorsement.

Bergland Backs Bill Requiring Viet Withdrawal

Bob Bergland, Seventh district congressman, joined today (Monday) in a move to pass legislation requiring the total withdrawal of all American forces from Southeast Asia within 30 days of the bill's enactment in exchanged for the return of Americans held prisoner of war and the halting of all bombing missions which do not directly support the withdrawal. The bill would cut off funds for all military activities, other than withdrawal operations, at the end of the 30-day period.

Explaining the legislation, Bergland said the bill has three basic sections. The first states that after 30 days from its enactment no additional funds would be made available to continue military or paramilitary operations in Indochina. The second section would cut off funds for air strikes and naval bombardments in Southeast Asia unless they involve the immediate safety of troops being withdrawn. The final section would tie the withdrawal of troops to the return of Americans held prisoner of war and allows the President to grant asylum to anyone endangered by the troops withdrawal.

Bergland said that the recent escalation of American military operations in Southeast Asia "has again led the American public to question the success of the continuing effort to wind down the war and has again demonstrated the need for firm, clear congressional action."

Weather Minus Factor In State Freeway Mishaps

Weather conditions are a minus factor in the severity of freeway accidents, a department of public safety study of fatal accidents on Minnesota's interstate system last year indicates. Only three fatal accidents with four fatalities occurred during wet, snowy or icy conditions. This is only 10 per cent of the fatal freeway accidents.

Altogether there were 29 fatal accidents on the interstates, with 32 fatalities. The worst hours for such accidents are late at night and early morning, and weekends accounted for 55 per cent of the total.

Wrong-way drivers were involved in three fatal accidents, and four fatalities involved vehicles that had crossed the median strip. There were 12 single-vehicle crashes, suggesting the possibility of vehicle failure or driver impairment. Investigating officers indicated alcohol involvement in 11 accidents. Of five pedestrian fatalities, two of the victims were motorists with disabled cars.

Truck-trailer combinations were involved in one fifth of the accidents, of which three were single vehicle crashes. Conditions surrounding the three suggested either vehicle failure or driver failure. In other words, the blame fell on a wrong way driver, a drinking driver and a pedestrian.

Passengers were the victims twice as frequently as drivers. Eighteen of those who died in freeway accidents were passengers and nine were drivers.

OUTWARDLY the M35A2 multi-fuel trucks recently issued to B Company are quite similar to the older models. One noticeable addition is electric turn signals. The new trucks are also equipped with four-way flashers.

National Guard Unit Receives New Trucks

by Dennis Johnson
Times Reporter

Ex-servicemen are sure to remember the deuce and a half.

The military uses the three axle vehicle to transport anything that can be loaded into it, fastened on top of it or pulled behind it—and that includes passengers.

For several years the military has been issuing an improved version of the old truck to active duty units. With the declining troop commitment in Vietnam, production has been catching up with immediate needs and the new vehicles are beginning to be issued to National Guard units.

Company B, 2nd Battalion, 136th Infantry, stationed in Thief River Falls, was recently issued two of the new M35A2 multi-fuel trucks.

As the name implies, a significant change is that the truck is designed to use almost any combustible liquid for fuel. Though No. 2 diesel fuel is normally used in the vehicles, if it is not available, other fuels may be used. Specifically, gasoline and kerosene are recommended alternates which may be used interchangeably with satisfactory results. The fuels may even be mixed and the vehicle will function normally without adjustments. Other combustible liquids could be used if necessary, although aviation grade fuel is not recommended and could harm the engine.

The multi-fuel capability has obvious advantages in tactical situations, although the need for it is not so critical to the mission of National Guard units or other domestic vehicle users.

The guard, however, must be prepared for the unexpected and could be placed in a position where the new vehicles would be put to the test. An example of this can be found in the fact that the unit now stationed in Thief River Falls was called and did serve in Korea.

In time of peace the guard has responsibility for assisting during natural disaster or other

Barbershoppers Will Sing Here Saturday Night

Two choruses and four or more quartets are assured for the "Family Night Sing" to be presented in Thief River Falls Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. Participating are the Kittson county and greater Grand Forks chapters of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

All proceeds from the event will be contributed to the Northwest Minnesota sheltered workshop in Thief River Falls.

Among the quartets appearing will be the "Harmony Cats" of Thief River Falls. Members include Paul Wold, tenor; Everett Kompelien, baritone; Orville Trontvet, bass; and Gerald Vagle, lead.

Also featured from the Kittson county group will be the "Tranquilizers" from Lancaster. That quartet includes Darrell Zimmerman, tenor; John Hoglin, baritone; Doc Hoffman, bass; and Gordon Nelson, lead.

The Northern Lites chorus will sing, as will the Grand Forks chorus. It is considered highly unusual to have two complete barbershop chorus groups perform in a single community program of this nature.

Among those from Thief River Falls participating regularly in the Kittson county group's activities are Curt Nordling, John Carlson, Dave Wold, Gary Hanson and Kevin Hanson in addition to the "Harmony Cats" members.

Tickets are on sale at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students at Ekeren Drug, Larson Music company; Bethany Book store and Jim's Decore shop. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free. The show is expected to be about an hour and one-half in length.

Pennington Co. Diabetes Testing

Detecting diabetes will be the goal of a program organized by the inter-county nursing service through the Thief River Falls United Fund. The program for Pennington county will begin on Thursday and continue through April 29.

Today 4,400,000 Americans are diabetic, but studies indicate that 1,600,000 of these are "unknown"—that is, their diabetes remains undiagnosed and therefore uncontrolled.

The screening method used is a simple urine test which anyone can do at home. The envelopes with instructions and testing tape are available without charge at all drug stores and banks in Thief River Falls. In addition, envelopes will be distributed through the school system, Arctic Enterprises, rest homes and senior citizens housing units. People are encouraged to read the instructions carefully and return the envelope for completion of the testing.

Woodworkers To Open New Union Office Monday

Newly remodeled office building of Local 4-348 of the International Woodworkers of America union will be opened and put to use for the first time Monday, beginning at 8 a.m., at Eighth street and Atlantic avenue.

Wayne Bjornrud, local union representative, said that the union office will continue to operate at the second floor of the Elks building Thursday and Friday, but that the move will be accomplished those two days and during the weekend.

Following the opening time on Monday, the office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Health Clinics Scheduled Here

Cardiac, hearing and speech and general clinics will be held at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls. The cardiac clinic will be held May 17 and the other clinics will be May 18. They will be sponsored by the Thief River Falls women's club and the crippled children services of the state health department.

The cardiac clinic is for any Minnesota resident under 21 years of age with a heart murmur, congenital heart problem or history of rheumatic fever.

The hearing and speech clinic is for any Minnesota resident under 21 years of age with hearing and-or speech problems. Families of pre-school children are encouraged to attend.

The general clinic is for any Minnesota resident who is less than 21 years old with a history of premature birth, heart lesions, cystic fibrosis, convulsions, mental retardation, club feet, scoliosis or other physical handicap.

Appointments should be made two weeks before the clinics. Appointment chairman for the cardiac clinic is Mrs. Victor Kvikstad, 1301 North Arnold avenue, phone 681-3137. Mrs. Joe Dostal, Jr., 308 South Conley avenue, is the chairman for the hearing and speech clinic. She may be reached by phone at 681-2581. Bertha Hastad, 111 South Kendall avenue, is the general clinic chairman. Her phone number is 681-4752.

There is no charge for the clinics. Anyone requiring periodic follow-up and whose parents can not provide the necessary care may return to the clinic. Written referral from a physician is recommended for each new patient.

In the clinics, each patient will be examined by a specialist. There will be pediatricians, orthopedists, otologists, speech consultants and pediatric cardiologists available. A report of the medical findings at the clinic is sent to the patient's family doctor.

Stolen Airplane Recovered Here; Man In Custody

Pennington county sheriff's department has impounded two airplanes and a Wisconsin man is being charged with grand larceny as a result of activity in Thief River Falls and North Dakota yesterday and today.

Being charged with grand larceny in the theft of one of the planes—a twin-engine aircraft value at approximately $50,000—is Dan McNamara of Montello, Wis. The charge is being brought by the Pierce county sheriff's department in Rugby, N.D.

The plane was reportedly stolen from Rugby about 8:20 p.m. Tuesday and was recovered here about 10 p.m. by the Pennington county sheriff's department and the Thief River Falls police department. McNamara was taken into custody at that time, following an alert that the plane had been stolen and recognition of the plane by an employee at the airport who notified authorities.

A more detailed account of the events will be published in the Monday issue of the Times.

Charges Pending In Beer Party Held Last Week

Charges are pending against a 22-year-old rural Thief River Falls man for furnishing beer to minors following a large-scale beer party last Monday evening. The party was held at an unoccupied farm located 11 miles west and 1½ miles south of St. Hilaire, according to Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff.

Acting on a call received about midnight last Monday, Sheriff Richards and deputy James Myrah drove to the farm and stopped several cars leaving the farm driveway. Due to the location of the yard, however, it was impossible to determine the activity there from the road.

Believing that a small party had been in progress and likely was over, the sheriff and deputy drove into the farm yard about 1 a.m. They found an estimated 15 to 20 cars and approximately 75 to 100 young people—mostly under the age of 21—still at the farm. Reports are that the number was greater earlier in the evening.

Immediate efforts of the sheriff and deputy were to find the beer being provided for the young people. A keg was found to be in use in the basement of the house and investigation revealed that three kegs had been purchased for the gathering.

Most of the young people at the party were from Thief River Falls and the event followed the final performance of the high school musical which was performed April 7-8-9-10.

No arrests were made of young people at the farm but the case continues under investigation by the county sheriff's department.

Alteration Is Necessary Part Of Home Sewing

Mrs. Average American, Perfect Size 12, is in the minority. That's why pattern alterations are discussed by a University of Minnesota clothing teacher.

Probably the most common alteration involves the location of the bust dart, says Sarah Cox. The dart should be directed toward the actual bust point. Sometimes the dart is too high or low and must be redirected through pattern alternation. To release fullness the dart tip should be about ½ to 1 inch from the bust point.

The alternation that nearly everyone uses sooner or later is to widen the hip measurement. Provided no more than four inches is required, a simple adjustment adds width to the side seams. For a wider expansion, slash parallel to center front and back between the side seam and dart. Spread an even amount up and down the length. Increase the waistline darts for a reduced waist size. Of course, if less width is needed, slash and overlap front and-or back.

If there's difficulty in fitting the upper arm area, additional ease may be necessary. For two or three inches, slash the center of the sleeve pattern. Cut vertically but not through the wristline or cap seam. Make a horizontal slash perpendicular to the first slash but not through the underarm seam. Spread vertical slash the desired amount and the pattern pieces along the horizontal slash will overlap. Redraw the cap height to match the original pattern piece. For a short sleeve, slash through lower edge up to but not through the shoulder seam. Spread for the amount of ease at the lower edge.

There are basic rules for alterations, according to Miss Cox. Make the alteration where the problem exists. This will help retain the original structural and design lines. Since an altered pattern must lie flat, make certain alterations do not pucker the pattern pieces. If one piece is changed, alter all peices which must be attached. Then all seams must be trued after altering. Truing means to connect the upper and lower points with a straight line. Fold in darts before truing seams.

1,342 Registered For Witnesses Convention Here

"Are You Marked For Survival?"—This was the subject under discussion during the closing day of the circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held this weekend in Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls. Attendance of 1,342 was registered for the weekend.

Early in the discourse, G. L. N. Hewitt, district supervisor for the Witnesses, stated, "Survival is a matter of great concern. When threatened with disaster, people put forth much effort to ensure survival and continued happiness. Jahovah's Witnesses have publicly proved that nations are on a collision course with God."

Drawing a prophetic parallel, he pointed to the Bible and said, "Jehovah provided an instructive example in the destruction that came upon Jerusalem in 607 B.C.E. Ezekiel's prophecies about his emphasize the importance of getting God's viewpoint, a course that helped some to survive that destruction."

Hewitt further concluded that more would be necessary for any now living to ensure their survival, by saying, "Having God's viewpoint is an important step, but Ezekil shows that for survival one must also become one of God's marked ones."

Donald Hawk

Missionary To Speak Sunday At Covenant Church

Donald Hawk, missionary to Honduras, Central America, will speak at Evangelical Covenant church, in Thief River Falls Sunday at 7:45 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawk serve with World Gospel mission, an interdenominational missionary organization with approximately 240 missionaries and associate missionaries in 16 areas of the world.

While visiting missionary friends in Honduras in 1947, Mr. and Mrs. Hawk became concerned about the people in that country who needed spiritual teaching and instruction in farming and animal husbandry. To help meet that need, they sold their farm near Wasington Court House, Ohio, and returned to Honduras.

In 1948 the Hawks purchased 800 acres of jungle-covered land, five miles from the town of Catacamas. For six years they worked to clear the land and prepare for the farm school which opened in 1954 with a class of nine boys. The school was named El Sembrador, which means "the sower." Since then the student body has grown to average 100 boys per year.

Through the years the farm has been enlarged until there are now 2,500 acres for pasture and to produce corn, sorghum, rice and beans. Approximately 1,000 head of cattle, both beef and dairy, provide food not only for the boys, but also to sell. Modern machinery has replaced much of the hand work and a campus with adequate buildings has been developed.

The boys receive classroom instruction for half a day and work on the farm the other half. They are afforded the opportunity to learn many skills to improve their way of life. Boys from nearly every state in Honduras, many of them orphans, have attended El Sembrador. Former students are now serving as pastors, teachers, pilots, farmers, mechanics, lawyers, etc.

After a regular furlough year, Mr. and Mrs. Hawk anticipate returning to Honduras to resume their ministry at El Sembrador.

Hawk is visiting the Thief River Falls area under sponsorship of STEER, Inc., a farm-missionary program, which helps support his missionary work.

Angus Breeders Active In Herd Improvement Plan

Angus breeders weighed and graded 49,810 bulls and heifers, during the first six months of fiscal year 1972, in the Angus herd improvement record (AHIR) program. This is an all-time high for the first six months of any year and is an increase of 7,500 head over the first six months of 1971, according to Lloyd D. Miller, executive secretary of the American Angus association.

During the six months from October 1971 to March 1972, 40,940 weaning weights and grades were processed and returned to breeders. The number of yearling weights and grades recorded was up to 8,870 head for a total of 49,810 head or an increase of seven per cent from 1971 figures.

The per cent of weaning age calves measured in A.H.I.R. accounted for 29 per cent of the total registrations for the first six months of fiscal year 1972. "This is the highest percentage ever recorded," Miller pointed out, "and one that will continue to increase as more emphasis is placed on high-performing, efficient angus cattle."

Growth in A.H.I.R. is best illustrated by year to year comparisons. In 1963 there were only 4,500 head of calves weighed and graded. In 1966, there were more than 23,000 head measured, compared to 40,940 head for the first six months of fiscal year 1972. Growth in the yearling program has been almost as dramatic. In 1963, there were 2,304 head measured compared to just over 6,00 head in 1966 and the 8,870 head in the first half of 1972. In the 12-year history of the program, there have been 351,989 weaning and yearling records processed by the association. Nearly 170,000 were handled in the past two years.

Soo Approves 2-For-1 Split In Common Stock

A two-for-one split in the common stock of the Soo Line railroad was approved by shareholders at the company's annual meeting in Minneapolis recently.

The stock split, which must receive the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission, is slated to become effective May 12. It would increase the number of outstanding shares from 1,265,909 to 2,531,818.

Board of directors initiated the action in order to improve future marketability of shares as well as meet revised guidelines regarding the listing of stock on the New York stock exchange.

In other actions, shareholders elected a new director to the Soo's board and directors authorized an equipment acquisition program for 1973 involving more than $7.7 million.

Frederick S. Burbidge, vice president of Canadian Pacific limited and senior executive officer of CV Rail was elected to the board of directors to fill a vacancy created by retiring director N. R. Crump.

Crump, currently chairman and a director of Canadian Pacific limited, has been a member of the Soo's board since its inception in 1961 and of the boards of Soo's predecessors since 1949. The board expressed its appreciation to Crump for his many years of service by designating him an honorary director of the company.

Eighteen other directors were re-elected to further terms on the board.

Orders will soon be placed for more than $7.7 million in new rolling stock that will be scheduled for delivery in 1973. Included in the equipment purchases authorized by the board are:

Five 3,000 horsepower, six-axle, diesel locomotives; 10 all-steel cabooses; 150 100-ton covered hopper cars designed for grain, potash and fertilizer loading; Ten 89-foot container flat cars for use in import-export service; 50 100-ton open top multi-service hopper cars for ballast, lignite and coke loading; and 100 70-ton, 50-foot box cars equipped with cushioned underframes and plug doors for use in paper, food and general merchandise loading.

The new locomotives and freight cars will supplement the Soo's fleet of equipment and enable easier handling of the increasing volume of traffic. The decision to acquire the equipment was influenced by the availability under existing laws of investment tax credits and accelerated depreciation schedules for federal income tax purposes. Additional orders may be placed later in the year, if needed, to satisfy shipper requirements.

Sergeant Raebel Has Dual Honors At Ent Air Base

U.S. Air Force Technical Sergeant Harvey C. Raebel, brother of the Rev. Roger E. Raebel of Red Lake Falls, is a member of the aerospace defense command's (ADC) 47th communications group which has earned dual honors at Ent AFB, Colo.

Sergeant Raebel is a communications supervisor with the group which has received both the air force outstanding unit award (AFOUA) and the 1971 Major General Harold M. McClelland award.

The sergeant will wear the distinctive AFOUA ribbon to mark his affiliation with the 47th whose members were cited for exceptionally meritorius service from July of 1969 to April of 1971.

The unit's receipt of the McClelland award—named in honor of the officer who pioneered global communications-electronics systems within the air force identifies the 47th as the air force communications unit which best served its department of defense users during 1971.

The 47th equips, administers, trains and furnishes personnel to program, operate and maintain ground communications-electronics systems used by the North American defense command, the continental air defense command, ADC and other organizations located within the Ent air force base complex.

Sergeant Raebel, has served in the Republic of Korea and completed 12 months duty in Vietnam.

A 1953 graduate of Granite Falls high school, he attended the University of Maryland European division, Spain. The sergeant's wife, Virginia, is the daughter of Millard A. Odegard of Sacred Heart.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Why doesn't Thief River Falls have medical or dental specialists in its community? This is a question I've heard asked many times recently. New people in our city are amazed that a community this size is lacking in providing these services. If not full time specialists, how about part time.

Another question. Why, when it was put on the list of priorities needed, was it given so little consideration? I know personally, people who rather than continue doctoring here, go to Grand Forks for their medical needs. Reason? Specialists are available.

Our fine hospital would benefit from this as well as its citizens. They do not operate to fullest capacity because patients who could be using its facilities have to go elsewhere.

Surely when Karlstad and Red Lake Falls are getting new doctors, it would be ideal for Thief River Falls to have specialists available to service this whole area.

Why not show people we're the progressive community we claim to be?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Bill (Melba) Penning

To the Ediotr:

As I thought on the issue before the council concerning the motel liquor license, these verses came to me.

Luke 17: 26-27—"And as it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of Man.

They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all."

Luke 17: 30—"Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of Man shall be destroyed."

This is for all of us. We see how suddenly so many have been taken from our midst.

Jesus said, John 4:14—"But who soever drinketh of the water that I shall give shall never thirst.

Luke 6:35—"And Jesus said I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger. And he that believeth on me shall never thirst. Luke 6:37; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."

Sincerely,
LaVonne Kaushagen

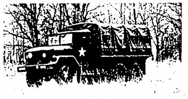
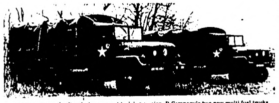
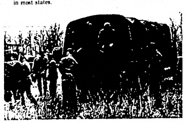
ALL-WHEEL DRIVE was not needed when B Company tested its new trucks during a recent training session. The trails were muddy but the trucks did not break through the frost.



IN THE FIELD for the first time since B Company received its new trucks, one of the multi-fuelers is put through its paces.



PARKED after unloading during a recent training session, B Company's two new multi-fuel trucks are ready for their next task. Noticeably, the new vehicles still lack clearance lights, required by law in most states.



TWO FULLY EQUIPPED SQUADS deploy for a practice exercise. Although the military uses the 2½ ton truck to transport personnel, GI's strongly doubt if the man who designed them ever rode in the back of one.

National Guard Unit Receives Newer Trucks

emergencies. A situation might be encountered in which an individual unit could be isolated and unable to obtain a specific type of fuel. With the capabilities of the new vehicles the possibility of unit being immobilized for a lack of fuel could be held to a minimum. In theory, this provides extra protection for individuals who might depend on the guard in an emergency.

Other features of the new vehicles include a five speed, dual range, synchronized transmission. In the past, unsynchronized transmissions were most common. Automatic transmissions have been tried. According to members of B. Company who used the new vehicles on active duty, the new transmissions are the most effective and efficient.

The M35A2 also has all-wheel drive with a pneumatic selector for the front axle. Although the front axle may not be engaged while the vehicle is in motion, engaging the front axle is as simple as operating a light switch.

Old-timers may think that soldiers are getting soft, using the new vehicles which transport 21 people at a top speed of 56 miles per hour. Unfortunately for the 18 men in back, the cab still has only two seats, in addition to the driver's, and it takes influence (i.e. rank) to get one of them.

Denies Retailer Role In Rising Prices On Food

Food store owner is taking the blame from many consumers for high food prices when he in reality is facing an extremely bleak profit picture himself, according to Hugh R. Cosgrove, executive director of the Minnesota food retailers association.

A Cornell university study of national food chains operation showed that in 1971 the net profit for this segment of the industry was less than one per cent. Figures for so-called independent stores are in many cases even lower, Cosgrove stated.

"Average return on investment for the retail food industry is now down to eight per cent, one of the lowest figures shown by any industry," he added.

The American consumer, while rightly concerned about all rising costs, overlooks the real bargain in food, Cosgrove said. Food purchases today take only 15.6 per cent of disposable income, down from 20 per cent in 1960. In America, the consumer spends less of his disposable income for food than in any nation in the world. In 1950, the average U.S. factory worker earned 10.1 pounds of white bread for one hour's work. In 1972, it is over 14 pounds. An hour of work was worth seven quarts of milk in 1950; today, 10.4 quarts.

"There are many divergent reasons for the increased costs of food today, including crop shortages, increased customer demand for available supplies and many others, but excess profits by retailers is not one of them," Cosgrove added.

"Food retailers are under stiff margin controls frozen as of the year prior to the August 15 freeze. Net profits are also frozen. Increased operating costs—including labor—must be absorbed and cannot be passed along to the consumer. Around 80 per cent of retail prices is accounted for by the cost of merchandise which retailers have no control over."

Cargill To Add New Sunflower Contract Benefit

Increased sunflower contract benefits have been announced by Cargill, Inc.

The contract base price has been raised 25 cents a hundredweight to $4.25, according to Ken Johnson, sunflower project manager. In addition, Cargill is offering a marketing certificate good for 25 cents per hundredweight on the second 500 pounds of seed harvested per acre. A certificate good for the same amount, but on the first 500 pounds, was announced several weeks ago.

Johnson said a grower with a Cargill contract for high oil sunflowers now stands to earn $4.50 per hundredweight on the first 1,000 pounds of seed harvested per acre, exclusive of what he can make on the contract's oil premium. The premium is five cents per hundredweight for every one per cent that the oil content of the seed is over 40 per cent.

Johnson said the higher contract price and certificates reflect the continuing improvement in the world oil market outlook for 1973 when the oil from this year's sunflower crop will be marketed. He said that was the case in the earlier Cargill contract improvement and that there is always the possibility of further improvements.

Johnson assured growers who have already signed with Cargill that they will get the new contract benefits.

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

This friendly country (Turkey), which geographically lies between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean Sea, is a land of extreme contrasts. Ancient and modern cultures are all mixed together here. Along one of the few highways worthy of the name, a donkey struggles along with an enormous looking load of sticks for the evening fire. Overhead the white vapor trail of an Air Force jet disappears over a white capped mountain. As we look back to the road we see a caravan of camels loaded with rugs and produce from the country.

In a religious sense, it too is one of great contrasts. Today it is a Moslem country with no visible Christian churches anywhere. At the same time it is literally steeped in church history. It is to what we now call modern Turkey that the first century Christians did some of their greatest work. As the Jews first and then the Romans persecuted the followers of Christ, the Christian Church spread out from Jerusalem and under the inspired leadership of the Apostles and Saint Paul, became established in this region. The New Testament Book of Acts tells of the missionary journeys of the first century into such famous places as Ephesus, Cappadocia, Pamphylia, Antioch, Phrygia and Smyrna. These cities are still here, but under different names. In the region of Cappadocia, there is a town called Goreme. This is a mountainous part of central Turkey. In some of these mountains the first and second century Christians dug or built a large underground city to protect themselves from the Romans. As many as 20,000 people were able to live in these cities. Only 8 years ago the government opened these cities to the public although the local villagers have known of them for centuries. Also nearby are literally hundreds of chapels and living quarters hewn out of the rocks by Monks of the first centuries who painted the entire Christians Story on the walls of these caves.

Thus we are in a place where the influence of Christianity is part of its history and culture. In spite of this great number of visible reminders of the authenticity and presence of Christianity, there is no modern evidence it ever existed.

Turkey is very friendly toward the U.S. They take a great intestest in what we do. It is to our best interests to cultivate this friendship and this is being done through our NATO relationship with them as well as direct military and cultural cooperation. As an American, it is easy to travel through the countryside without fear of hostility. We can learn much from these people. They are not rich, but they work hard and seem pleased to do good work. They are on our side and it is indeed good to know they guard for us the sea lanes from Russia to the Mediterranean.

The government in Turkey as well as the people have no doubt as to the nature of its enemies as well as those of the United States. They live in the shadow of the Russian Bear and are willing to face up to it. There must be confusion in their minds as to what we think when they read of our primary elections. This is even mentioned in their press. What they don't realize is how confusing our international picture and our national attitudes are to us at home. Perhaps for those politicians at home that seem so confused it would be in order for us to inform them about the nature of our enemies, for example, which is elementary to the Turk.

PENNINGTON ASCS ACTIVITIES

— by —

WALLACE SPARBY
Executive Director

All wool incentive payment checks have been mailed to all wool producers in Pennington county. These payment rates on the 1971 marketings of wool were announced April 3 in Washington. The announced payment rate based on the incentive price of 72 cents a pound is 271.1 per cent of the national average price of 19.4 cents a pound received by producers in the marketing year 1971. This payment to wool growers is required by the National Wool Act of 1954 as amended by the Congress.

The higher 1971 payment rate compares with the 1970 rate of 192.8 per cent and reflects a drop in the market prices for shorn wool in 1971. Wool prices were generally lower last year throughout the world and the U.S. average wool price to producers was the lowest since 1938. In 1938 the average price received by producers was 19.1 cents per pound compared to this year's 19.4 cents per pound. These figures compare with the highest that we have record of, 1951, when the average price received was 97.1 cents per pound.

A grower's wool payment is determined by multiplying his net dollar return from the sale of wool by the payment rate of 271.1 per cent. The percentage method of payment is designed to encourage growers to improve the quality and marketing of their wool. In any marketing year the higher the price a grower gets for his wool, the larger the incentive payment.

For example, if a producer got a 15 cents average return, his payment will be 2.711 times 15 cents or 40.7 cents a pound. On the other hand a grower who produced better quality wool and received an average market price of 25 cents a pound would get 2.711 times more, or an incentive payment of 67.8 cents a pound.

A payment rate of $2.10 a hundredweight on unshorn lambs sold or slaughtered in 1971 also was announced by USDA. The 1970 rate was $1.46. This payment is designed to compensate growers for the wool they market on live lambs rather than as shorn wool. The payment is based on the shorn wool payment rate, average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs, and value of lambs wool relative to the national average value of shorn wool.

Payments to wool and mohair growers on the 1971 marketings will be about $110 million. This is up $38 million over 1970. Wool payments are estimated at about $100 million for 1971 compared with $64 million for 1970.

Deductions in 1971 of one and one-half cents a pound for shorn wool and mohair payments and seven and one-half cents a hundred pounds of liveweight from lamb payments will be made to finance advertising, sales promotion and related market development activities. These deductions provided for in the national wool act are at the same rates as for the five preceding marketing years. The deductions were approved by an 87 per cent favorable vote by sheepmen voting in a June 1971 referendum, and by an 80 per cent favorable vote by the mohair producers voting in the referendum in April of 1971.

The 1972 incentive price for wool announced Nov. 10, 1971, is 72 cents a pound, the same as for 1971.

The 1972 barley price support rate for Pennington county will be 81 cents. This is a five-cent increase over what it was in 1971. This rate is for barley grading number 2 or better, with a schedule of premiums and discounts also included. Some of the discounts included are, for instance, mixed barley two cents per bushel discount, garlicky barley 10 cents per bushel discount, grade number 3 three cents per bushel discount, grade number 4 six cents per bushel discount, and grade number 5 15 cents per bushel discount.

Then we go to the percentage of total damaged kernels, and if that runs from 10.1 to 11 per cent, the discount is one cent per bushel. That graduates on up to 19.1 per cent and above where it is 10 cents per bushel discount. The county price support loan rate is established on the basis of the national average loan and purchase rate of 86 cents per bushel.

Support rate for oats for 1972 has also been announced and that will be 47 cents per bushel, the same as it was in 1971. A schedule of discounts is also included there. On test weight there is a one cents deduction for each pound or fraction thereof below 27 pounds. This is on delivery to Commodity Credit corporation now. Foreign material is one cents per bushel for each one per cent or fraction thereof over four per cent. On wild oats it's one cent for each three per cent or fraction thereof over five per cent. Heat damage, one cent for each half per cent or fraction there of over one per cent. On moisture the discount is one cent for each one-fourth per cent or fraction thereof over 14 per cent.

By now you should have received your cards asking whether or not you wish to reseal the grain that you have on your farm under reseal at the pesent time or under storage. Please indicate your wishes on the card. There are spaces there for you to check off the item which you wish to do this coming year. Return the cards to us as soon as possible. Please sign and date the card before returning it. It is a self-addressed post card, and we would appreciate your prompt response so that we might line up our inspections of this grain to be put under reseal.

We have several hundred loans and it does take time to get these completed, therefore it is important that we have your cooperation at the earliest possible date. If you have any questions in regard to this card, please feel free to call the office or stop by and discuss the questions you have with us. We will be happy to assist you in any way we can.

Next we want to give the definition of a cow. A cow is a completely automatic milk-manufacturing machine. It is encased in untanned leather and mounted on four vertical movable supports, one on each corner. The front end contains the cutting and grinding mechanism as well as the headlights, air inlet and exhaust, a bumper and a fog horn. At the rear is the dispensing apparatus and the automatic fly swatter.

The central portion houses a hydrochemical conversion plant. This consists of four fermentation and storage tanks connected in series by an intricate network of flexible plumbing. This section also contains the heating plant complete with automatic temperature control, pumping station and main ventilating system. The waste disposal apparatus is located at the rear of this central section.

In brief the externally visible features are two lookers, two hookers, four stander-uppers, four manger-downers and a swishy-wishy.

There is a similar machine known as the bull which should not be confused with a cow. It produces no milk but has other interesting uses. (Author unknown).

"Ownership of Land Is Wealth Forever"

Baudette, the Friendly Community: "Fresh & Green & Very Clean", a great place to raise your family. The County Seat of Lake of the Woods County.

Although Tourism is gaining rapidly, agriculture remains the bulwark of the local economy. Basic crops include grains, clover, timothy grass seed and seed potatoes. Much of the seed produced is either foundation or certified stock.

Soil and climate are regarded as ideal for dairy and beef cattle. Beef cattle numbers are on the increase, and timothy seed production has shown sharp growth. A beef and grass combination is the area where farm experts predict continued growth for the foreseeable future. Quote in part from University of Minnesota Extension Service Data: "Opportunity is good for profitable beef cow-calf production in northern Minnesota. The relative capital investment per beef cow unit is much less in this reagion than in the West. Demonstrations have proven that beef cows can winter well on hay outside without expensive buildings; thus reducing or eliminating housing costs and increasing net profit to the beef producer."

The area is served by an excellent school system, Modern New Hospital, New Nursing Home, New Post Office and Federal Building, Court House, two Doctors, Dentist, Chiropractor, two attorneys, various churches, and a complete Business District.

Located on beautiful Rainy River just ahead of where it empties into the cool fresh waters of Famous Lake of the Woods, Walleye Capital of the World. Over 14,000 Islands—more miles of shoreline than any other fresh water lake in North America.

ADVENTURE: Waters and woods - nature - fresh clean air - water sports - fishing - hunting - trapping - a magnificent unspoiled territory.

Crookston Runners Claim New Northwest Conference Track Title

Crookston put its fieldhouse experience to good use yesterday as the Pirates squeezed by Thief River Falls to win the Northwest Conference track and field meet in the Crookston winter shows building.

Although the scoreboard showed the Pirates winning the first annual event by six points, 71-65, the Prowlers actually came within 1.4 seconds from tieing Crookston for the title. The Prowler sprint medley relay team finished just three tenths of a second behind Fergus Falls (3:16.7 to 3:17.0) while the Prowler 1,520 yard relay team finished just 1.1 seconds behind Crookston (3:07.3 to 3:08.4). If the Prowlers could have won those two close races it would have given them four more points, while the Pirates would have lost two points by finishing second in the 1,520 relay. In both relay events the Prowlers raced in a separate heat than the winning team.

Crookston and Thief River Falls both ended the record-setting meet with four first place finishes as six new high school fieldhouse records were set during the event, including three record-breaking performances by Prowler runners.

Setting new fieldhouse standards while winning their events for the Prowlers were Markoe Hanson with a 24.3 clocking in the 220, Mike Fitzgerald with a 54.0 in the 440 and the Prowler 760-yard relay team of Rob Swenson, Steve Beich, John Wangberg and Hanson, with a 1:25.0. The other first place performance claimed by the Prowlers came in the 70-yard dash where Swenson ran a 7.4.

Claiming second place finishes in the meet for the Prowlers were Beich, 7.5 in the 70; Paul Battleson, 2:06.0 in the 880; Bruce Johnson, 10:44.8 in the two mile; and the sprint medley and 1520 relay teams.

Third place performances were turned in by Greg Bulger, 4:54.0 in the mile; Kent Smith, 5-8 in the high jump; and Wangberg, 9.4 in the 70-yard lows and 8.8 in the 70-yard high hurdles.

Placing fourth during the meet were Doug Aaseby, 9.0 in the 70-yard low hurdles; Steve Phelps, 2:15.3 in the 880; and Rande Smith, 45-3 in the shot put and 18-1¾ in the long jump.

Fifth place finishes came from Aaseby, 9.5 in the 70-yard high hurdles, and Lonnie Olson in the two-mile run.

Fergus Falls turned in the other two record-setting performances, including a pair of hurdle marks by Gary Hanneman. The smooth-stepping Otter senior sprinted to a 9.0 clocking in the 70-yard highs and latter came back to run an 8.4 in the 70-yard lows to go home with a pair of records. Fergus Falls shot putter Ron Dowzak tossed the shot 50-7¾ for a new fieldhouse mark.

Crookston slowly pulled away from a tight three-way race behind impressive performances in the distance and field events. After four events, The Pirates and Otters were deadlocked with 21 points apiece, with Thief River Falls close behind with 19.

The Pirates moved out in front of Thief River Falls 35-26 after six events, with Fergus Falls slipping to third with 23 points. The Prowlers were able to climb to within 38-32 after seven events, but the Pirates moved back in front by a 56-47 margin following the completion of eleven events. Strong showings by Prowler runners in the 220 and the two mile pulled Thief River back to within 63-58 with just two events remaining - the high jump and the 1520 relay.

Thief River Falls' Kent Smith claimed a third and Crookston's Scott Youngquist a fourth in the high jump, putting the Pirates on top 65-61 going into the 1520 finale where Crookston slipped by the Prowlers by a 1.1 second margin.

Fergus Falls finished the day with 59 points, East Grand Forks scored 27, Bemidji 9 and Roseau 8. Roseau was a last minute substitution for new league member Breckenridge who had previous commitments.

The next action for the Prowlers will be Saturday when they travel to the University of North Dakota's Memorial stadium for the annual Sioux Outdoor, beginning at 9 a.m.

Both runners advanced into the finals of the event where Wagner finished second and Wangberg third, with Gary Hanneman of Fergus Falls winning the event.

Pirates Lead Northwest Conf. Baseball Race

Crookston jumped out to an early season lead in the Northwest Conference baseball race yesterday as the Pirates handed defending league champion Bemidji a 3-1 setback at Crookston.

The Pirates and Lumberjacks were rated as pre-season co-favorites, with Thief River Falls and Roseau playing the dark horse role, according to league publicist Jim Carrington of Bemidji.

Bemidji captured its sixth conference championship last spring, posting a perfect 5-0 record, well ahead of Thief River Falls' 3-3 mark. Crookston trailed with a 2-4 record while Roseau brought up the rear at 1-4.

This will mark Roseau's final year as a league member. Newcomers Fergus Falls and Breckenridge will join the circuit next spring. East Grnd Forks does not compete in baseball.

Crookston returns seven starters from a team that reached the regional finals last year beofre bowing to Bemidji 6-5. The Lumberjacks have only four starters on hand as does Roseau, while Thief River Falls returns five. Both the Jacks and Prowlers, however, are shy on seniors with Thief River Falls listing three and Bemidji only two.

One of the season's key contests might have been the opening meeting of Bemidji and Crookston yesterday. The Lumberjacks were without the services of their ace pitcher-first baseman Gary Sargent, who is recovering from an appendectomy. His absence could stake Crookston to an early conference lead.

Only Thief River Falls has been able to break Bemidji's domination over the conference baseball race, winning two titles and tying Bemidji for a third.

A capsule look at the league teams is as follows:

BEMIDJI—The Jacks graduated five starters including its stellar shortstop-second base combination of Steve Donahue and Mike Mohler, outfielders Dwight Degerman and Al Killian and catcher Jim Traut. Returning in addition to Sargent are third baseman Earl Sargent and outfielders Mike Malmquist and Charlie Meyers. Earl Sargent and Meyers will join Gary Sargent as the heart of the mound staff. There 10 lettermen on hand but many saw only token action last year.

Junior Dave Drown is battling sophomore John Buckanaga for the catcher's spot. The Sargents will split duties between the mound and first base with Meyers moving to short. Junior Don Wackwitz and sophomores Randy Beck and Jim Conway will battle for the other infield spots. Malmquist will hold down center field with Buckanaga, junior Tim Okerman and sophomores Bob Johnson and Stan Drew battling for starting berths. Senior lefthander Chris Coy is also in the picutre as a pitcher, first baseman and outfielder. Johnson and Andy Kannenberg add two other lefthanders to the mound staff.

CROOKSTON—The Pirates came on strong at the end of last season and return all but catcher Ron Muir and third baseman Paul Hendrickson, although outfielder Loren Faul has been hampered by a knee injury.

Hard throwing Jim Clauson heads the mound staff and, along with Kyle Pearson, should handle the bulk of the pitching chores. When one pitches, the other will play first base. Veterans Jim Lindell, Scott Youngquist and Dale Normandin round out the infield with Doug LaFriniere in reserve.

Roger Johnson, Scott Wheelhouse and Kevin Tiedeman return to the outfield. Youngquist, Faul and Tiedeman also have mound experience. Catching could become a problem with four players currently in the fight to succeed Muir, with senior Mike Davis is in the lead.

ROSEAU—The Rams have nine seniors on hand but just four starters back from a team that won only one league game last spring. Mitch Brandt, Larry Vatnsdal, Tim Delmore and Mike Broten graduated while Dana Byfuglien has been sidelined with knee surgery.

Coach Norb Pastir expects a major rebuilding year with a lack of hitting and inexperienced mound corps. The most experienced hurler is Tom Lund who worked five innings last spring. Leland Anderson, a Greenbush transfer, will handle the catching. Rick Vatnsdal is a fine outfielder but may have to be moved to shortstop.

Byfuglien, when he returns, will play first with Lund at second when not pitching. Craig Baumgartner has the edge at third with Tim Degerness, Mike Hallie and Dave Wagner battling for outfield spots.

In nine years, Bemidji has a composite league recordnof 44-8 with Thief River Falls 30-21, Crookston 14-36 and Roseau 13-36. Each Team will paly all others twice except Bemidi and Roseau who meet only once.

NSJC Seeks Track Win

Northland state junior college track squad, coached by Chet Engelman, will be back in action tomorrow afternoon (Thursdjy) when the Northmen compete in a quadrangular indoor meet at Crookston.

Crookston Tech, Fergus Falls, Mesabi and Northland will run in the meet that was rescheduled from Tuesday to Thursday because of the high school Northwest Conference meet. The junior college meet will start at 4 p.m. in the Crookston winter shows building.

Engelman indicated his line-up would have very few changes from the squad that won a triangular meet decision over Crookston Tech and Fergus Fjlls last week.

The Northland line-up will find sophomore Tim Olson (TRF) in the 70-yard high and low hurdles, 70-yard dash and the triple jump; freshman Dale Hanson (TRF) will run in the 70-yard high hurdles and the 440; sophomore Jeff Brummer (RLF) will run in the mile and two-mile; freshman Kim Murphy (TRF) will compete in the 440, 880 and two-mile; freshman Mike Rasch (Hoffman) will enter the shot put, 70-yard low hurdles and high jump; sophomore Tony Burke (Bemidji) will compete in the shot put, 220, high jump and triple jump; freshman Les Swanson (Warren) will enter the long jump, pole vault and triple jump; freshman Dean LaChance (RLF) will compete in the long jump; freshman Terry Haaven (McIntosh) will enter the high jump competition; and freshman John Barger (Hallock) will run in the 220 and 440-yard dashes.

UND began playing major college hockey in 1946 and since then, the winter sports arena has been the home ice for 392 games, with UND winning 251 and tieing 22.

LHS Thinclads Will Run In Sioux Outdoor

If the weatherman cooperates, Lincoln high school will be entered in the 26th annual Soux Outdoor high school relays to be run Saturday morning and afternoon at the University of North Dakota Memorial stadium in Garnd Forks.

UND track coach Frank Zazula, meet manager, reported there has been considerable interest in the big prep outdoor meet Saturday but he says the Memorial stadium track will need three or four days of sun and drying to prepare it. "It looks good now but it is still pretty wet," Zaz said Monday.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude about 3:30 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

"Entries were due Tuesday. We are permitting each school to enter three men in each event. The meet is open to members of the North Dakota and Minnesota high school leagues," Zazula said.

Grand Forks Red River is defending champion. The Roughriders outdistanced a big field last Saturday to win the 19th annual Sioux Indoor high school relays.

Marv Skaar Headlines Newfolden Banquet

Marv Skaar, newly appointed head basketball coach at North Dakota State University in Fargo, will be the guest speaker at the Marshall County Central high school athletic banquet Wednesday, April 26, at 1:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The program will include a lunch, a speech by Skaar, presentation of athletic awards and a showing of the film, "Life's High Goals," featuring Bob Richards.

Skaar became the 15th man to serve as head coach in North Dakota State University basketball history March 2, after a five-year stint as head coach of Moorhead State College cage teams.

A native of Valley City, N. D., Skaar graduated from Moorhead high school and Moorhead State. He lettered in football and basketball for the Dragons prior to graduation in 1951.

Skaar, 44, spent one year on the coaching staff of Lake City (Minn.) high school, and three years at Oakes (N.D.) high school before moving to Grand Forks, N. D., in 1956.

Skaar spent 11 productive seasons as head basketball coach at Grand Forks Central high school. He guided the Redskins to two second-place finishes and a pair of third-places in the North Dakota state class A high school tournament. His prep cage teams advanced to the class A tourney nine of his 11 seasons. His overall high school coaching record was a respectable 245-111.

In addition to his basketball duties, Skaar directed Central's golf teams to five consecutive state class A titles. During the summer months Skaar served as head coach of the Grand Forks American Legion baseball team for ten seasons, including 1967 when Grand Forks became North Dakota's first representative ever to reach the little World Series.

Accepting the head cage job at Moorhead State in 1967, Skaar compiled an impressive 87-35 (.713 percentage) Dragon career mark during five winning seasons. The Dragons went 11-10 his first season, then 18-6, 15-10, 24-2 and 19-7.

He enjoyed his best season at Moorhead State in 1970-71 when the Dragons went 24-2 overall and 11-1 in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference (NIC), earning a conference championship, a No. 4 ranking in the final National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) poll and a 12th in the Associated Press College Division national rankings. Skaar was honored as the 1970-71 NIC Coach of the year.

The Dragons went 41-19 in NIC play under Skaar, chalking up the 1970-71 championship, a runnerup spot and three third-place finishes. They caputred three Christmas tournament titles and two invitational tourney championships. The Dragons finished 19-7 in 1971-72.

Skaar and his wife Donna have four children, Andrea 18, Mark 17, Shelley 15 and Jennifer 13.

Tickets for the event may be purchased from the Marshall County Cenyral lettermen's club. The tickets will be sold for $2.

The New Minority
From Field and Stream
April Issue
by Warren Page

"More serious than the details of his bill, perhaps, is Mikva's idea of reducing crime by the elimination of private short arms because of his strange concept that such pieces are never used for recreational purposes. Very obviously he has never seen the Saturday afternoon crowds of target shooters, hunters, and just plain plinkers who regularly use handguns in proper and innocent recreation. More important, he doesn't even want to believe the patent truth, that these people exist in millions. No, this large minority group does not meet with his professionally liberal ideas of what is right, so they must be chastised.

Further evidence that the term "liberal" has developed new meaning in its relation to the hunting and shooting sports-which of themselves are in no way associated with questions of party or politics, nor should they be-comes from the mental gyrations of John Lindsay, outspoken mayor of New York City. Lindsay appears gratified by the fact that New York's police have administered the Sullivan Law so efficiently that no more than 504 individuals, in a city of 8 million, are permitted to own short guns. This in his lexicon is a triumph beyond even the dreams of mad Tim Sullivan. Further, despite the colossal failure of his own ordinance demanding the licensing and registration of shot guns and rifles within the city limits-a scheme which is neither correctly operated nor significant in slowing the upward drive of Gotham's crime."

"Lindsay now cries for even tighter national regulations, chains so broad as to put the resident of Bent-Arrow, Mont, under the same restrictions as the apartment house dweller in the Bronx.

"Beyond apology or understanding is the concerted attack on the sporting fraternity by at least two of the major TV networks, who regard hunters with distaste they ordinarily reserve for Vice President Agnew. Even if we accept the principle that a television network, as distinct from a single station, is entitled to consistent bias or editorial opinion and that point is in itself questionable-certainly there can be little excuse for outright prevarication or falsification of evidence to support this bias.

"ABC, for example, has for several highly successful seasons run its American Sportsman hour, hardly the hunter's or fisherman's dream, perhaps but assuredly the only regular show which presents these largest of all participant sports in any degree of truth. The other networks, however, when dealing with matters affecting the sports hunter and the sports fisherman, have no qualms about contriving effects or distorting facts. Rearranging film footage or jiggering interview tapes so as to make the interviewee look a fool are standard procedures.

"WCBS ran twenty-six straight anti-gun editorials authored by an earnest young man who clearly had never owned a personal firearm. At that same time, attempts by a leading sportsman's magazine to talk with that young man, even to supply him with statistical data, were totally repulsed.

"Sportsmen are all too familiar with NBC's offering of a presumed documentary called "Say Goodbye" in which a polar bear sequence used deft intercutting of films and tapes from several disparate sources to produce an outrageous lie. Although the footage stunts have been condemned by all major professional game management organizations in the country; Producer Wolper is under suit for appropriating personal film and defaming character; the film has been damned for using game department footage without either permission or acknowledgement; Quaker Oats, which outfit has with Wolper a distribution contract tantamount to subsidy of his films, is thoroughly sick of the whole great boo-boo; and NBC has finally come to realize that sportsmen cannot be lied about all the time, these happy reactions are side benefits. The sad fact is that the general public was deliberately treated to thoroughgoing misrepresentation. The leading minority of the outdoor world was condemned wholesale."

The attendance at the regular meeting of the Senior Citizens was good in spite of the rain and snow that once again blanketed the surface. Twenty-five were registered, and four of these were visitors from Holt. They were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sandberg and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ness. Local visitors were Jean Lindstrom and Gary and Irvin Larson was a coffee guest. It was nice to have Violet Lundstrom and Swan Lindstrom, who have both missed meetings recently due to illness, back with the group. A lot of visiting went on while fluffing up Arctic scrap for filling bed pillows. A few pillows and the wool piece quilt were finished. Word from Missouri is that Helen Peterson is still there and does enjoy hearing from friends in the old home town. April 13th was Mildred's birthday, so the happy birthday song was sung for her. Sandberg, Ness, Jean and Irvin gave $1.00 gifts to the Center. Correction from last week: It was Ellen, not Ella, who gave a generous lunch tip. A get-well card was signed and sent to Florence Stennes, who was in the hospital at Karlstad for observation. Mabel Borsvold was Thursday's hostess.

Visitors at the Arnie Lindstrom home last Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Nelson and family and Brion, Carol and Randy Nelson. Evening visitors were Mrs. Ruben Gunderson, Ruth, Daniel and David, Mr. and Mrs. David Lindstrom and family of Minneapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lindstrom and girls.

Dr. and Mrs. Storein of Hallock were visitors at the William Wikstrom home on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Shirley Anderson visited on Sunday evening.

Burning Permits Needed In State Forested Areas

Persons who wish to do any open burning in Minnesota's forested areas this year will need one, and perhaps two, permits from state agencies.

Unless the ground is snow-covered, a burning permit must be obtained from a state forester or township fire warden to burn anything not confined in an approved incinerator.

Further, if the material to be burned is other than natural wood or other vegetation, a permit must also be obtained from the Minnesota pollution control agency in addition to the regular burning permit.

An official for the Department of Natural Resources, lands and forestry division, said more restrictions under which burning permits may be issued will be in force this year in force this year in order to comply with PCA regulations.

Changes Are Made In Food Stamp Plan

Changes in the federal food stamp program regulations have been implemented by the Minnesota state department of public welfare in conjunction with a nation-wide revision of the food assistance plan required by public law 91-671.

The result is more uniformity in state eligibility requirements for low-income families, according to the agency sponsoring the food stamp program, the U.S. department of agriculutre's food and nutrition service.

The changes provide for:

—Free food stamps for one and two-person households if the monthly income is under $20, and to other size households if their monthly income is under $30.

—More food stamps for less money to most other households. For example, a household of four persons with a monthly income of $250 will now pay $71 to get $108 in stamps. Previously they paid $72 for $106 worth of food coupons.

—Assurance that no family will have to pay more than 30 per cent of its income for food stamps.

—Opportunity for households to purchase less than their full allotment of food coupons if they wish.

—The transfer of certified eligibility for 60 days following a move by the household from one food stamp area to another.

—Elderly persons' purchases of hot meals delivered to them by a non-profit meal delivery service, provided they are unable to prepare their own meals because of a disability. Such delivery services will be authorized by FNS personnel to redeem stamps in a manner similar to that used for grocery stores.

—Monthly income maximums for households not receiving welfare assistance that are generally higher than previous limitations. Previously, a Minnesota household of four persons would be eligible if the monthly income was $300 or less. Because of the new national standards, the household may have a monthly income of $360 and still be eligible.

In Minnesota and 10 other states, the monthly income maximums for a few household sizes are higher than the national standard. For example, Minnesota's maximum for a one-person household is $180, while the national standard is $170. The new changes allow states to retain any income standards which were higher under the old regulations.

—Establishment of new uniform resource maximums, and a new definition of the term. Previously resources meant only liquid assets such as cash, stocks and bonds, etc. Now resources also include non-liquid assets so that certain types of property are included. Not counted as resources are the home, household goods, one car, personal effects, cash value of life insurance policies, income-producing property and machinery needed for employment or self support.

However, resources do include such non-liquid assets as non-income producing buildings, land or other real or personal property at fair market value less incumbrances. For households not receiving welfare assistance, resources are limited to $1,500 per household, plus an additional $1,500 for households of two or more which contain at least one person 60 years of age or older.

—Limitations on the participation of tax dependents and the unemployed. Households are not eligible if they contain a person over 18 years of age who is claimed as a federal income tax dependent by a parent or guardian in another household which is not certified eligible for either food stamps or USDA donated foods.

Also, all able-bodied persons between the ages of 18 and 65 are required to register with the state employment service if their household is to be considered eligible for the food stamp program. Exceptions are those who are (1) responsible for the care of dependent children under 18 or of incapacitated adults; (2) students; or (3) working at least 30 hours a week.

To assure that present and potential recipients learn of the benefits provided by the new changes, food stamp regulations require the states to operate an Outreach program. This program will disseminate program information to the public through various channels and organizations. Such efforts are geared to insure that all persons in need of food assistance are familiar with the application processes.

"As a result of the new regulations, there should be significant increases in program participation on a nation-wide basis," according to Dennis M. Doyle, midwest regional administrator of the food and nutrition service.

State-operated quality control programs and fair hearing procedures will work to insure equal treatment and also eliminate program abuses. Fair hearings allow a receipeint to have his case reviewed if he feels that an action taken by a state or local agency unjustly affects his food stamp program participation.

"The program's primary purpose is to help low-income households obtain a nutritionally adequate diet," Doyle said. "All households that feel they may be eligible are encouraged to contact their local welfare department."

Federal Agencies Combine To Give Bison To Indians

Two federal agencies recently acted to restore the traditional buffalo to the Crow Indians' sacred Big Horn Mountain and help stimulate the growth of tourism in Montana.

The Department of the Interior will provide 35 bison to the tribe, and the Department of Commerce will provide a $310,000 grant for fencing a 10,000-acre buffalo range. The actions were announced jointly by interior secretary Rogers C. B. Morton and commerce secretary Peter G. Peterson.

The commerce grant is a part of President Nixon's program to create new and useful jobs in areas of high unemployment, and to assist the American Indians in the economic development of their reservations.

The grant for the complete cost of developing the buffalo range will come from the Economic Development administration, which is working with the Crow tribe in the establishment of a comprehensive recreation and tourism program. The aim of the program is to create jobs and increase income for tribal members.

Secretary Morton said the National Park service will assist the tribe in building the herd from the 35 head to be provided this fall to a model herd of 250 animals.

Construction of the fencing is expected to get under way during the spring with completion scheduled to permit the delivery of the buffalo this fall. The fence project is expected to provide jobs for up to 45 persons from the reservation.

In addition to fencing the pasture area from Hunters canyon to Little Bull Elk canyon near Arrowhead Springs, the project includes a corral, holding pens, access road, equipment storage shed and the development of watering springs.

Tribal leaders say members of the tribe will participate in educational programs to enable them to manage the herd on a professional basis.

National Park service officials say the buffalo for the Crow reservation will come from the Theodore Roosevelt national memorial park herd at Medora, N. D. It is one of 11 herds managed by the department of the interior.

Keep America Beautiful Day Slated April 29

Minnesota AAA today urged all Minnesotans to participate in the second annual 'Keep America Beautiful' Day April 29.

"This event was a big success last year, and it gives everyone in Minnesota a unique opportunity to commit themselves to the goal of improving the nation's environment," said Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive vice president of the motoring organization.

"Motorists can help greatly in this project by carrying a litter bag in their cars and using it. And while on a trip—whether it be a camping excursion, vacation, mini-holiday or just a drive—people can help curb the litter problem by using trash cans, cleaning up after a picnic lunch and picking up paper and other refuse they find in a park or roadside rest area."

'Keep America Beautiful' Day is sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and Keep America Beautiful, Inc. AAA has joined in the environmental project by urging its 14½ million members to help keep the U.S. countryside clean and beautiful.

"Last year, the Minnesota highway department spent $441,951 for litter and debris pick-up in Minnesota," added Tomlinson. "But this was down from the previous year when it cost the state $442,823 for litter clean-up. Minnesotans are becoming more conscious of the despoiling of our landscape by litter. But we still have a long way to go."

Community, service, youth and conservation organizations as well as business and industry groups, labor unions and government agencies are all joining in the effort to clean up America on April 29.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., is serving as the clearing house for information on the massive clean-up program. Any group or organization wishing to report their plans to KAB or get more information on Keep America Beautiful Day, should write to: Keep America Beautiful, 99 Park Avenue, New York, NY 10016

THE LATEST WORD on food services was presented to school administrators Saturday at a school lunch workshop held at Franklin junior high school in Thief River Falls. Speaker was Charles L. Matthew, director of the school lunch section of the Minnesota department of education.

1,500 Pounds Of Meat Products Are Detained

Over 1,500 pounds of meat products were detained in Minnesota by the U.S. department of agriculture during March of 1972.

According to Maurice Ewing, officer-in-charge of USDA's meat and poultry inspection programs' review and compliance activities in the North Central region, the detentions result from routine investigations made by his compliance officers in cooperation with various state agencies.

The federal meat inspection act and the poultry products inspection act authorize the detention of non-federally inspected meat and poultry products found in interstate commerce, and of USDA inspected meat and poultry products suspected of being unwholesome, adulterated or misbranded.

Examples of the latter would be meat or poultry products that have been federally inspected but have become unwholesome or adulterated by inadequate refrigeration or by being involved in an accident where the product became contaminated. An example of misbranding would be where a product's label does not accurately describe the contents.

If a state-inspected product is found in interstate commerce and is in good condition, its disposition depends on the mutual decision of the originating state and the state in which the product is found.

If a federally-inspected product is detained and further inspection proves it to be wholesome and truthfully labeled, it is released into regular trade channels.

If an inspected product is found to be unwholesome, adulterated or misbranded, the owner has several recourses: (1) The product may be removed to a USDA-inspected establishment for reinspection and processing for salvage purposes or relabeling; (2) The product can be decharacterized, identified as unfit for human food and sold for use in animal food; (3) The owner can sign a release and voluntarily destroy the product in the presence of an animal and plant health inspection service official.

When an owner refuses to take any of the above steps, the case is turned over to the courts for final disposition. Most cases have resulted in destruction of the product for use as human food. This is done in the presence of a court official so that there is documented proof of the product's disposition.

Compliance and evaluation staffs continually work with officials from various state agencies and other federal agencies to protect the consumer's meat and poultry supply, Ewing said.

Federal Highway Fund Cutback Is Felt In State

Minnesota highway commissioner Ray Lappegaard has announced that a sharp cutback in federal highway funds has forced the postponement of a number of highway construction projects scheduled for contract letting in April, May and June.

"Unprecedented changes initiated this year in procedures for releasing federal highway funds make it impossible for all of the originally programmed construction projects to be placed under contract," Lappegaard said.

Lappegaard said Minnesota's 1972 apportionment of federal highway funds amounted to approximately $103 million, but that only $71 million is being released.

He said that although it was anticipated contract lettings during the fourth quarter of this fiscal year would total about $70 million, it now appears that as much as $40 million in work may have to be delayed.

Minnesota's financial difficulties began at the close of the first quarter of the current fiscal year (September 1971) when the balance of federal funds was frozen and made available to all of the states on a first-come, first-served basis. Subsequent changes in the customary procedures for releasing these funds resulted in Minnesota falling further behind in the amount of federal funds actually received.

These delays will be felt in both the interstate and regular trunk highway construction programs. To further complicate the picture, some of the funds are available for special purpose use only, such as economic growth center funds, safety improvements and trunk highway system work in urban areas. These funds are available on a "use it or lose it" basis and cannot be transferred to other projects which may have a higher priority.

"We are hopeful," Lappegaard said, "that additional funds will become available in accordance with the intent of Congress in making the original apportionments of the federal highway users trust fund. To that end, all projects originally scheduled for fourth quarter lettings will be maintained in readiness and will be put up for bidding as soon as finances permit."

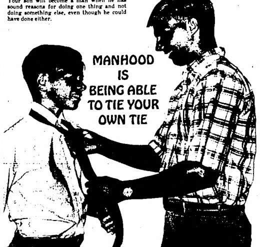
Here is one of those great epigrams of my favorite philosopher — Dad! Or was it Mother? It's hard to remember for sure.

But, anyway, it isn't true. The older I get the more I realize that there are some who can tie their own neckties but still aren't men.

Maturity is not measured by what you can do. It is measured rather by your reasons for doing—or not doing—things you can do.

Think that sentence through once more. Your son will become a man when he has sound reasons for doing one thing and not doing something else, even though he could have done either.

It is in the character-molding and spiritual growth which the Church provides that both youth and adults discover the soundest motivation of life. In worship and religious training we embrace the reasons that will prompt our courageous decisions as Christian men and women.



MANHOOD IS BEING ABLE TO TIE YOUR OWN TIE

CONGRESSMAN Robert Bergland spoke Monday (April 10) to participants in the Upper Mississippi River Resources conference at Bemidji state college. He explained the impact of recently passed federal environmental legislation. Bergland stated that federal laws were required to stop industries from blackmailing states by threatening to leave if pollution control legislation is too restrictive. "Ideas interest me more than men. They live; they fight; they perish like men. Of course it may be said that our only knowledge of them is through men, just as our only knowledge of the wind is through the reeds that it bends; but all the same the wind is of more importance than the reeds." —Andre Gide

It's Bewildering

It is not surprising to find areas of disagreement between the Minnesota Education association and the Minnesota school boards association. These two groups basically represent labor and management and should be expected to disagree.

But we are a little bewildered by a recent MEA press release which seems contradictory in itself. It starts out by saying that "Toughness was the theme of the Minnesota Education association (MEA) 49th annual delegate assembly."

It notes that in speeches, resolutions, appearance before legislative bodies and other actions, ". . .the 455 delegates and their leaders took on the Minnesota school board association, the legislature, federal agencies, the state department of education, cigarette vendors, school administrators and apathetic publics."

The next paragraph states: "They also passed a resolution: The MEA believes that love is a prime ingredient in the educational process."

That sounds to us like contradiction. But how about this.

The release notes that James Rosasco, president of the MEA, struck at the idea of teacher oversupply. "There's no teacher surplus," he was quoted as saying. "There's a lack of commitment on the part of educational leadership. . . ."

MEA executive secretary A. L. Gallop was quoted in the next paragraph as saying, "We have not found solutions to this problem (teacher oversupply) as rapidly as we should; it is without doubt the most serious problem facing the organized teaching profession today."

Rosasco says there is no surplus; Gallop says it is the most serious problem in the profession. What does the news release say? It says: "Rosasco and Gallop agreed, too, on the matter of teacher tenure, which is being attacked on a number of fronts."

This is agreement?

In its resolutions the assembly urged school boards to bargain collectively and in good faith in order to provide sound educational programs to insure quality education for the child; said all parties in the educational process should be held accountable for the quality of education; and authorized the MEA board of directors to consider the feasibility of calling a special session of the MEA delegate assembly for consideration of a statewide strike if the MEA objectives are not attained.

Isn't it interesting how, when no new arguments or facts can be presented by either side in teacher-school board haggling, that someone always brings up the subject of quality education for kids? And isn't it strange that neither side really gives that part of the argument much real consideration as a primary point?

And for that matter, isn't it surprising that no one can adequately define what "quality education" really is?

We're a little bewildered by it all. Are we the only ones?

An Age of Flight

As Sunday's launching of the Apollo space ship reminds us, we are living in an age of flight. Dramatic as the lunar probes may be, the practical application of air travel holds considerable importance in itself. Here is what the Industrial News Review has to say about flight:

One of the remarkable aspects of President Nixon's trip to China and one which has received scant attention is the fact that a head of state traveled over 20,000 miles in a little over 10 days and spent about a week of that time visiting another head of state halfway around the world. Also, little note was made of the fact that Americans, through the medium of color television, literally stood at the side of their chief executive as witnesses to discussions that are destined to shape the course of history perhaps a century from now.

When the final chapters of the present era are written, science and technology, which have made possible a people - to - people confrontation of a sort no one could have imagined a few years ago, could loom large as contributing factors to the beginning of a new age in international relations. Behind the Nixon journey stood the magnificent achievements of the U.S. aerospace industries in the last 15-20 years. The satellites that carried the TV, the 600 - mile - an - hour jet and the electronic devices that permitted the President to journey far and still remain in instant contact with affairs at home were all part of it.

With good reason, news writers compared the Nixon saga to the moon flight. Very likely the technological side of the President's China visit received only scant attention for a reason most remarkable in itself. In the course of a year, millions of ordinary citizens travel for business or pleasure just as the President did. The jet is more than a magic carpet for potentates and Presidents. It has become a medium of mass transportation to every corner of the Earth. Even now, with summer approaching, the airlines of the world are preparing for a busy season. Experts are predicting substantial growth in travel. Overseas business is expected to rise by some 12 to 15 per cent during the rest of 1972. It is likely that the part the President played in "The Spirit of '76" could become a travel experience shared by many thousands of U.S. citizens in years to come.

Oddly, although air travel has reached a pinnacle of comfort and safety and the barrier of cost has been largely removed, statistics indicate that a great many people have yet to venture aloft for the first time. Incredible as it may seem, there are those still touched by the long shadow of the "bamboo crates" of aviation's early days. The last remnants of this shadow will surely be dispelled as people "discover" the new generation of wide-bodied jets that, for sheer luxury, have no equal. Airline brochures describe a world aloft that should tempt the most reluctant ground lover.

One such brochure says the ". . .747 is more than a new way to travel. . . .It is a place to live well in flight. . . . The. . . .Lounge upstairs, one of three in first class, is like an intimate club overlooking the world. . . .You are no longer confined to your seats. You are invited to roam the two main aisles, stop in the ten conversation areas, or sit in one of six lounges. . . ." The brochure tells of fine linens, china and crystal tablesettings with six-course meals. And, of course, for long flight comfort, seats are especially designed for privacy and relaxation. They are even equipped with controls and earphone attachments for stereo music. For those who get tired of music, there are first-run motion pictures shown in each section of the airplane.

In fact, there is no end to the marvels awaiting the air traveler today—not only the marvels of foreign lands, but the marvels of simply getting there. The fruits of aerospace technology developed during pioneering Apollo flights and others have come to touch the lives of all of us. President Nixon's "voyage" to China was a practical application of these marvels. In appraising the diplomatic accomplishments of his odyssey, it is well to remember that he first had to get there—safely and quickly. Only then could the march of history begin.

Public Opinion

Recent participation of the public in the Letters to the Editor column has been appreciated by the Times editor, and we encourage further use of this public forum on other questions of public interest.

We are partial to individual opinions on local questions. We don't use mimeographed letters sent out to a number of papers to promote a cause. If a local persons wants to rewrite those letters around his or her own opinion they will generally be acceptable.

And we must have the signature of letter writers. Anonymous letters are not acceptable. Names of the timid will be withheld on request, but we would hope that most writers would have the courage of their convictions to allow us to publish their names.

We received a letter early this week which can not be published because it was not signed. If the writer would care to identify himself or herself to us, we will be happy to publish it and will withhold the name as requested by the writer "because of all the small town criticism in Thief River Falls".

Press Freedom

Proper perspective of freedom of the press is expressed as follows by Stanford Smith, president and general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers association:

". . .History teaches us many lessons if we will but learn. The genesis of freedom of the press under the First Amendment to the United States Constitution is an example. The important point which is sometimes ignored today is that the original demand for a guarantee of press freedom came not from those who were then engaged in the business of publishing newspapers or other types of publications. The demand came from persons in all walks of life who knew from recent experience the threat to all individual liberties if there is not freedom of the press and no freedom of speech.

"We need to emphasize that point continually. Freedom of the press is embodied in our Constitution for the benefit of all the people and not as an exclusive prerogative of those who are engaged in the business of news dissemination. . . ."

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

Several letters have been written recently concerning the City Council's proposal to de-annex and re-annex city property in order to circumvent the intent of the split-liquor law. Whatever their position concerning the use and sale of alcoholic beverages, many citizens are united in feeling that the city council has resorted to expediency in arbitrarily overriding a decision reached previously by the voters, i.e. no split liquor.

The council apparently sees no ethical inconsistency in their handling of the issue. Quoting their letter of Wednesday, April 5, page one, of the Times: "Processes of annexation and detachment are nothing more or less than legal tools which have no attributes of morality or immorality in themselves." This is the point of tension. We feel it is a moral question, and the question being asked is: Should the city council exercise the right or power to permit split-liquor even after the voters have voted against it? Since their is a question of rightness or wrongness of such action, it is a moral issue.

We understand the predicament of the city council, and the various pressures it is under. The completeness of plans for the proposed motel indicate that they have been under formulation for a considerable length of time. Since it appears that those responsible for the motel plans did not come to the city council with their requests until the council assumed it was too late to re-submit the split-liquor issue to the people of Thief River Falls, we place responsibility for this situation on them as well as the city council.

It is tragic when the "economic facts of life" are able to corrode the ideals and goals a community has chosen for itself, and expediency rather than integrity can determine the course of life for a people. Need that be another "fact of life?" We think not.

The voters have extended a high honor to the men of the city council by asking them to represent the people. This is not always an easy task. But the citizens hope that the men they have elected will always reflect the highest ideals of the community, and will govern with great moral courage and personal integrity. We, therefore, encourage the city council to reconsider the alternatives.

To the Editor:

First of all I wish to thank the Editor of the Times for printing letters and articles such as were contained in a March issue by Pastor Jonathan Law and the more recent letter by Pastor Reuben Wangberg in April 10 issue. Both were timely and written by knowledgeable men who have concern that right prevail and that citizens know of the dangers that threaten our town.

Although I am not living in Thief River at present I voted in the last city election; I also cast my vote on the split liquor question. I am still much interested in what goes on in my home town.

I am sorry to learn that our councilmen are not heeding the vote of the majority but are being swayed by the clamoring group who want more liquor regardless of law. The majority of votes were against split liquor. Why does the city council not heed the voice of the majority? Why do they want to circumvent the law by putting one land out of city limits until a liquor outlet has been established there and then bring it into the city again. Should we not expect more honesty and uprightness in the city council? The future action of the council will show their integrity.

Statistics show that over one-half of the fatal accidents on highways are caused by drinking drivers. The more liquor available, the more drinking drivers, the more highway accidents. Do we really need this?

Elsie M. Koglin

notes from the governor

"Minnestoa Population," a recently released study conducted by the Minnesota health department, makes it clear that intelligent planning is absolutely necessary if our state is to meet the challenge posed by changing population patterns.

The population projections in the study cover the 1970-1985 period.

Major findings include, (1) an increase in the population of the seven-county Twin Cities area of nearly one-third; (2) substantial growth in some outstate areas, but an overall decline in farm and small-town population; (3) a significant increase in the 20-34 age group; (4) a 14.3 per cent decline in the number of elementary pupils in the 5-9 age group, and a 12.4 per cent drop in high school enrollment; (5) a slight increase in the median age of the state's population, from 26.8 years to 29.6 years, and (6) a 14.3 per cent growth in the state's overall population.

It must be emphasized that these projections are not predictions, nor do they represent governmental policy. They are simply an attempt to point out what will happen if certain basic and long-standing trends are not altered or reversed.

The implications of these population projections are profound, however.

They mean that the many serious problems associated with out-migration and the lack of jobs in outstate Minnesota—and the closely related problems associated with rapid growth and overcrowding in the metropolitan area—will be relieved only to the extent that a determined and effective development policy for outstate Mennesota is encouraged and promoted.

The formulation of such a policy, by necessity, will involve a great deal of coordination, a great deal of work by a great many people, both in and out of government.

This administration is committed to that effort, and the stakes are very high.

They involve nothing less than preserving the high quality of life we Minnesotans now enjoy for our children and all the generations to follow.

Honey Peach Muffins

Feeling the urge to return to basics? Satisfy that longing with Honey Peach Muffins.

Bread is basic — as old as civilization. These muffins team with honey and fruit for a wholesome treat. Sweetened with honey and laced with golden nuggets of fruit, they will liven up any breakfast, especially for those problem eaters who often skip that important first meal.

Honey Peach Muffins are a nice way to end the day, too. Split them and fill with billows of whipped topping, and you have a dessert. You can stir practically anything into a muffin — chopped nuts, fruits, spices, herbs, crumbled bacon, what have you. At the same time, you'll serve the basic nutrition needs of your family, too. Enriched flour contributes the B vitamins — thiamine, niacin and riboflavin — and the mineral, iron — all nutrients needed for good health everyday.

12 muffins

- 2 cups enriched flour*
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 can (8 oz.) cling peaches, drained and finely diced
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 tablespoon oil
- Whipped topping, optional

Stir together dry ingredients. Add peaches to flour mixture and toss to mix. Combine milk, honey, egg and oil. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated 425° oven 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Serve warm with whipped topping, if desired.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

NOTE: If self rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

WHAT GOOD is a snow plow blade in the summer? Guardsmen from Company B, 2nd Battalion of the 136th Infantry of the Minnesota National Guard in Thief River Falls, believed theirs should be used in all seasons. When faced with the problem of where to get a large barbecue grill to prepare steaks for a steak fry to which they had invited their citizens committee, they found an answer to both questions. Platoon sergeant Oliver Swanson (above) made a few minor alterations which will not effect the winter operation of the plow and B company was in the steak frying business. Though guardsmen and committeemen participated enthusiastically and apparently enjoyed the results, a few of the steaks tended to indicate that the efforts may have been wasted.

Commissioner Gives Earth Week Views

Minnesota Commissioner of Natural Resources

It has been two years since the first Earth Week focused national attention on environmental concerns. Much has changed since.

Now, as Earth Week Plus Three (April 17-21) is observed, it is readily apparent that a new attitude has pervaded the public consciousness. The effusive pessimism of Earth Week 1970 has been replaced by guarded optimism, a "forget the hysterical rhetoric, let's get to work" attitude.

This new-found optimism has resulted in part, from significant strides forward in pollution control and new, more comprehensive resource management programs on the state level. Of course, many of these new programs were born out of legislation emenating from the 1971 Legislative session, such as:

(1) The Minnesota environmental rights act. This establishes that any Minnesota citizen may take civil action against any person or corporation for the protection of air, water, land or other natural resources.

(2) Water pollution control act. This creates a fund to provide much-needed monies to municipalities for construction of water pollution prevention and abatement facilities for municipal disposal systems.

(3) Pesticide use was tightened through establishment of a registration fee for users, and dealers must now be licensed to sell restricted-use pesticides.

(4) Another bill authorizes our department to review all proposed pipeline projects to determine probable impact on the environment.

(5) As an amendment to the water safety act, the Legislature authorized the department to enact water surface use regulations for public waters which border upon, or are within the territorial boundaries of, a governmental subdivision upon request of the governmental unit.

(6) Marine toilets that allow deposition of sewage in Minnesota lakes and streams are now prohibited. (Marine toilets with treatment systems previously approved by the pollution control agency are acceptable until Dec. 31, 1975).

(7) Well-drillers must be licensed and must comply with specific state regulations.

(8) The establishment of Voyageurs national park was implemented at the state level when the legislature authorized state officials to make the required land transfers to the federal government. The boundaries of 11 state parks and two state forests were expanded and additional developments at several state parks were approved. Additionally, state park sewage facilities are being upgraded. Funding was also provided for recreational planning on 16 Minnesota boating rivers.

The 1971 Legislative session proved especially significant for countless Minnesotans who hunt and fish or just enjoy the presence of wildlife. The surcharge on small game licenses was extended for six years and doubled to $2. This enables our department to acquire more valuable wetlands in the face of rising land costs and other expenses.

An increase from 25 to 50 cents per acre in payments to counties (in lieu of taxes) for land used as public hunting grounds and game refuges was passed.

The Legislature also appropriated another $500,000 for wildlife habitat improvement, particularly for the white-tailed deer. And, for the first time this fall, the department will be able to limit deer hunters and design a season to meet special conditions which exist in the different hunting zones.

An endangered species act was adopted which enables the department to designate any wildlife species as endangered and thus requiring strict safeguards.

These new programs all come in the wake of already established shoreland management and flood plain regulation programs authorized by the 1969 Legislature. At latest count, 57 counties will have implemented shoreland ordinances by the July deadline. About 25 localities have adopted department-approved flood plain regulations.

While we have made some progress here on Earth, we have made even greater progress in space, although it has cost our nation billions of dollars. Compare our space expenditures to our conservation expenditures.

But the space program, in effect, has brought us back down to Earth. The lunar explorations revealed a sterile, uninhabitable environment. This discovery brought us back to a rather grim reality.

We have finally come to realize that finding greener pastures elsewhere in the universe is many, many years away. We are stuck on this spaceship called Earth. If we are to survive on it, its life systems must be maintained.

With each new Earth Week of the future, we must be able to identify more and more accomplishments in natural resource management and protection. Behind such new programs, we will be able to maintain our basic philosophy of managing our natural resources in a manner that will adequately protect the environment while providing for continued economic growth in Minnesota.

And this is what Earth Week is all about!

Recent Drownings Recall Warnings

Early last month the Department of Natural Resources warned that the spring break up is always a hazardous time for unwary users of lakes and streams.

William Severson, outdoor safety specialist, emphasized that young children are particularly vulnerable, due to a natural desire to play near water and take risks.

So far this spring, seven persons have lost their lives by drowning in Minnesota, and the oldest victim was 11 years of age.

Severson pointed out that young children do not read news releases or other warnings published in the newspapers and that it is the responsibility of the parent to stress the danger to their youngsters.

Most of the young victims broke through the thin ice of streams, ponds, rivers and ditches.

"As soon as the ice goes out," said Severson, "we'll start getting reports of children drowning while playing near open water on improvised rafts or on the banks of stock ponds and flooded ditches.

He added that the slow spring break up this year will prolong the thin ice danger period.

Bold Plantings

Sometimes you'd like a plant to give really bold effect in the garden. Among the annuals, castorbean with its tropical-looking foliage is certainly a prime choice.

Eleven-month-old Sun Marie, a Korean orphan, is welcomed to the United States at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport. The child, nicknamed "Sunny," is held by her adoptive mother. At the extreme left is her new father. Sun Marie was the youngest of 10 Korean orphans to arrive on the flight for placement through Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota. The oldest was 12 years of age. The agency, now engaged in a $3,750,000 major fund appeal among Minnesota Lutherans, provides an adoption referral service for two agencies operating in Korea — Korean Social Service and the Holt Adoption Agency. During the first three months of this year, 77 Korean children have been placed for adoption by LSS, and in 1971 the number totaled 272.

MEA Delegate Assembly Acts On Two Counts

Annual delegate assembly of the Minnesota Education association (MEA) voted to immediately investigate every means to halt the impending statewide assessment program, and established a human relations center—without walls—to fill a gap believed left by the state.

While reiterating the MEA position in support of assessment, the delegates expressed disappointment, "after years of waiting for an adequate program", and urged suspension of the federally-backed program scheduled to go into effect soon. (Assessment is testing of students to determine whether they are learning properly.)

Minnesota is to serve as a testing ground of the model on which nationwide testing will be based. The delegates urged thorough study of the legal, professional and political ramifications of the program.

The human relations center will begin July 1 with a staff of four trainers to set up a statewide program. Training of teachers at the local level will begin September 15.

Minnesota's program, according to Thomas R. Dorfman, Minnetonka junior high school English teacher who is chairman of the MEA's human relations commission, will serve as a model for a program sponsored by the National Education association.

"Reason for our program," Dorfman explained, "is because of the failure of the state education department—or other government agencies—to provide the kind of training teachers need if they are to comply with a state regulation that requires 50 to 60 hours of human relations training in order to qualify for recertification."

Plan Newfolden School Addition

Bids on a proposed kitchen addition to the Newfolden elementary school will be opened on Tuesday, May 9, by the Marshall County Central board of education, according to Gene Busch, superintendent. Architect's estimate of the addition and equipment is approximately $80,000.

Supt. Busch said that no bond issue will be needed for the addition which has been discussed for some time. Funds derived from interest on money held during construction of the new high school are on hand to pay for the proposed kitchen addition.

The proposal calls for a 41x43 addition to the east of the present kitchen on the elementary school, located across the road from the new high school. Additional dining room space will be made available when the present kitchen is renovated. New equipment for the addition is included in the estimate and will be included in the bid.

In addition to serving nearly 500 students each day, Supt. Busch said, the new facilities would be made available for community dinners and banquets. He added that if favorable bids are received it is hoped that the addition can be completed in time for use when school starts next fall.

Canadian Scouts Will Join Local Exposition

Approximately 130 scouts and adults from the Seven Oaks district of the Boy Scouts in Winnipeg, Man., Canada, will participate in the annual Penn-Ro-Shall district scout exposition to be held Sunday at the national guard armory in Thief River Falls. Included will be about 80 Cub and Boy scouts, 20 Beavers and 30 adults, according to Art Heinze, general chairman of the event.

The Canadian scouts will arrive in Thief River Falls on Friday night and all host Thief River Falls boys and their parents are asked to meet their Canadian guests at the city auditorium at 9 a.m. Friday. The Canadian boys will spend the weekend with the host families here.

For entertainment on Saturday afternoon, Family Bowl has been reserved by the scouts from 1 to 5 p.m. Adults from the city packs and troops will serve as chaperones for the bowling.

For all the Canadian adult scout leaders and local volunteer scouters from the city and district, a special dinner and program will be held at the American Legion club rooms beginning at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. All interested local scouters are invited to come to the dinner and visit with the Canadian guests.

The Canadians will also be served a dinner on Sunday at St. Bernard's church prior to their departure for Winnipeg, Heinze said. Mrs. Irving Swanson will head a committee from local scout units to be in charge of hosting the northern visitors.

The Beavers will be a new addition to the Canadian delegation which has contributed greatly to previous scout expositions. This new group consists of boys who are five, six and seven years old and have a special scouting program. "Beavering" will be the topic of their booth which will depict this new addition to the Canadian scouting programs.

"Way Up North" will be the title of the Cub scout booth to be arranged by the visitors. "First Aid" will be the theme of the Canadian Boy scout booth. Don Torrance, Seven Oaks district cubmaster, is in charge of the delegation in this, the seventh year that the local exposition has had the added international flavor of Canadian participation.

More than 20 other Cub scout and Boy scout groups from the Penn-Ro-Shall district have registered to participate in the

by Dennis Johnson
Times Reporter

Scientific aspects of contemporary problems, technological principles, chemical properties and biological observations were exhibited by Plummer high school students in a science fair recently. They displayed things that grow, things that could kill, things that made noise and things that almost fly.

Don Fox, science teacher at Plummer high school, organized a science fair as part of the class curriculum for all science students in Plummer high school. Participation in this, the first of what is planned as an annual event, was compulsary.

The displays were scored and will count as part of the course grade for the students.

There were about 70 entries in two divisions. The junior division was for students in the eighth and ninth grades. The seventh grade would have been included but only has science for half of the year under the school's scheduling. The senior division included grades 10, 11 and 12.

Three places and three honorable mentions were awarded in each division.

Judging was according to pre-established standards. Creative ability and scientific thought counted equally for 60 per cent of the total possible points. The thoroughness with which the display covered the subject, skill in preparing the exhibit, clarity of expression and dramatic or artistic effect displayed in the project each counted 10 points, bringing the total to 100 points.

Judges were Dave Hallbeck, a science teacher at Oklee, and Larke Reeber, a high school junior at Bagley. Funds were not available to support the science fair so the judges donated their time without compensation.

First place in the senior division went to Ward Arntson with a display comparing germination of two types of seed. His exhibit included seeds at each stage of development. In addition to the scientific knowledge needed to plan the project, preparation was needed to bring each seed to the right stage of development for the display.

Second place in the senior division was earned by an exhibit on soap manufacturing prepared by Paul Kelly and Mike Norby.

Third place was won by Cecily Erickson with a display on bean germination.

Honorable mentions were awarded to Barry Rewertz for a working model of an elevator, Dale Perreault for a project on strobe lights and Daun Schand for an exhibit about the moon.

First place in the junior

Inspection Of Set-Aside Acres Is Now Underway

Set-aside inspection and measurement service is under way in Marshall county, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county ASCS committee.

Any farm program participant can get inspection and measurement service for his crop and set-aside acres before the certification deadline by putting in a request at the county agricultural stabilization and conservation service office.

This year the ASCS measurement service, which is provided at cost, also includes inspection of set-aside acreage at the time of measurement to determine if it is of acceptable quality to earn full set-aside payments with deductions. Acreage set aside under the feed grain and wheat programs must be of average productivity and similar to the acreage on which the program crops are grown in order for full payments to be earned.

Acreage measurement can be provided for any program purpose. If a farmer requests it, measurement can be made not only of set-aside acreage but also acreage of wheat, corn, barley or other crops. Conserving base acreage also can be measured.

Since program participants certify to these acreages in order to earn payments, Dahl emphasized the importance of being able to certify correctly.

Bank Debits In City Rise From March Of 1971

Bank Debits in Thief River Falls during March 1972 showed an increase of 10 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. Bank debits during March were $20,710,000. In the same month of 1971 the total figure was $18,457,000.

They do not include debits to savings accounts, the accounts of other banks or the United States government.

For Minnesota the March volume of bank debits for reporting cities increased 14 per cent from March of last year. Debits for the twelve months through March 1972 increased 10 per cent from the previous twelve-month period.

The volume of bank debits reported by the Ninth Federal Reserve District for March increased 14 per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the twelve months through March 1972 indicated a 10 per cent increase from the previous twelve-month period.

Governor's Tour Will Stop Short Of This Area

Considering northwestern Minnesota too remote from St. Paul Governor Wendell Anderson will not visit state-supported facilities in the Thief River Falls area on his bus tour which will reach Fergus Falls tomorrow (Tuesday).

The publicly stated purpose of Gov. Anderson's bus tour is to visit lakeland and Northwest mental health center areas to acquaint Gov. Anderson, his staff and other state officials with programs, problems and needs in regard to mental health, mental retardation, alcoholism and drugs in northwestern Minnesota. Gov. Anderson said he has placed special emphasis on these areas and wants fresh, new ideas in preparation of a state budget so money can be used more effectively.

Gov. Anderson and his group will visit Fergus Falls state hospital, sheltered workshop and the lake Park-Wold Rice children's home. Because of distance, they will view slides of the Northwest council on alcohol and drug problems of Crookston, the Marshall county day activity center of Warren, the day-night psychiatric unit of Thief River Falls and the Lakeland mental health center area.

The tour will be conluded with an eveing panel. Panelists representing this area include Roy Waters and Robert Whalen from Northwestern mental health center; Dale Knotek from the Northwest council on alcohol and drug problems; Charles Stephens from the area coordinating committee; Sanna Brovold from the association for retarded children; and Oris Moen from the mental health board.

Tour sponsors include the association for retarded children and the mental health association.

Northland Radio Club Conducts Test Scramble

Northland radio club of Thief River Falls, cooperating with Pennington county Civil Defense, held a scramble recently to test the effectiveness of citizens band, two-way radio communications for monitoring the flow of ice at crucial points on rivers in the Thief River Falls area.

Planning for the scramble was conducted by Jim Hutteen, club president, and Ellsworth Jorgenson, county Civil Defense coordinator. The operation was intended to represent a "typical" emergency.

At 7 p.m. all units were assembled for a briefing, then dispatched to eight points from where they were to relay information to the operation's control station.

After the test, which lasted for about one hour, units returned and were critiqued from a tape recording of transmissions received.

Chad Cater Has Narrow Escape From Drowning

Two and a half year old Chad Cater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cater of Middle River, was rescued from drowning when he went exploring along the river near his parent's home recently and fell in.

Kay Fredrickson heard his shouts and tried to reach Chad. She was unable to do so even though she waded into the river. In fact, she was barely able to reach shore again herself.

Bryan Ornquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ornquist, and Dale Toren, son of Mrs. Helen Toren, were riding by on motorcycles when they became aware of Chad's predicament. They stopped and Bryan reached Chad just as the piece of ice which had been supporting him broke loose.

Chad quickly forgot the narrowness of his escape when he saw the motorcycles and kept asking for a ride. He does remember his adventure, however. Whenever he sees a ditch with water now he comments "That could be deep."

Plummer School Students Join In Science Fair

division went to Joyce Baune for her experiments showing the effects of alcohol. She built a maze and ran tests on a mouse's ability to negotiate it. The tests were conducted a second time after injecting a quantity of alcohol into the mouse and the results were compared.

Tom Wichterman built the second place project in the junior division. He used an air pump to "smoke" cigarettes and filter the smoke through a flask of water. The water trapped the impurities which a smoker would normally breathe into his lungs. The resulting discoloration of the water illustrated why smoking affects a person's lungs.

Suzie Zimple compared the chemical properties of two common soft drinks to win third place in the junior division. Though she tested specific items, the principles involved are important to scientific inquiry.

Honorable mention in the junior division were awarded to Anita Novak for her project about detergents and oil, Maribeth Vigstol for her display about plants and Janice Culkins for an exhibit on antiseptics.

Many of the projects on display dealt with things that are recognized as problems in the world today. Exhibits dealt with alcohol, tobacco and marijuana. Several displays, including some winners, were about plants, animals, nature or ecology.

Technology also inspired numerous projects. There were home made tube testers, radios, a battery, a burglar alarm, an elevator and even a hovercraft.

The hovercraft was apparantly popular with the spectators. When the small airplane engine was started a crowd would gather to watch as the small conveyance glided rapidly across the floor, riding on its own air cushion. Steve Hesse and Roger Gallant built the model as their entry in the senior division.

The projects showed a wide range of effort, ability and interest and many of them were considered to be very good, however, if they served to do nothing more than stimulate thinking, many people would feel that the science fair was a success. Perhaps it was. Fox mentioned that students whose projects received high ratings from the judges were not always ones who had previously shown high scholastic records.

Fox is already planning for next year. Plummer's students were not able to enter their projects in the regional science fair this year because it was held in March. Next year Plummer's fair will be earlier. Consideration is also being given to permitting elementary students to enter projects voluntarily.

Fox stated that he believes Plummer is the only school of its size in this area holding an annual science fair.

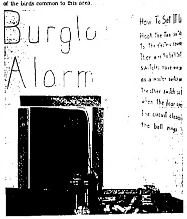
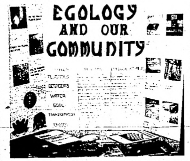
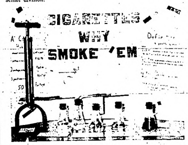
BIRDS were the topic of Karin Kelly's junior division entry in the science fair at Plummer. This is part of her display illustrating some of the birds common to this area.



BLAIR FROSETH's entry in the junior division of Plummer's science fair was a working model of a burglar alarm.



ECOLOGY was the theme for several displays at Plummer's high school science fair. Esther Sheldahl prepared this display for the senior division.



EFFECTS OF SMOKING were demonstrated by Tom Wichterman's second place display in the junior division of Plummer's science fair. He used this apparatus to "smoke" cigarettes and trap the pollutants which would be drawn into a smoker's lungs.

Co-Op Elevator At Newfolden Nets $67,658

Net profit of $67,658 was shown by the Newfolden Cooperative Elevator association of Newfolden at the annual meeting held recently at the village hall in that community. The profit was shown in spite of the fire which destroyed the elevator on January 12.

Also shown in the report was the fact that 1,899,952 bushels of grain had been handled by the cooperative during the year.

The elevator operates two grain buying stations—at Newfolden and Strandquist—and will carry on most of its business from the Strandquist station until the new elevator, now well under construction, is completed.

Ray Tunheim, manager of the elevator, states that the Vigen Construction company hopes to have the new structure ready for operation by harvest time this fall.

Orville Harstad and Harold Hanson were reelected to the board of directors at the annual meeting. Taking part in the program were Irving Johnson and Alfred Malm of the Atwood Larson company.

Unemployment In Minnesota Up From Year Ago

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for March increased to 5.7 per cent from 5.3 per cent for February, commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of manpower services announced today. A year ago the unemployment rate was 5.3 per cent.

The national seasonally adjusted unemployment rate in March was 5.9 per cent, two-tenths of a per cent higher than in February.

The total number of unemployed in Minnesota was 111,900—up 7,000 from February and up 10,400 from a year ago.

Cushing said the total of 1,559,100 persons employed in Minnesota in March was 4,600 more than in February. The average February to March increase for the previous five-year period was 18,700. Employment in March, 1971, was 1,521,700.

Nonfarm wage and salary employment rose to 1,296,100 in March, a gain of 4,700 over February. The increase was concentrated in nonmanufacturing industries, with a slight downturn recorded in manufacturing.

Construction employment turned upward for the first time since last September. Substantial gains are expected in this sector in the coming months, Cushing said.

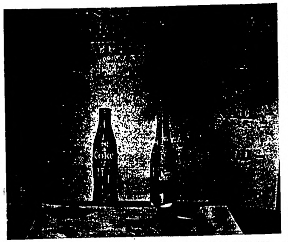
Seasonal increases of 2,300 workers in trade and 1,000 in construction were responsible for most of the increase in nonmanufacturing employment. The upswing in Trade was mainly due to increased employment in eating and drinking establishments as many drive-ins opened for the 1972 season.

Cushing said the decrease in manufacturing employment from February was slight. Durable goods manufacturing was up 900 workers. Employment in nondurable Goods was down 1,500, with most of the decline centered in the canning and sugar refining industries.

Compared with March, 1971, nonfarm wage and salary employment was up 37,200, or three per cent. The substantial upswing of 11,300 in trade was largely the result of increased employment in eating and drinking places. The rise of 10,500 workers in government occurred chiefly in local governmental units, especially in the administrative sector. Gains of 3,600 were recorded in the services category and 3,800 in construction.

Practically all of the 6,600 increase in manufacturing workers over March, 1971, occurred in the production of durable goods. Employment rose 2,500 in the other durable goods classification, a major group which includes industries producing ordnance, scientific instruments and miscellaneous durable goods.

Production workers in manufacturing industries earned an average of $159.99 per week in March, compared with $158 in February and $148.48 in March, 1971. Average hourly earnings rose to $3.97 in March, a two cent increase from February. The average workweek also increased in March to 40.3 hours, 18 minutes more than the February workweek.



CHEMICAL PROPERTIES of two soft drinks were compared in Suzie Zimple's science fair exhibit. Her efforts place third in the junior division.

We missed last Tuesday's meeting of the Thief River Falls city council and so were unable to report until today the actions that transpired there. Our reporter, whose assignment it is to cover council sessions, went to the council chambers at 7:30 p.m. and found no meeting in progress.

On Wednesday morning our reporter received a copy of the proposed agenda for the Tuesday meeting in the mail. The envelope was postmarked on Monday, so the city clerk had every reason to expect our office would receive it on Tuesday. But we didn't. And the agenda noted that the meeting would be held at 5:30 p.m. at Lon's cafe.

Now, Lon's is a good place to eat, and we hope the councilmen and city officials eat there often as individuals, but it does seem a slightly improper place to hold a public meeting, which council sessions are required to be. It is difficult to have a public meeting, however, if the public doesn't know when and where it is to be held.

Incidentally, that's what the Minnesota attorney general thinks, too. Warren Spannaus ruled that the Faribault city council was required by the open meeting provisions of state law and the city charter to give advance notice to the public of the time and place of a special meeting held by the council.

The meeting was called by the mayor and held following a few hours notice to the councilmen but without notice to the general public. Action was taken on several routine matters which had never been raised at a prior public meeting of the council.

Spannaus noted that neither state law nor the city charter expressly required advance notice to the public of council meetings. However, both require that all such meetings be open to the public.

He said the purpose of the open meeting law is to prohibit actions being taken at a secret meeting and to afford the public an opportunity to express its views. It is therefore necessary to imply a notice requirement for a special meeting, where matters are acted upon which have not been raised at a prior meeting of the council, he said.

Spannaus added that this requirement would not apply to an emergency meeting or a regularly scheduled council meeting.

Tuesday's meeting of the Thief River Falls council was an adjourned regular meeting. Some items were on the agenda for the first time.

We do not imply that any improper action was taken at the meeting. We acknowledge that we would have had the meeting notice in time if the pony express had been running on schedule. But we would have been unable—because of our Monday and Wednesday publication dates—to inform the public of the change in meeting time and place.

And we do think the public should have such information. . . .even if we don't agree with the attorney general on some things.

Aiming the Blaming

Everyone seems to have an idea about what causes rising food prices and no body is willing to take even a portion of the responsibility. There is a certain amount of truth to the saying the kids use: When you point your finger at someone else you have three fingers pointing at yourself.

One University of Minnesota economist went so far as to bring the question around full cycle, saying that consumers were to blame for the higher prices they pay. He contended that consumers brought the rising costs on themselves by demanding convenience and pre-processed foods which require more labor between the producer and retailer.

The Murray County Herald at Slayton recently commented on the nation's fiscal situation, including food prices, and part of that editorial is as follows:

In a release dated April 3, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association pointed out that taxpayer executives from 21 states approved a policy statement calling for an end to fiscal chaos in the national government. It was pointed out that the federal government has experienced an almost unbroken string of federal budget deficits for the past 20 years. The MTA executives who attended the meeting continue to tell us that "Much of this difficulty results from the inability of the federal government to adequately fund good programs because it insists upon continuing old ineffective programs or adding new low-priority programs."

This seems to be the history of our time, on every level of government. We are, on every level, providing the taxpayer with costly services which he neither wants nor can afford. Political subdivisions eliminate minor inconveniences—inconveniences with which the taxpayer could easily live—at great cost for little return.

We spent far more money than is needed on both roads and educational institutions. We support a bureaucracy of monumental proportion. We needlessly replace existing facilities in the supposition that greater capacity will be needed in the years to come. We would be far better off to wait and see.

Most recently, of course, is the effort of the federal government to reduce the prices of food products. This is an admirable thing, but the establishment is hitting the wrong people. Livestock prices are declining and expected to decline even more. The livestock producers actually have little effect on the market price of meat products, nor do the retailers. If the president and his price board really want to be effective, they will point to the real cause of the increase in food prices at the retail level—organized labor and excessive distribution costs.

The president himself has blamed the inflationary trend in food prices on the middleman. Unfortunately, his remarks have not been properly understood by the public and as a result the producer and the retailer suffer—but not the middleman.

Although Nixon should be absolved of blame in this particular situation, he will not be. It appears that everyone who is suffering from the administration's recent attack on spiraling food prices is undeserving of the penalties he is paying—but the middleman is in business as usual.

Short Memories

Democrats attempting to make political hay out of the ITT contribution pledge to help underwirte costs of the Republican national convention should be doomed to crop failure. They are gifted with short memories which most conveniently overlook involvement with the ITT corporation by their own party.

Here's the situation: After the 1968 election, the Democrats had a phone bill of $1.5 million. They have not paid this bill nor any interest on it. At the ordinary bank rate of 5 per cent a year, yearly interest would total $75,000—or an outright gift to the Democratic Party of $300,000 in unpaid interest charges over the four years of debt.

Sen. Bob Dole (R., Kan.), chairman of the Republican National Committee, says of the Democrat-AT&T deal: "This indefinite extension of credit granted by AT&T to the Democrat National Committee, without any apparent agreement that the outstanding debt is to be paid, could constitute a loan. A loan in this case could be legally defined as a contribution—(18 U.S. Code 591) defines the word 'contribution' as 'a loan, advance, or deposit of money, or anything of value.' "

Also, Section 202a of the Communications Act of 1934 prohibits any discrimination in billing. Dole asks: "How many Washington area citizens could expect continued phone service if they had not paid a bill which was four years old—a bill of any size, let alone one of $1.5 million?"

Food For Communes

Under an order issued by Judge John Lewis Smith Jr. of the U.S. district court for the District of Columbia, welfare agencies have been instructed by the U.S. department of agriculture to make food stamps available to households where members are not related.

The department notified state agencies that ". . . .no household which is applying for participation, which is now certified for participation, or which is being recertified for participation shall be determined to be ineligible solely for the reason that one or more of the members of the households are not related to other members of the household."

Judge Smith's order was as a result of a civil suit filed against USDA by the center of social welfare policy and law, New York City, on behalf of five low-income households. The suit challenges the constitutionality of the statutory prohibition against participation of communal households in the food stamp program.

Talk about feeding the fires of rebellion in this country! This order even required the feeding of the rebels themselves by the very government which is the object of rebellion.

We suppose there are households where, due to economic necessity, there are residents who are not related. And there may be circumstances in some of those cases where economic assistance is required. But it just doesn't seem right that USDA and welfare agencies must subsidize those who will not pull their own weight in our society and who contribute to its moral decay.

Borrowed Nonsense

The bus was crowded and a ragged little boy took a seat beside a haughty matron. The boy was sniffing with gusto when, finally, the exasperated woman turned to him and asked: "Don't you have a handkerchief, young man?" "Yeah," the boy replied, [illegible] I ain't gonna let no stranger use it."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Would you like to know what it's like to be an American citizen living in a foreign country? Let me tell you briefly about our experiences the past two years living on Okinawa.

Since 1945 and the end of World War II, millions of U.S. dollars have been poured into Okinawa, often jokingly refered to as the "armpit of Japan" because of the lack of any real industrial possibilities or ambition on the part of the majority of the people. The major industry on the island is the American G. I. The only efficient transportation routes have been built by the U.S. government (prior to this, dirt roads honeycombed the island). Our tax dollars have helped Okinawa progress from a primitive rock island to a somewhat civilized, "keystone of the Pacific".

When we first arrived here in February, 1970 realatives with the local nationals were not completely void of tension, but with impending talks of reversion to Japanese rule, no one seemed overly concerned.

The first strike (or work stoppage, as the government refers to it, because it is illegal to strike against the U.S. government) was a two-day affair with little or no outward hostility, requesting that the "Yankee Go Home" and "U.S. Get Off Okinawa". Since reversion was assured, it was viewed by most as a token display of Okinawan desire to speed negotiations.

Now comes the confusing part. As a logical outcome of military pullout and cutback, local nationals employed on base would have to be laid off—right? WRONG! We now faced more frequent strikes opposing the lay-offs. Zengunro (the all Okinawan military employees union) began to organize.

The hostilities grew until December, 1970, when the new American school located on Kadena Air Base was fire bombed, destroying thoursnads of dollars worth of supplies and equipment. The act necessitated illegal entry onto a military installation, however, not a shot was fired; the radicals did their thing and left, proceeding through the downtown area of Koza, overturning and burning 80 American-owned vehicles. Over 100 were arrested, but were quietly realeased over the next few days—again, Uncle Sam stepped down.

Needless to say, the local nationals now realized that they could do almost anything and get away with it. Let me assure you they have done just that! The present "work stoppage" is going into its 28th day. Although Zengunro members make up only slightly over 50 per cent of the on-base workers, the strikers will let no Okinawans on base. This means that garbage is not being picked up, the commissary is often out of necessities (milk and bread) and Okinawans who want to go to work do not have freedom of choice—government will not step in to protect their rights.

Servicemen married to local nationals have been repeatedly warned by the military command to refrain from transporting their wives to and from base and to make sure they have adequate identification to show the strikers because the strikers stop each car to search for workers trying to sneak on base. Since the U.S. is still in command here, until May 15, it seems a little authority could be exercised to prevent this treatment of U.S. dependents.

This past weekend, my husband and I were proceeding out one of the gates and were stopped by a nude woman effigy hanging from the post of the strikers temporary shelter—the military command has apparently not noticed.

Perhaps most frustrating are the recurrent rumors that the strikers will receive all of their demands. At present the most adamant request is for salaries to be converted to yen at the old ratio of 360 to 1. This would mean a 17 per cent raise for all workers (our government won't let it's own citizens receive raises like this, yet they are contemplating giving our former enemy and aggressive attacker in World War II this benefit). Can you understand?

It is so frustrating to see our proud theory of democracy made a mockery of—and that's exactly what's happening!! The Okinawan local nationals are a small minority who have realized that the U.S. will bend to anything to prevent an international scandal. Thousands of American citizens are being subjected to everything from inconvenience to outright deprivation of civil rights—a basic protection our government promises us. Perhaps there are issues I do not understand, but right now. . .I am ashamed to be an American.

Sincerly yours,
Mrs. Cindy Jindra
DOD teacher,
Kadena Middle School
USAF dependent

P.S. You may be interested to know that the strike officially ended April 11, 1972 with the strikers receiving the 360 to 1 conversion of their wages!

To The Editor:

Why all the fuss about this new motel being built?

I oppose the use of liquor and its abuses as much as anyone. In fact, I voted against the split liquor question. However, I do not see that having the county issue a liquor license to a new motel will have any effect on the liquor consumption or its abuse.

Perhaps the fact that liquor is available at the motel will in itself be better than having those who have been drinking elsewhere drive back to the motel.

Split liquor would no doubt have provided licenses for several establishments which may or may not have been well managed and in good taste. Also the council gave no indication as to how these license were to be issued or what type of governing body would be responsible for these licenses.

The council's action in encouraging a new motel certainly doesn't open the can of worms that Split liquor would have.

Mr. Kinsman is a respected businessman of this community and I feel we can rely on his good judgement in providing a good convention type facility for our city.

If some outsider comes in and petitions the county for a license we could end up with a much worse situation.

It is my understanding that the annexing reannexing situation is not to provide liquor but to eliminate the costs of having to extend water and sewer outside the city limits. The council apparently has made commitments which they must honor in providing sewer and water. The legal exchanges are just a means to this end, not to circumvent an open split liquor question.

Kelley Farm is Birthplace Of Organized Agriculture

In 1849 Oliver H. Kelley came from Boston to clear and cultivate a piece of land on the Mississippi River near the present town of Elk River. For 15 years he worked as a farmer on the frontier, becoming intimately familiar with the struggles of early farm families.

In 1864 Kelley was appointed to the U. S. Department of Agriculture and spent two years travelling through Minnesota and other farm states, observing and studying farm conditions. Out of his experiences came an urgent desire to organize farmers for their mutual improvement.

In 1867 he, along with six other men, formed a group called the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, which was to help educate farmers and their families and enrich their social life.

The group also aspired to help farmers obtain information on marketing, crops, livestock and new implements, as well as to protect them against fraud in new markets.

In 1868 Kelley started the painstaking work of organizing farmers into chapters. Working from his Elk River home, he aimed his organization at cutting railroad freight rates and lobbying for helpful legislation. Soon, there were grange chapters in nearly every state and Kelley moved his headquarters to Washington.

Oliver Kelley's home, the first headquarters for the National Grange, still stands as an important historic site on Highway 10 south of Elk River. It is open to visitors as a farm museum and as a memorial to pioneer farmers of the midwest.

Antique lovers delight in the furnishing, dating back to the 1800's, which include such things as old children's toys, a red plush loveseat, a nickel-plated base burner, kerosene lamps, etc. Grangers from around the country have contributed antique furniture, books, photos, china and other items to make the exhibit complete. On the premises are picnic and restroom facilities for public use, a caretaker's home and several out-buildings.

The Kelley farm home is administered by the Minnesota Historical Society and is open from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Do Ahead Salad

An "instant" salad for "instant" success on a warm day—that's the happy prospect when you toss "Iceberg with Cream Dressing." The crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated on a platter covered with plastic wrap. The dressing is made with sour cream, mayonnaise, grated Cheddar cheese and simple seasonings. Top wedges with dressing and you have a salad of truly refreshing proportions. When buying iceberg lettuce in markets, pick out heads that are firm, but not hard, and "give" slightly to finger pressure.

Iceberg with Cream Dressing

1 head western iceberg lettuce
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon savory
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce. Chill in plastic bag or lettuce crisper. Cut lettuce into four or six wedges. Mix all remaining ingredients. Top wedges with dressing and serve.

Makes 4-6 servings.

Northland Thinclads Finish Third In MJCAA Northern Division Meet

Northland state junior college failed in its bid for a second straight indoor track win Thursday as the Northmen finished third in a tight three-way battle for the Northern Divison track and field title in the Crookston winter shows building.

Host school Crookston Tech captured the first annual event with 77 points to edge Mesabi with 73 and Northland with 70. Rainy River rounded out the scoring with six points.

"We scored about as many points as we could, and had some good individual performances," said head coach Chet Engelman. "Had Fergus Falls showed up, we conceivably could have won, but they didn't so that's that."

Northland thinclads captured four first-place finishes in the event, including two winning performances by sophomore hurdler Tim Olson (TRF). Olson won the 70-yard highs with a 10.0 clocking and the 70-yard lows with an 8.6 run.

Other firsts by the Northmen were turned in by freshman Mike Rasch (Hoffman) with a toss of 44-1½ in the shot put cometition and by freshman Kim Murphy (TRF) with a school-record 10:41.3 clocking in the two-mile run.

Freshman pole vaulter Les Swanson (Warren) also set a new Northland standard in the meet with a vault of 10-6 to finish second behind Gary Peterson of Mesabi.

Oklee Man Has Role In Viking Snowmobile Film

"Holiday U.S.A." a film series, is being produced by Holiday Productions. One of the films, "Winter Safari", was done in February at Itasca State park, which includes the headwaters of the Mississippi, and in the Tamarac Forest area for Viking snowmobiles, Inc. It will be shown on television 200 times over a two year period. It is a story of a family of five and their snowmobiling adventures.

Dick Riel, son of Mrs. Viola Riel of Oklee, is cast as father of the family. His wife is played by Mrs. Betty Seydel and the three children are played by Pam Olson, Lisa Seydel and Kevin Magnuson, all of East Grand Forks.

The film features several other people, mainly the Red River snowmobile club of East Grand Forks. Riel is the club president. The film was done to promote safety and snowmobiling.

Fire Danger To Tree Plantations

With the state wide Arbor Day observance set for Friday, April 28, the Department of Natural Resources noted that the traditional tree planting ceremonies will have little practical effect unless the young seedlings are protected until they can serve a useful conservation purpose.

One of the greatest dangers to young trees, according to the Department's lands and forestry division, is the spread of grass fires into fields containing young plantations.

"Such areas are particularly vulnerable to fires," said director William Aultfather, "because old fields are favorite planting sites and support a heavy growth of grass and weeds."

In the spring, this grass is tinder dry; fires spread rapidly and the young trees are consumed along with the grass.

Aultfather said that frequently older age trees will survive a ground fire but that young plantations stand little chance.

Several grass fires have already occurred in southern and western Minnesota this spring requiring the services of forestry crews.

Aultfather said the hazard will persist until the new green grass takes over the fields from last year's old dry growth.

Wildlife Federation Asks Lead Shot Ban

National wildlife federation has requested that the secretary of the interior ban the use of lead shot in hunting waterfowl and its use on some federal lands by the 1973-74 hunting season. An estimated two-to-three-million waterfowl die of lead shot poisoning each year in the U.S.

In an April 17 petition to Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, federation executive vice president Thomas Kimball asked that a ban on the use of the controversial lead shot be issued immediately, to become fully effective by the 1973-74 waterfowl hunting season. Morton was urged to issue regulations prohibiting "The use of lead shot in hunting waterfowl and its use on federal lands under interior department jurisdiction where waterfowl are likely to ingest it". "Unless you act promply," Kimball said, "lead shot poisoning will continue to take a needless toll of millions of waterfowl each year."

The federation is urging that the use of lead shot be replaced by non-toxic iron shot. According to the petition, "Soft iron shot is non-toxic. It can be mass-produced reliably and economically and could be substituted for lead shot in waterfowl hunting without any adverse environmental effect."

For more than a century, lead shot poisoning of waterfowl (ducks, geese, and swans) has been documented. It is estimated that 6,000 tons of lead shot are discharged each year over waterfowl habitat, over 30 billion pellets. Lead shot pellets do not deteriorate after they are discharged and are oftentimes picked up and ingested by feeding birds. As the lead erodes from the pellets, malfunction of the birds' gizzards may lead to starvation or highly acute lead poisoning may occur.

Although losses due to lead shot are likely to be apparent only when a massive kill results, it has been estimated the nearly 25 per cent of the mallard ducks estimated the nearly 25 per cent in the Mississippi flyway ingest lead shot and that nearly five per cent is afflicated with lead poisoning. Lead shot poisoning has also been found by the Mississippi flyway council to be "an important mortality factor to the waterfowl of the Atlantic flyway" and has been reported a significant problem in the Pacific and Central flyways. In recent weeks, lead shot poisoning took an estimated 4,500 geese on the eastern shore of Maryland after shot-saturated lake bottons were exposed near their wintering grounds.

The NWF petition also indicated that some endangered species of ducks and geese may be affected and that lead shot poisoning also affects humans, although "surprisingly little attention has been given to the effects on human health".

Unlike lead, spent soft iron pellets would oxidize and disintegrate after being discharged and there is no known study indicating that the ingestion of iron is harmful to waterfowl. "Moreover," the petition says, "the petition says, "soft iron shot is as effective as lead shot in killing birds." Tests have indicated that the iron pellet is adequate for hunting purposes and, "at least one company, . . . has affirmed to us that it has the capability of mass-producing soft iron shot to the sporting arms and ammunition, manufacturers' specification both reliably and economically".

The NWF petition recognized that while the hazards of lead shot poisoning will not diminish before the 1973-74 waterfowl hunting season, "a one-season delay in the regulations' overall effective date may be reasonably necessary" to provide for hunter education programs, identification of applicable federal lands, and assurance that sufficient quantities of soft iron shot will be available. The petition added, however, that any further delay would be both "unwarranted and unlawful".

Prowlers Open Baseball Season Against Fertile

Weather permitting, Lincoln high school will open its belated 1972 baseball season tomorrow (Tuesday) with a single afternoon game at Fertile, beginning at 5 o'clock.

The Prowlers were scheduled to open the campaign last Saturday at Red Lake Falls, but flooding conditions from the Red Lake River had affected the baseball diamond in Red Lake Falls, forcing postponment of the game until May 18.

Another change in the Prowler schedule will take place tomorrow when the club travels to Fertile. The game was originally scheduled as the Prowler home opener, but due to the conditions of the local diamond the game will be played away from home.

Prowler head coach Ralph Skay indicated senior right hander Mike Hamilton would start on the mound against the Falcons, but would pitch just the first two innings. "Our pitchers just haven't had enough work to go the full route right now," he said, "In fact, we plan to use about 17 ball players in the first few games to see who can hit for us and to see who can play under pressure."

Following Hamilton in the pitching rotation will probably be juniors Pete Sullivan and Bruce Engel, who will pitch two innings each, with sophomore Randy Dallmann hurling the last frame of the seven inning affair.

"Things have been going pretty well for us," reported Skay, "but we sure would like to get outside," The Prowler workouts have been confined to the city arena due to the muddy conditions of the diamond.

The weatherman again will be the deciding factor Thursday afternoon when the Prowlers are scheduled to meet Goodridge on the Thief River Falls diamond, beginning at 5 p.m.

MCC Thinclads Run In Pirate Indoor Tomorrow

Newfolden high school will open its 1972 track season tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Nordics compete in the Pirate Indoor meet in the Crookston winter shows building.

The Nordics list nine returning lettermen on the 1972 track roster, including seniors Brad Blavat, pole vault; Steve Haugen, 880; Ken Hodney, discus; Ron Kvamme, discus; and Ron Voth, long jump and sprints. Junior letter winners returning are Dave Hogberg, 880; Mike Siedel, mile; Barry Underdahl, long jump; and Davin Halverson, sprints and 180-yard low hurdles.

Other candidates for the squad include senior Dave Saurdiff, weights; juniors Eldon Augustine, 440; and Corey Skjerven, 880. Sophomore hopefuls include Gene Holthuson, Pat Siedel, Dave Strandquist and Tim Waterworth, along with freshmen Darrel Byklum, Bruce Morrissey and Steve Sparby.

NSJC Netmen Win Opener

Northland state junior college opened its 1972 tennis schedule on a winning note Friday afternoon with a 2-1 win over Fergus Falls.

In singles competition, sophomore Jay Forney (TRF) won in number one singles action 6-2 and 6-4, while freshman John Buringrud (TRF) lost in the second singles 6-4 and 7-5.

The doubles match was forfeited to the Northmen.

The Northland tennis squad will be back in action tomorrow when the Northmen take part in the Brainerd Invitational.

The Northland golf squad will make its 1972 debut at Brainerd at the same time when the Northmen duffers take part in a six-team Brainerd golf invitational tomorrow afternoon.

Northland golfers include sophomore letterman Bob Lundbohm (Roseau), sophomore Steve Johnson (TRF) and freshmen Roger Erickson (Roseau) and Dave Steen (Duluth East).

The Northland tennis team will present the same line-up that opened the season at Fergus Falls, with freshmen Mark Hughes (EGF) and Dale Hanson (TRF) playing the doubles matches.

Al Adams coaches the Northland golf squad while Orrin Bendickson handles the net duties.

DNR Set For Fish Spawn Operations

Fisheries workers of the Department of Natural Resources are hoping to obtain about 400 million walleye eggs this spring during the spawning run for hatching and stocking state waters.

Spawn taking operations will be carried out at 19 locations around the state and the eggs will be hatched out at 14 different hatcheries.

Crookston Pirates Edge LHS Netmen 3-2

Lincoln high school tennis squad heads into a busy week of action with a 1-2 dual meet record since the start of the 1972 season on April 18.

The Prowlers beat Ada 5-0 to open the campaign Tuesday, but lost a 7-1 decision to Mahnomen when the Prowler "B" squad played against the Indians' top seven performers Wednesday. The Prowler regulars returned Friday and played region eight faborite Crookston on even terms before losing 3-2.

In Friday's matches against the Pirates, senior Mark Liden beat Crookston's Brent Richardt 6-3 and 6-4 in the number one singles while senior Scott Lund lost to the Pirates' Mike Wilkins 6-1 and 7-5 in the second singles. In the third singles competition, junior Dave Forney lost to the Pirates' Kurt Eickhoff 9-7 and 6-2.

In the first doubles matches, the Prowler tandem of juniors Scott Stewart and Jeff Wendt lost to Crookston veterans Mark LaPlante and Pat Shanahan 6-3, 7-5 and 6-3. The second doubles matches found Prowler sophomores Tim Engelstad and Kent Hanson beating Crookston's Chuck Dillingbergh and Dave Dahlberg 6-1 and 6-0.

Prowler coach Whitey Olson elected to go with his younger players in Wednesday's match against Mahnomen as the Prowlers lost 7-1, without the benefit of their top seven performers.

There were six singles matches, with the Prowlers suffering defeats in all six tries. Ross Gutterud lost to Doug Flicek 6-4 and 6-2; Scott Engelstad lost to Ken Lindblom 6-3, 6-4 and 6-3; Mike Hemmesch lost to Bob Blaseser 6-1 and 6-1; in a nine-game pro set Steve Mehus lost to Mike Thompson 9-6; in a seven-game pro set Tim Mehus lost to Doug Callison 7-5; and in another seven-game pro set Jim Enge lost to Tom Rowlette 9-5.

In doubles competition, the Prowlers' Mike Muzzy and Mike Engen lost to Mahnomen's Tim Roy and Rich Gish 6-1 and 6-1, while the Prowlers' Dale Miller and Randy Trontvet claimed the only Lincoln win over the Indians as they beat Bob Brandin and Gary Kjos 7-5 and 6-2.

The Prowler netmen face four matches this week, beginning this afternoon (Monday) when the squad travels to East Grand Forks for a 3 o'clock match. On Tuesday the Prowlers will host Detroit Lakes on the Thief River Falls courts, starting at 3 p.m. The Prowlers will travel to Bemidji Wednesday before finishing the week at Fertile Friday afternoon. The Bemidji and Fertile matches begin at 3 o'clock.

LHS Track Squad Has Busy Week

The Prowler thinclads will run in the re-scheduled Sioux Outdoor meet at the University of North Dakota Wednesday, beginning at 3 p.m. The 26th annual meet was postponed from its scheduled time Saturday because of the conditions of the track in Memorial stadium.

MCC Opens Baseball Campaign at Stephen

Marshall County Central high school, Newfolden, will open its 1972 baseball season this afternoon (Monday) with a 4 o'clock contest at Stephen.

New head coach Dave Kragness will have his work cut out for himself if he has any hopes of matching last year's 14-3 season record—the best won-lost mark in the history of the school.

Kragness feels 1972 has to be labeled a rebuilding year, with the graduation of five seniors who were regulars for at least two years following last year's first ever district 32 championship performance.

Although four starters return, Kragness feels the only really solid position on the club will be behind the plate where senior Bruce Bjorgaard and junior Donovan Nelson both return after sharing the catching duties last spring. The catching ranks were further bolstered with the addition of senior Dave Saurdiff, a transfer student from Goodridge.

Other lettermen on the Nordic roster include senior first baseman Rick Sethre, junior outfielder-first baseman Dave Halverson and senior outfielders Bruce Ueland and Ron Voth, a pair of part-time starters last season. Also transfer students are Tim Bernstein, a senior outfielder from Middle River, junior infielder Steve Saurdiff and sophomore pitcher Gary Kujanson from Goodridge.

Kujanson, Nelson and Sethre are expected to handle most of the Nordic pitching chores following the graduation of ace right-hander Marlin Bjornrud.

Other candidates on the Nordic squad include juniors Delray Ruud, Dave Sparby, Elden Neuschwander, Elden Augustine and Terry Olson, along with sophomore Danny Magner, freshman Steve Nelson and eighth graders Phil and Joel Waterworth.

The Nordics will play their home opener Thursday when they host Middle River, beginning a 4 o'clock. Newfolden will play host to Thief River Falls Saturday, starting at 2 p.m.

NEW BEAR BREED

There's a new breed of bear rivaling the traditional Teddy for childrens' hearts: guitar-strumming, bluegrass-singing grizzlies, starring in the "Country Bear Jamboree" at Walt Disney World in central Florida. The 20 bears in the Pepsi-Cola/Frito-Lay sponsored Jamboree do such paw-stomping favorites as "Blood On The Saddle" and "Mama Don't Whip Little Buford". They owe their down-home growls to "Audio-Animatronics," the Disney patented combination of lifelike sounds and actions in three-dimensional animated figures.

There were a total of 59 minor league baseball leagues in operation during the 1949 season, compared to 19 during the 1967 baseball season.

Local FFA Members Earn State Farmer Degrees

Three members of the Thief River Falls Future Farmers of America chapter—James Gunstad, Greg Hallstrom and Darrell Hursman—have been selected to receive the state farmer degree from the Minnesota FFA association. Only two per cent of the statewide FFA membership is permitted to receive this degree annually.

The three seniors had been recommended to the delegate assembly by an examining committee and will receive the coveted state degree during the 43rd annual Minnesota FFA convention to be held in St. Paul Monday and Tuesday.

James Gunstad

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunstad of rural St. Hilaire. He has served the local chapter as sentinel and vice president and was chairman of the agricultural occupations experience committee this year.

His farming program consists of a father-son partnership in the entire dairy herd including 14 milk cows, 10 replacement heifers and other young stock.

Jim attended the national FFA convention at Kansas City, Mo., his junior year. He has been a member of the chapter livestock judging team that competed in the state contest the past three years. This year Jim won first place in the Region I public speaking contest and will compete in the state event at St. Paul May 1. He is a member of the farm management team that will compete in state competition as the runnerup team from Region I.

Last week Jim was elected to the post of Region I FFA president for 1972-73. His plans after graduation include continued education in agriculture. He has enrolled in the post-high agri-business and farm management class at the Thief

United Fund To Assist Programs

At a recent board meeting, directors of the Thief River Falls United Fund gave assurance of support to the Falls day activity center and voted contributions of $1,250 each to the University of Minnesota and Mayo clinic for cancer research.

Evan Armstrong appeared to request funds for purchase of equipment for the day activity center. The board reaffirmed United Fund support but suggested that some community organizations might prefer to provide support of the center individually through donation of equipment or funds for purchase of equipment.

Items needed are an audio-visual table, screen, "Language Master" unit, fold-up mats, blackboard, bulletin board, trapezoid tables, television set, stereo, chairs, tables, exercise bike, card table, kitchen utensils, vacuum cleaner, coat rack, shades, portable washer and dryer, enclosed shelves and approximately $75 in miscellaneous materials.

Armstrong, director of the activity center, emphasized to the United Fund board that the equipment should be new or like new and will be used in the newly-remodeled activity center building. Representatives of organizations interested in contributing items needed may contact him at 681-5951. The

According to L. M. Graham, investigator for Minnesota's bureau of criminal apprehension, the burglary took place between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m. Monday.

From indications at the scene it is believed that entry was made through the rear door of the establishment. Fire proof file cabinets were forced open to gain access to the money.

Kermit Knutson, Red Lake county sheriff, is conducting the investigation with assistance from the state crime bureau.

Gaer's Trailer Is Recovered

Ronald Wisniewski of rural Thief River Falls contacted the Pennington county sheriff's office to report finding an abandoned snowmobile trailer southeast of Thief River Falls Sunday. The trailer was identified as one that had been stolen from Eugene Gaer of Thief River Falls last fall. There were two snowmobiles on the trailer when it was taken. Those are still missing.

Council Brings Charges Against Chief Of Police

In unanimous action taken last night (Tuesday), Thief River Falls city council instructed the city attorney to prepare charges of misconduct against Police Chief Roland E. Waller to be brought before the police commission. This is the administrative procedure set up for airing a complaint against the police and does not necessarily indicate that many or all of the council members believe that Waller is guilty of misconduct.

Initial complaint was brought by Earl J. Melvie of Thief River Falls. He was apprehended recently and believed that the attitude and conduct of the arresting officer were not proper. Melvie chose to present his views to the chief of police in person and arranged to meet with him in the chief's office.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvie reportedly talked with Chief Waller for nearly two hours. According to Melvie, during the course of the discussion Chief Waller confused him with another individual who has been the subject of recent police attention and made false accusations against him.

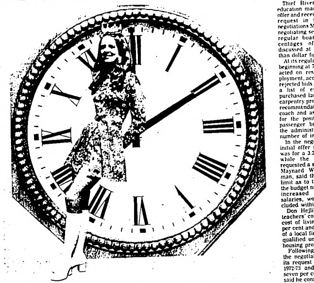
Melvie believed that Chief Waller's conduct was not correct and decided to take his complaint farther. The next step in lodging this type of complaint is to present the matter to the city council. Melvie did that last night.

It is not the council's position to judge the merits of the accusation but to determine if the complaint has sufficient foundation to warrant consideration by the police commission.

Apparently, the vote indicates that the council believes the matter should be heard fully. City attorney Robert Wurst was instructed to prepare misconduct charges against Chief Waller.

The next step is for the council to present the charges to the police commission which would hear the facts and pass judgment.

School Board Receives And Makes First Offer



DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME will officially begin at 2 a.m. Sunday and will continue until the last Sunday in October. Persons having difficulty remembering whether to set clocks ahead or back when the time change takes effect may be helped by the reminder to "spring ahead and fall back" which has been suggested as a memory peg. Aiding is issuing the local reminder this year is Roxanne Langlie, Miss Thief River Falls.

The 1970 census counted 13,266 residents in the county; 2.2 per cent were foreign born and 22.7 per cent native born with one or both parents of foreign birth.

Among the county's 12,228 inhabitants age five and over in 1970, 2,055 were living in a different county within the state in 1965, and 874 in a different state.

In the population age 16 and over, 74.4 per cent of the men and 44.3 per cent of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 42.7 per cent were holding white collar jobs, and 15.1 per cent were government workers.

About 43.8 per cent of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 34.7 per cent of these wives had children under six.

There were 3,819 persons three to 34 years old enrolled in school. In the 25-and-older population, 41.7 per cent of the men and 51 per cent of the women were high school graduates.

Bob Parnow Is New Member Of SCD Dist. Board

Parnow operates a 640-acre grain and livestock farm in Star township, southeast of Goodridge and will serve as a supervisor for a five-year term. He replaces Garfield Iverson of Goodridge.

Clair Larson was elected as the new board chairman when the SCD board reorganized last week. Other officers are Leonard Melin, vice chairman; Leonard Skaar, secretary; and Carl Lindblom, treasurer.

The board has offered scholarships for any elementary teacher in the county to attend a one-week conservation and environmental workshop.

Concrete, Inc., Victim Of Entry

Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff, reports that entry was forced at Concrete, Inc., Saturday night or Sunday morning and some hard hats and other small items were taken. The loss has been estimated at $50.

Thief River Falls board of education made its first official offer and received its first official request in teacher contract negotiations Monday evening in a negotiating session following the regular board meeting. Percentages of increase were discussed at the session rather than dollar figures.

At its regular business meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m., the board acted on resignations and employment, accepted bids on tires, rejected bids on buses, approved a list of extended contracts, purchased land for a vocational carpentry project house, tabled a recommendation on head hockey coach and asked to readvertise for the position, bought a 12-passenger bus, and authorized the administration to bid on a number of insurance programs.

In the negotiating session the initial offer made by the board was for a 3.25 per cent increase while the teachers' council requested a seven per cent raise. Maynard Wedul, board chairman, said that the board has a limit as to the total increase in the budget next year and that all increased costs, including salaries, would have to be included within that limit.

Don Hejlik, chairman of the teachers' council, stated that the cost of living had increased 6.9 per cent and added that he knew of a local first year teacher who qualified under the low income housing program.

Following several caucuses, the negotiating council reduced its request to 6.75 per cent for 1972-73 and left its request at seven per cent for 1973-74. Wedul said he considered this reduction not significant enough for the board to make a counter offer.

Next meeting for negotiations will be held on Monday at 5:30 p.m., prior to a school board report session on curriculum and discussion of administrative salaries.

Resignations accepted at the board meeting included those from Mrs. Patricia Beito, teacher aide, Lincoln; Gordon J. Peterson, custodian; Gary Lee Ellingson, bus driver; and Mrs. Shirley Swanson, teacher aide.

Hired were Thelma Peterson, teacher aide, Lincoln; Alden Morinville, bus driver; Gary Turnberg, physical education substitute teacher at Franklin to replace Ed Broughton; Orlanda Eriksson, temporary teacher aide to replace Mrs. Swanson; Onealee Russell, teacher of hearing impaired, 185-day contract to begin on or about August 28;

Also Marie Katherine Granger, junior high counselor, 185-day

"Block Parent" Program Started By Mrs. Jaycees

In cooperation with local elementary schools and the city police department, the Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees are organizing a "Block Parent" child protection program.

The program is described as being one in which local residents may volunteer their homes as a haven for youngsters in emergency situations. These emergencies include being lost, being followed by strangers or by unfriendly animals, reporting indecent exposure incidents, reporting accidents, fighting, seeking protection when school is dismissed early for some unforeseen reason.

Object of the program is to have one "Block Parent" home in each block of the city. In order to accomplish this goal, many volunteers are needed to make their homes available under the program.

"This is a community project to safeguard our children in case of an emergency," stated Mrs. Tom Dimich, project chairman for the Mrs. Jaycees. "It may never be needed, but if it helps one child our efforts will have proved worthwhile."

Applications for persons volunteering as "Block Parent" homes are being sent home with every elementary school child in the community. Persons who have questions, or who would like an application form although they do not have elementary school children, are asked to please call Mrs. Dimich at 681-1088.

Police Chief Roland Waller has endorsed the program in the city.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Solheim - Nelson

Wedding vows were exchanged recently by Maxine Solheim and Gary Nelson at a double ring ceremony preformed at Lund Lutheran church at Gully with Rev. A. Daniels officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Solheim of Trail and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson of Bagley.

Mrs. Orlis Hanson of Bagley, cousin of the groom, was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a gown of white nylon organza with cotton lace overing the empire styled bodice featuring sheer sleeves and a flowing skirt that formed into a graceful train in back. Miniature buttons enhanced the yoke and her elbow length bouffant veil of nylon illusion was held in place with a crown of lace appliques and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white mums.

Fern Solheim, sister of the bride, was maid of honor while Mrs. David Atting was the other attendant. They wore identical green floor-length gowns with matching headbands and carried bouquets of white mums and yellow roses.

The bride's personal attendant was Mrs. Gary Weberg of So. Milwauke, Wisc.

Best man was Jon Nelson, brother of the groom, and groomsman was Ronnie Bjerkie, friend of the couple from Leonard. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedoes, bow ties and white carnation boutonnieres.

A reception was given in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Juech, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, as host and hostess.

Robert Brekke, friend of the couple, was in charge of the guest book while Corine Solheim, Merlaine Brekke, Lorraine Theis and Beverly Hanson served the punch.

Last Sub-County Contest Held In 4-H Club Events

Final sub-county contest in the Pennington county 4-H share the fun and play competition was held Monday evening at the Goodridge school. Correction was also called to the Times attention in listing one share the fun winner in a previous contest.

At Goodridge Monday night the Kratka 4-H club won the play contest with "A Rumpus On Rampage" and placed Marjie Landblom as best actress for the evening. Others in the play cast, coached by Mrs. Rufus Olson and Beattie Mickelson, were Dianne Wilson, Steven Paulson, Joanne Paulson, Kenneth Lindblom, Harold Mickelson and Lyle Olson.

Named best actor of the evening was Dale Hanson of the Star 4-H club who played Mr. Doyle in the play "Two Plus One Equals Four".

Good Hope 4-H club won entry into the county contest with two share the fun acts and the Deer Park club captured the other share the fun spot.

Winning for Good Hope was a duet by Jane and Howard Liedberg and a skit entitled "Little Red Riding Hood" and including Randy Hendrickson, Jeff Kukla, Douglas Easthouse and Lynette Kukla with Mike Hanson as narrator. Mrs. Lynn Hanson was coach for both acts.

The Deer Park musical had Marcia Radniecki as accompanist and included Rusty and Kari Birkland, Robert and Roger Flaten, Anthony and Barbara Lundeen, Bonnie and Donna Cullen, Cheri and Mary Hagen, Brad Gunderson and Mitchel Tofte. Coach was Lana Chervestad.

By error Monday the Times listed the wrong City View entry as winning advancement to the county competition. Advancing is a novelty number entitled "Santa's Using Zebras Now". Included are Randy and Ricky Ayers, Kevin and Roxi Bruggeman, Lee Furuseth, Debbie and Doug Green, Kirk and Tawnya Hamre, Nancy Kezar, Marilyn and Tom Koop, Mary and Sharon Koop, Cindy and Kathy Liden, Gary and Dale Nelson, Danny and Susan Olson, Jane and Kathy Olson, Jeanine and Darcy Olson, Shelly and Sherry Solseng, Robin and Rhonda Bach and Carol Sande. Sue Adamson was accompanist and Mrs. Dennis Kezar was coach.

As announced in Monday's issue of the Times, the county play contest will be held April 28 and the share the fun contest on May 2, both at Lincoln senior high school auditorium.

Also inadvertently omitted in the review of previous winners were members of the winning Black River play cast at the sub-county event in St. Hilaire. They included Pam Steiger, best actress of the evening, Judy Mosbeck, David Erickson, Anita Hallstrom, Deb Tollefson, Bryan Steiger and Steve Sorvig with Mrs. Harland Altepeter and Mrs. Lloyd Noreen as coaches.

PENNINGTON ASCS ACTIVITIES

Executive Director

This Friday, April 28, is the final date to complete an application for a loan on oats, barley, wheat or flax. The deadline for applying for a rye loan was March 31. However, a purchase agreement can be taken out for rye up until this Friday and for oats, barley, wheat and flax until May 31, 1972. Please keep that date in mind; April 28 is the final date for requesting a purchase agreement on the rye.

Any producer who has a loan on 1968, 1969, 1970 or 1971 oats, barley or wheat has been sent a card. On this card we have asked for your intentions as to whether you wish to reseal or deliver your commodities. Please indicate your intentions to reseal or deliver the commodity and return this card to the county office by return mail. Prompt return of these cards will permit the inspection of all grain being resealed for another year.

We would like to also remind you that this inspection must be completed before storage payments can be made in June or July. It is therefore important that we receive this card indicating your decision as soon as possible.

The no grazing period for set-aside acreage on farms participating in the 1972 feed grain and wheat programs began on April 1 and will continue for five months ending September 1. This is one of the requirements for participating in the voluntary feed grain and wheat program—that set-aside acreage may not be grazed during that five-month period of the growing season.

Set-aside acreage must not be harvested in any manner during this year. The only exception to that is for designated alternate oil seed crops and emergency hay when they are approved by the county committee. The alternate crop exception to the non-croping requirement is for those farms who have signed up to use set-aside acreage for growing non-surplus, none-price supported oil seed crops and in return accept a reduction in set-aside payments. Crops approved for this purpose include safflower, mustard seed, sunflowers, crambe, castor beans, quar, sesame and plantago ovato.

In the next column we will explain in detail and bring you up to date on the latest changes in procedure on the farm storage facility loan program.

Walk Organized For Young People Throughout Area

Organization of a local "Walk for Development" is taking place in the Thief River Falls area with a large number of area young people showing an interest in participating, according to local chairmen. Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Plummer, Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire young people are being invited to participate.

Rev. Phil Suehrs of Catholic social services of Red Lake Falls, stationed in Thief River Falls, and Rev. Philip Lathrop, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran church, are general chairmen. J. J. Womack is adult advisor for the finance committee.

Sponsored nationally by the American Freedom from Hunger foundation, the walk will be 30 miles in length (or whatever portion of the total which individuals feel they can make) and start at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. The route will be from the fairgrounds to St. Hilaire on highway 32, east to highway 59 and return to Thief River Falls along highway 59.

Fund-raising is the objective of the walk, with each walker to be sponsored by an individual or business on the basis of a prearranged contribution per mile. If a sponsor agrees to sponsor a walker at the rate of 10 cents per mile and he completes the entire distance, the sponsor will pay $3. If the walker only makes 11 miles, the sponsor will pay $1.10. Amount pledged per mile can be any amount and is to be arranged between the walker and the sponsor.

According to Rev. Lathrop, the money collected is to be divided in several ways. Northwestern Minnesota Economic Development program (established by the OEO) will receive 42½ per cent of the total for its attempts to establish small industry in northwestern Minnesota. The group has representation from 18 counties in northwestern Minnesota. Operation Bootstrap in Tanzania, Africa, is to receive 21¼ per cent while OJAMA in Tanzania is to receive 21¼ per cent. The former is an educational program, Rev. Latrop said, and the latter is a health and social welfare program.

Ten per cent of the funds raised will go to the American Freedom from Hunger organization and five per cent is to be retained by the local finance committee for local expenses and follow-up.

It would be appreciated if persons planning to make the walk would register in advance by calling 681-7618, Rev. Lathrop said.

NW Bell Phone Rate Increase Is Reaffirmed

Federal price commission has approved Northwestern Bell telephone company's rate increase in Minnesota, Bruce G. Schwartz, company vice president, has announced.

"The commission informed us on April 20 that it had completed its review of the January 25 order of the Minnesota public service commission authorizing the new rates which Northwestern Bell placed into effect February 8," he said.

Schwartz added that the price commission said the increase satisfactorily meets the requirements of federal regulations.

"As we said before, we felt confident that our rate increase did comply with price commission requirements," he said. "The price commission has recognized that utilities have an obligation to provide continued quality service to the public. Those which have gone long periods without general price increases may, under the impact of past inflation, require substantial rate increases in order to fulfill that obligation."

Schwartz pointed out that Northwestern Bell had gone 14 years without a general rate increase in Minnesota and its earnings had dropped precipitously in recent years.

"Even with the new rates, earnings in 1972 will fall substantially short of the 7.5 per cent level authorized by the Minnesota public service commission and accepted by the federal price commission," he said.

The executive also said company attorneys feel that the firm does not have any obligation under the law to pay the expenses associated with any court appeal.

The increase authorized by the public service commission January 25, and reconfirmed by the commission on April 7, has been appealed to Ramsey county district court.

Under Minnesota statutes, Northwestern Bell is obligated to pay the costs involved in any commission rate evaluation. Pursuant to the statutes, Northwestern Bell has paid a total of $165,955.31 to the state of Minnesota to replenish the $25,000 revolving fund which covers these costs.

Schwartz also said that any statement which infers that the costs Northwestern Bell has already paid do not cost the residents of the state anything is misleading.

"Any costs we incur must ultimately be borne by the telephone users of Minnesota and they are also taxpayers," he said.

Democrat Caucus Seeks Deadline In Viet Conflict

Democratic caucus of the U.S. House of Representatives passed Thursday a resolution declaring that "obtaining a permanent peace in Southeast Asia and insuring the release of Americans held prisoner of war" can best be accomplished by establishing a deadline for the halt of all U.S. military operations in Indochina, according to 7th District Congressman Bob Bergland.

The resolution also called on the House foreign affairs committee to "prepare and report, within 30 days," whatever legislation is necessary to accomplish an end to the hostilities.

Bergland said that the resolution condemns both "the escalation of our role" in the fighting and the North Vietnamese incursion into South Vietnam. "At a time that peace is within our reach," Bergland added, "restraint and sincerity must be demonstrated by both sides."

Bergland said that the favorable vote, 144 to 58, was possible "because vast majority of Democrats in the House realize that the time for talk is long passed and the time for firm action long overdue." Bergland thought it "unfortunate" that "stepped up fighting and more deaths" were required to spur action but termed "hopeful" the overwhelming success of the resolution.

Seniors To Work As Class Slaves

Seniors at Lincoln senior high school will perform spring clean-up tasks on Saturday at $1.25 per hour to raise funds for the annual senior banquet. Since none of the seniors will benefit personally from the event, it is being termed a slave sale, according to Nancy Knutson, class president.

Persons interested in hiring one or more students are asked to call 681-4470 (principal's office at Lincoln) before Saturday, or 681-9932 on Saturday. They should indicate how many students are needed, at what time and at what address.

Seniors will work in the area immediately surrounding Thief River Falls as well as in the city itself, the class president said.

Chief's Corner

— by —

Roland E. Waller, Chief
Thief River Falls Police Dep't.

Pennington county safety council of which I am a member has requested that a column in the times be printed so as to repeat the regulations on mini-bikes and their operation. It seems that each year new persons are buying the bikes and need to be brought up to date on the restrictions.

State statute requires that all motor vehicles must comply with certain regulations on equipment and safety factors, and be properly licensed by the state. This includes mini-bikes, go-carts and bicycles with motors. The equipment has to do with brakes and proper lights.

Most mini-bike manufacturers are aware of these restrictions and advertise openly that the vehicle they have for sale is for use on private property only. Most people buy the bikes with the idea that they will be able to use them on streets, roads, and alleys.

Another requirement is that the person who operates or drives the vehicle must be licensed by the state. In the case of a motorcycle or mini-bike this is an endorsement that is put on the driver's license indicating that special testing has been taken and passed. This eliminates any of us that do not have this endorsement on our license. It also eliminates those under age 16 from operating a mini-bike. We have had officers issue tickets for such violations and some claim ignorance on this facet of the law.

State law requires that all persons driving or riding on a mini-bike or motorcycle wear a helmet. This is for the protection of the rider but many times he feels he has the right to determine this for himself and goes without a helmet. If an officer spots this a ticket will be issued. Please wear your helmet when on a motorcycle of any kind.

Again I remind you that these are laws passed by our legislators in St. Paul. There can be no relaxing of the restrictions by any lesser governmental agency. Some feel that to enforce these laws is being too strict and "good judgement" should be used. We try to use good judgement but too many times our judgement does not agree with what others think it should be. We then suffer loud criticism from this group and opposite criticism from those who feel we should enforce the rules more stringently.

The police department and chief of police have given their support to the Mrs. Jaycees in their promotion of the "Block Parent" program.

I am confident that the block parent program will provide additional safety for the school age children in this community. The knowledge that each block provides a home where aid may be summoned for frightened or injured children should be appreciated by all of us. The program will be worthwhile through the assistance in comparatively minor emergencies which it is certain to deal with. Any serious crimes or deaths which it may prevent will be added justification for supporting this effort.

This block parent program is being promoted by the Mrs. Jaycees and PTA groups through the community. It is a system to assist children when there is an emergency. The program is designed to have a block home in each square block of a school area. Then a volunteer will put a sign in her window that will indicate to children that this is a friendly house where he or she may be assured of assistance in case of emergency situation.

Mrs. Jaycees and PTA groups are now organizing this program in their areas. It is hoped that most of the elementary schools will be covered before the fall school term.

The Silver Year of The New Solum 4-H Club

The New Solum 4-H club members continue to be aware of their 25th year as they continue special observances with historical facts and guests at each regular club meeting. However the very modern present day members have been very busy with their spring activities. The Favorite Food show held in the city auditorium was attended by Debbie Reierson, Cindy Anderson, Barbara, Jennifer and Paulette Bulger, Ramona and Lorette Aaseby. They prepared their favorite food, made a well balanced menu of which this food was a part and set an attractive table for serving this particular menu. To earn money for the anniversary activities planned for the summer, the 4-H'ers held a bake sale during the Easter vacation at the Hartz super market. Mrs. Hjalmer Aaseby assisted the several girls enrolled in foods as they very successfully sold all the home baked foods. Mrs. Bert Kron and Laura attended the April meeting of the leaders council in Thief River Falls where plans for spring activities were made. The Walk for Development planned by various youth groups in the area was discussed and the annual Dairy day for June 13th. The two-day Northwest 4-H leader retreat for ten northwestern Minnesota counties was held the 6th and 7th of April at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls with Mrs. Ray Holmstrom and Mrs. Bert Kron attending from this club. Presently the New Solum 4-H'ers are practicing their play for county competition in various homes and the clubhouse every chance they can manage between school obligations. At the March meeting of the New Solum 4-H club held at the clubhouse, readings were given by Barbara Bauer, Debbie Rierson, and Leonard Kron. A project report was given by Wesley Soiney on dogs while demonstrations were given by Jennifer Bulger on "Making Brownies", by Lorette Aaseby on "How to Properly Grease a cake pan", and by Karen Holmstrom on "How to Set a Table". A humorous skit was presented by Cindy Anderson, Lorette Aaseby, Jennifer, Barbara and Mary Bulger. One of the special guests for the evening was Mrs. Elmer Kron who had been the club leader for 17 years of 25. She showed some slides obtained from the County Extension office of county activities of the past taken by past county agents. Some of the members were recognized but older members remembered some of the events and all enjoyed the clothes and hair styles and car models. Mrs. Kron also made comments on many scenes as related to this club and expressed her enjoyment as serving as a leader. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hellquist were also special guests and Mrs. Hellquist chatted with the group about the pleasures and some of the hectic moments of being a 4-H family for 17 years. Roland, Marilyn and Elaine Hellquist had all been charter members in 1947 and John finished his 4-H career after high school graduation in 1964. Snapshots were taken, recreation led by Randy Lambert and Ross Soiney and lunch served by the Ray Holmstrom and Irwin Johnson families. The adults of the community who have served as 4-H club leaders during the past 25 years were posted on the bulletin board. Of the 20 different leaders during this time, 9 of them have been men. The total years given by these people equaled 76 years of volunteered time and energy for work with youth on the club and county level. Following are the names of New Solum 4-H leaders listed in the order in which they served. Melvin Saugen, Mrs. Bert Kron, Mrs. John Doran, Mrs. Elmer Kron, Elmer Kron, Mrs. Emil Anderson, Mrs. Russell Nelson, Russell Nelson, Engvald Dahl, Mrs. Hjalmer Aaseby, Mrs. Emil Hellquist, Percy Hagen, Patty Langlie, James Jarshaw, Mrs. Irwin Johnson, Ray Holmstrom, Hjalmer Aaseby, Mrs. Ray Holmstrom, Mrs. Wallace Anderson and Wallace Anderson. Legislative Letter from ANDREW SKAAR

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

The last session of the legislature enacted legislation giving the Department of Natural Resources greater flexibility in setting the deer season in the state of Minnesota. According to this legislation, the department may now permit a deer season of up to 30 days in length.

There are a number of reasons why a longer deer season would be advantageous. It would spread the hunting pressure over a longer period of time and hopefully eliminate the large concentration of hunters in the woods on the open weekend. It would also make it easier for more sportsmen to arrange time off to participate in this activity. A 30-day season would also tend to satisfy more hunters who prefer to hunt early in the season as well as those who wish to hunt later in the season.

According to the present plan, all areas in the state of Minnesota would be open for deer hunting this fall. Some areas would be open for a one-day season and the remainder of the state would be open for the full 30 days. When the hunter purchases his license he will have to indicate the days that he would hunt. If a sportsman elected to hunt the first half of the season he would be permitted to hunt any three days during the first 15 days, or if he elected to hunt the second half he could hunt any five days in the second 15 days of the season. This would tend to spread the hunting pressure more evenly and eliminate the great concentration on the opening day.

In the northwestern part of the state there has been a tremendous increase in the deer population over the past years and this is becoming well known throughout the state of Minnesota. Because of the more favorable hunting conditions in this part of the state and the publicity concerning our deer numbers, I feel that this part of the state will receive a tremendous influx of new hunters this fall.

I would prefer to see the area between highway 75 and highway 59 remain open for 15 days instead of the full 30 days. While it is true that the hunter must declare when he purchases his license which days he will hunt, a hunter is free to go anyplace in the state of Minnesota and hunt on those days if that area is open for hunting. I am of the opinion that a 30-day deer season would reduce our deer herd to such an extent that the future of that herd would be in jeopardy.

I have advised the department and have asked them to limit the deer season between highway 75 and highway 59 to 15 days this fall. If experience proves that our deer population in this area can stand a 30-day open season, this could be permitted in years to come but I am very concerned about going from no open season to a 30-day deer season, especially in an area that is as easy to hunt as this one.

If you share my concern I would suggest you write to Mike Casey, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, Department of Natural Resources, 3rd Floor Centennial Office Building, St. Paul, 55155. The department has not finalized its plan but as of now does plan to leave this area open for the full 30 days.

No Shoplifters Listed In Police Report This Week

Noticeably absent from the police report of the past week are apprehensions of shoplifters. Another significant fact is that the number of incidents considered serious enough to be reported is smaller than usual.

About 2:50 p.m. April 18 Asbjorn Asbjornson of Oklee was driving south on highway 59 and turning left into Gibson's parking lot when his vehicle was struck in the rear by one driven by Jan McWilliam of Winger who was also driving south.

James Kotz of Thief River Falls reported April 18 that a rock had been thrown through the rear window of his car, causing about $100 in damages.

A break-in was reported at Lincoln high school on April 19. Fifty cents was taken from a desk drawer in the principal's office. A window in a door was broken to gain entrance and the damage was estimated at $50.

On the same day David Opdahl of Thief River Falls reported that a battery valued at $24 had been taken from his car.

April 21 Mrs. Johnnie Hausner of Mahnomen reported that she "believed" that her vehicle had been damaged by a hit-and-run driver while it was parked in a parking lot in Thief River Falls. About $175 in damages had been inflicted to the front of her car.

About 3:30 p.m. on April 21 Donald Bren was driving west on Third street and stopped to wait for traffic to clear so that he could make a left turn onto Knight avenue. Virgil Collins of Thief River Falls was behind him when Collins' car was struck in the rear by a pickup driven by Ernest Melvie of Viking. Collins' vehicle was pushed forward into the rear of Bren's car. Bren's car received about $900 in damages, Collins' damage was estimated at $1,000 and Melvie's pickup sustained about $275 in damages. After the accident, both Bren and Collins complained of having sore necks.

On April 24 it was reported that a window had been broken at Johnson Plate Glass and two portable radios were taken. One was a "Holiday" radio in a leather case. The other was a small GE radio. The value of the loss was about $30.

Give Identity Of Letter Writer

Identification of Mrs. Cindy Jindra, who wrote a letter to the Times from Japan which was published Monday, has been solved through a number of readers. She is the former Cindy Steen, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Leland Steen who served the Zion Lutheran church here several years ago.

Cindy graduated from Lincoln high school here and after completing college taught for a year in the Goodridge school system. The Times extends thanks to some of the many who know her for giving us this information.

"No Grazing" On Set-Aside Acres Began April 1st

"No grazing" period for set-aside acreage on farms participating in the 1972 feed grain and wheat programs began April 1 and will continue for five months ending September 1.

This announcement was made by the chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) committee, Winton Knutson, who explained that a condition for participating in the voluntary farm programs is that set-aside acreage may not be grazed during five principal months of the growing season. Nor may set-aside acreage be harvested except for designated alternate oilseed crops and emergency hay, when approved by the county committee.

The alternate crop exception to the non-cropping requirement is for those farms who intend to use set-aside acreage for growing non-surplus, non-price-supported oilseed crops and in return accept a reduction in set-aside payments. Crops approved for this purpose include safflower, mustard seed, sunflowers, crambe, castor beans, guar, sesame, and plantago ovato.

The emergency haying exception for set-aside acreage requires a farmer first to apply at the county ASCS office before harvesting the hay. If his application is approved, the hay must be stored for use in event of future emergency of such nature that it be officially declared an emergency by the administrator of the ASCS, U.S. department of agriculture.

Farmers may secure information on the emergency hay storatge provision and apply for haying privileges at the county ASCS office, Knutson said.

May 15 Deadline For Filing Gift Tax Returns

Persons liable for gift tax returns have an important deadline to remember, according to George O. Lethert, IRS district director for Minnesota. May 15 will be the last day for filing the new quarterly gift tax return for this quarter.

Lethert explained that under the excise, estate and gift tax adjustment act of 1970, gift tax returns must be filed and the payment of gift taxes made on a quarterly basis, rather than on an annual basis, as was the previous procedure.

Gifts made after 1970 must be reported on the new Form 709, US quarterly gift tax return (revised September 1971). This return is due the 15th day of the second month after the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. For gifts made in January, February or March of 1972, a gift tax return must be filed by May 15, 1972.

The new gift tax return, Form 709, and instructions for filing, are available at all internal revenue service offices.

Economic Stabilization

Internal Revenue Service

Q— For competitive reasons, I don't want to increase rent 2½ per cent for my tenants this year. If I don't raise rent by that amount this year, do I lose the right to make that increase next year?

A— No. A recent amendment to the rent regulations makes it clear that the 2½ per cent annual permissible increase may be carried over to the next year if it is not used in the current year.

Q— If a firm is classed as a prenotifier as far as price controls are concerned, must it also prenotify wage increases?

A— A firm may be classed in one category for price adjustments and make pay adjustments that are classed in another category. For more information on how economic units are classified as either prenotifiers, reporting or non-reporting firms, see IRS Publication S-5, Price and Wage Classification. It's available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q— Does a new retail firm have to wait one year to determine if its annual sales total $100,000 before qualifying for the exemption from all price controls?

A— No. If at the end of its first three months of operation, a retail firm has sales of less than $25,000 and does not anticipate its volume to exceed that rate, it will be exempt from further regulation. However, if in any succeeding quarter, the retailer's sales surpass the annual rate of $100,000, the firm will again be subject to regulation and will be limited to its base prices plus allowable increases. In no event will the firm be permitted to establish new base prices, and after the firm has completed one year of business, the total sales or revenues will determine the exemption status for the next year.

The same procedure may be employed to determine if a retailer must "prominently" post his base prices, a requirement which is not demanded of retailers with annual sales or revenues of less than $200,000.

Q— I'd like to raise the wages of some employees at my drive-in from $1.60 per hour to $1.80. Would this increase count towards the Pay Board's 5.5 per cent standard?

A— No. Increases to employees earning less than $1.90 an hour are excluded from the general wage and salary standard until their pay is brought up to the $1.90 per hour level.

Q— When calculating wage and salary adjustments, should employers include all fringe benefits in the compensation base, even though regulations on excluded fringe benefits have not yet been published?

A— Yes. In its policy decision on fringe exemptions, the Pay Board decided that the base used in calculating percentages of allowable wage and salary increases should include the cost of fringe benefits excluded by the recent amendments to the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, as well as other wages and salaries. This principle applies in determining allowable percentages for all purposes and is effective both retroactively and prospectively.

Q— Does IRS have the power to subpoena a business's books and records in connection with the enforcement of the Economic Stabilization program?

A— Yes. The recently amended Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 and subsequent delegation orders issued under the Act give the IRS the power to sign and issue subpoenas for the production or relevant books, papers and other documents in connection with the stabilization program. If an individual refuses to obey such a subpoena, the IRS may ask the Justice Department to seek the aid of the U.S. District Courts to compel the individual to appear and produce the documents.

Q— Do you have any publications that explain the posting requirements for retailers?

A— Yes. IRS Publication S-3, "Retailers' Price Posting Requirements," explains which retailers are and which are not required to post and describes the rules governing accessibility and content of posted information and availability of non-posted prices. It can be obtained free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q— I rented a brand new apartment on Nov. 1, 1971 for $200 per month on a month-to-month lease. The construction of the apartments was completed after Aug. 15, 1971. Now my landlord wants to increase rent to $250. Is this a violation of stabilization regulations?

A— Since the construction of the apartment was completed after Aug. 15, 1971 and the unit was offered for rent for the first time after that date, rent for that unit is exempt from controls and an increase does not violate stabilization regulations.

Q— My employer deposited agreed-upon wage increases held up by the freeze in an interest-bearing account until the question of retroactivity was decided by the Pay Board. Now that we're able to receive our retroactive pay, can we also receive the accrued interest on the wages?

A— Yes. Your employer may pay the accrued interest to his employees. The fund is similar to a "forced savings" program and interest in such a program accrues to and is payable to employees. In addition, the cost to the employer is not increased beyond the amount of the retroactive increase.

Q— Is there a booklet available that contains all the regulations issued under the stabilization program?

A— Yes. A new booklet, entitled "Title 6—Economic Stabilization" of the code of federal regulations, is a handy reference for all aspects of the stabilization program. In addition to the regulations issued by the cost of living council, the pay board and the price commission through Feb. 29, 1972, the volume contains implementing regulations and rulings of the Internal Revenue service.

The booklet can be purchased for 75 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, or from the Regional GPO Book Stores located in ten major cities throughout the country.

Q— Are deposits on soft drink bottles subject to the economic stabilization regulations?

A— No. Bottle deposits are not prices. They're amounts exacted to insure the safe return of property. If the property is returned, the full deposit is returned and there is no price paid.

Q— Does the term "allowable cost increase" mean cost increases for a particular product or for the company as a whole?

A— "Allowable cost increase" applies to a particular product or product line. Of course, increased indirect costs for the company as a whole are allocated to each product. The profit margin is the test for the company as a while. The effect of a manufacturer's price changes must not be to increase its profit margin as a percentage of sales, before income taxes, over that which prevailed during the base period.

Q— Should employers prenotify the IRS before making payment of retroactive pay increases in excess of seven per cent for services rendered on or after Aug. 15, 1971 and before Nov. 14, 1971 (Sec. 201.13(b) of the economic stabilization regulations?

A— No. These prenotifications should be sent directly to the pay board. If the pay board does not act within 14 days of receiving the application, payment may be made.

Artificial Heart Muscle Developed By N.Y. Surgeon

Development of an artificial muscle that opens the way to a long-sought version of mechanical heart, one with contracting walls that mimic natural heart action, was reported by Dr. Philip N. Sawyer, a heart surgeon at Downstate Medical Center, Brooklyn. He said the artificial muscle is capable of relaxing and contracting in much the same way as real heart muscle does.

The key to the artificial muscle is a temperature-sensitive alloy of nickel and titanium, dubbed nitinol. This alloy abruptly contracts when heated beyond a critical or "transitional" temperature and just as swiftly expands or relaxes when allowed to cool below this point. The hot-cold switching can be accomplished electrically in seconds.

Now, scientists can think of making a complete replica heart with chambers that work like the real thing, offsetting such problems as blood clotting that now hamper artificial heart development.

Dr. Sawyer and his colleagues have already built a one-chambered device—patterened after the left ventricle, or main heart chamber. It proved capable of pumping water with a force comparable to what the heart uses to keep blood circulation going. The model chamber was fashioned by connecting strips of nitinol to a plastic, elastic replica of the left ventricle in much the same way that muscles are hitched up in the real heart chamber. Contraction of the strip—and ultimately the chamber—if produced by passing an electric current through the alloy to heat it up beyond the critical temperature.

Plastic models of the chamber were produced from molds made of the interior of hearts obtained from persons who had died of causes unrelated to heart disease.

with Mike Lundgren

John Schmitz, in all probability, will not return as Lincoln high school head hockey coach next season.

In an absurd move Monday night, the local school board rejected a special three-man committee's recommendation that Schmitz be rehired for the 1972-73 season.

The three-man committee, made up of Lincoln high school principal Robert Ostazeski, athletic director Russ Smith and a hockey team member, screened three candidates from a list of numerous applications and presented Schmitz' name to superintendent Dr. W. S. Corliss who in turn put Schmitz' name before the board.

The board officially "tabled" the recommendation, asking that the position be re-advertised with an expanded qualification basis. Although Schmitz could still be offered the job, it would seem unlikely that he would accept the offer following a public rejection by the board the first time around.

Who knows what the board has in mind now; but failure to give proper support to a coach who posted 15-5 regular season in which he was well liked by the players and rival coaches as well, seems shocking at least.

The other two coaches among the "top three" candidates were Rick Ulvin of Grand Forks Red River and Bill McGann of Proctor.

Wayne Doering and Dale Burau, two Howard Lake All-State basketball players who visited Thief River Falls and the Northland state junior college campus this week, are just two of many high school seniors Northman head coach Chet Engelman is trying to recruit for next year.

Although Engelman is restricted in his recruiting according to the rules of the MJCAA, players from outside the Northland district, such as Doering and Burau are still able to play for Northland if they decide to enroll at the school on their own will.

Among the top prep cagers in northwestern Minnesota that Engelman would like to register at Northland are Todd Fore, a 6-4 All-State center from Gonvick; Jim Musberger, a 6-3 all-conference forward from Karlstad; Mark Kummer, a 6-2 all-conference guard from Fisher; Bruce Anderson, a 6-3 center from Fosston; and Tom Kays, a 6-2 forward from Thief River Falls.

"If we could get those boys we'll be in pretty good shape for next season," said Engelman, who coached Northland to its first winning record in history with a 13-12 mark during the 1971-72 campaign.

Also high on Engleman's list are Wayne Kobbervig, Climax; Kent Gunderson and Pete Anderson, Fisher; Ron Voth, Mike Sollom and Rick Sethre, Newfolden; Grant Bothom, Kennedy; Jeff Norman and Bruce Schantzen, Warren; and Lee Sorensen, along with Randy Carlson, Thief River Falls.

Lincoln high school senior Mark Liden was ranked 20th among singles players in the latest state-wide prep tennis rankings—the only region eight individual listed among the state's top 25 competitiors. However, in the team rankings, the defending region eight champion Bemidji Lumberjacks are rated tenth.

Edina is the number one rated team, boasting of the number one rated singles player in Bob Ames, along with the number one rated doubles combination.

Steve Daley, a 1970 Lincoln graduate, has been named co-captain of the University of Minnesota technical college, Crookston, baseball team. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daley of Thief River Falls.

Six new teams will appear on the 1972-72 Lincoln high school basketball schedule.

Lee Swanson's Prowlers will face newcomers Mahnomen, Breckenridge and West Fargo at home next season while traveling to Fergus Falls and meeting Babbitt and International Falls during a Christmas tournament at Crookston.

NSJC Teams See Action This Week

Northland state junior college golf team will compete in the Brainerd invitational meet tomorrow (Thursday), beginning at 10 a.m.

The six-team meet was rescheduled from yesterday's planned starting time due to the wet condition of the Brainerd course.

The Northland track squad will also see action this week when the Northmen take part in an invitational meet at Babbitt Saturday.

Orrin Bendickson's Northland tennis squad did not compete in a scheduled invitational tournament at Brainerd yesterday due to a school band concert.

Prowler Runners Win Pirate Jaycee Indoor

Thief River Falls molded outstanding individual performances into a complete team effort Tuesday to easily outdistance a 24-team field and win the second annual Pirate Jaycees indoor track meet in the Crookston winter shows building.

Jim Sims' well-balanced thinclads broke away from a close two-way battle with host school Crookston in the final three events of the night to finish the record-shattering meet with 68 points while the Pirates ended the day's activity with 57½ and East Grand Forks finished a distant third with 30 points.

Junior Markoe Hanson displayed the perfect Thief River Falls individual-team blend in the next - to - the last event of the night when the Prowler speedster turned in a record-breaking 24.4 clocking in the 220-yard dash. As Hanson dashed across the finish line in his seventh race of the meet, he cried out, "We won it," meaning his first-place finish clinched the team title for the Prowlers.

The Prowlers held a narrow 48 to 46½ lead over Crookston with just three events remaining last night, but quickly moved out to a 54-48½ margin with a first place performance in the sprint medley relay. Rob Swenson, Steve Belch, Mike Fitzgerald and Don Reierson posted a 3:16.1 in the event while Crookston finished a poor fourth behind Fertile and Warren.

Hanson iced the title for the Prowlers in the 220, with teammate Jon Markstrom close behind with a 24.9 for an insurance second-place finish to put the Prowlers on top 64 to 51½ with just one event remaining.

Crookston won the final event, the 1,520-yard relay in a time of 3:05.3, but the Prowlers' crew of Scott Olson, Kent Smith, Paul Battleson and Rande Smith was right behind, after a dropped baton cost them the race, to place second with a 3:09.0 for the final point totals.

There were eight new records set in the meet, including three standard-setting performances by Prowler thinclads. While winning the events, Prowler runners set new meet marks in the 70, 220 and 440-yard dashes. Senior Rob Swenson ran a 7.4 in the 70, senior Mike Fitzgerald turned in a 54.3 in the 440 and Hanson was clocked at 24.4 in the 220.

Prowler relay teams claimed the other two first-place finishes for Thief River Falls as the 760-yard squad of Belch, Markstrom, Hanson and John Wangberg ran a 1:25.7 to tie East Grand Forks for the number one spot to go along with the sprint medley troupe.

Crookston also claimed five first place finishes, but the Prowler team depth came through the rest of the meet as Thief River Falls picked up six second-place ribbons. Turning in second-place performances for the Prowlers were Greg Bulger with a 4:49.5 in the mile, trailing Paul Carter of Park Rapids with a 4:48.4; Paul Battleson with a 2:05.2 in the 880, behind Todd Peterson of Crookston who ran a record 2:03.9; Hanson with a 7.5 in the 70-yard dash; Olson with a 54.5 in the 440; Markstrom in the 220; and the 1,520-yard relay team.

A pair of third place finishes were turned in by John Wangberg with a 9.4 in the 70-yard highs and an 8.9 in the 70-yard low hurdles. Crookston's Gary Wagner set new meet records in both events with a 9.1 in the highs and an 8.6 in the lows. Shot putter Rande Smith also claimed a third for the Prowlers with a toss of 45-5, behind Tim Willie of Mahnomen with a record heave of 50-4.

Fourth place times were recorded by the Prowlers' Doug Aaseby in the low hurdles with a 9.1 and by Steve Phelps with a 2:14.1 in the 880.

Russ Larson placed fifth in the shot put competition with a throw of 44-9½ while Kent Smith and Jeff Rhoden tied for a fifth-place spot in the high jump with a leap of 5-4.

Team totals: Thief River Falls 68; Crookston 57½; East Grand Forks 30; Mahnomen 16½; Park Rapids and Fertile 12; Ada, Stephen and Warren 5; Fosston and Halstad 4; Roseau 3; Oklee 2.

Prowlers Dump Fertile 9-1 In Baseball Opener

Four Lincoln high school pitchers checked Fertile with just one hit Tuesday afternoon as the Prowlers opened their 1972 baseball campaign with a 9-1 triumph over the Falcons at Fertile.

Senior right hander Mike Hamilton pitched the first two innings and picked up the club's initial win of the year. Junior southpaw Pete Sullivan hurled the third and fourth frames, junior right hander Bruce Engel tossed the fifth and sixth innings and sophomore right hander Randy Dallmann pitched the final canto.

Junior catcher Ordean Peterson and senior outfielder Rick Johnson shared the top batting honors as they combined to collect six of the Prowlers' ten hits in the game. Peterson went three for four at the plate while Johnson pounded out three hits in five trips.

The Prowlers opened up the contest with two runs in the first inning as lead-off batter Rob Almquist started the game with a base hit and scored on Peterson's run-producing single. Three Fertile errors contributed to the Prowlers' second run of the game.

Thief River Falls picked up another score in the second when Rick Johnson singled and scored on Peterson's base hit.

The Prowlers upped their lead to 8-0 in the fifth inning when junior shortstop Kim Johnson opened the frame with a single and advanced on a fielder's choice, which also permitted Jon Jensen to reach base. Hamilton's single drove in Johnson and Jensen scored on Sullivan's sacrifice. Rick Johnson drove in the final run of the fifth inning with a single, scoring Hamilton.

Three more runs crossed the plate for the Prowlers in the sixth on just one hit, a single by Peterson. A walk, a fielder's choice and two errors scored the final two Prowler runs.

Fertile averted a shutout in the final inning with the benefit of four walks.

"We're always satisfied with a win," said Prowler head coach Ralph Skay who started his 19th year at the Lincoln helm with the triumph, "but we did make some foolish mistakes that we'll have to correct. All in all, we were pleased with our performance. We hit the ball fairly well, and our pitchers did a fair job for this stage of the game. They (pitchers) still need more work, but they'll share the mound duties for a few more games until we decide on the three or four that we'll go with this season."

The Prowler mentor substituted freely in the contest, using all 18 players in the game.

Chris Cuppett Earns ALCW Scholarship

Chris Ann Cuppett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cuppett of Thief River Falls, was one of five high school seniors in the Thief River Falls conference of the American Lutheran church to be presented a $[illegible] college scholarship by the ALC women at their convention in Stephen on Saturday. Mrs. Gilbert Lee, Wannaska, treasurer, made the presentation of the awards which apply on the second semester at an ALC college.

Chris Ann plans to major in music at Concordia college, Moorhead. Besides singing in "A" choir at Lincoln high school, she received a top rating on her vocal solo at the district music contest and will compete in the state area contest at Bemidji in May.

In extemporaneous speaking she advanced to regional alternate. She is news editor of the Lincoln Log and in the past has taken part in debate, oration and declam. A member of Trinity Lutheran church, Chris is active in the Luther league and chapel choir as well as teaching Sunday school. For the Trinity Christmas concert she wrote the words and music for the presentation by the chapel choir.

Another activity for Chris is Girl Scouts where she has been a member for many years and still is working on badges.

Three more winners plan to attend Concordia college. They are Roxanne Eggen, Wannaska, Riverside Lutheran church, English major, interested in chorus and drama; Pamela Gehrke, Roseau, Messiah Lutheran church, Luther league president, major in science, special interest in music; and Sally Rae Halvorson, Roseau, Moe Lutheran church, treasurer of Luther league, active in 4-H, FHA, band, girls' chorus, declam and major in science.

Dee Ann Lucille Thompson, Argyle, Our Savior's church, plans to attend St. Olaf college and major in science. She is vice president of Luther League, active in band, speech, treasurer of the senior class and vice president of the science club.

In the event that more funds are received or that one of the first named does not register for the second semester, alternates were named. The first is James Pearson, Warren, Our Savior's Lutheran church, church organist, a member of all-state Lutheran concert tour choir, organizer and director of church youth choir, plans to major in music and business. Twins were named co-alternates: Myra and Monica Roland, Stephen, St. Petri Lutheran church, interested in music, members of all-state band, Myra to major in math and Monica in history.

Twelve applications were received before the deadline. The scholarships are open to graduates of junior college as well as high school seniors and can be applied to nurse's training or any other field; the requirement is that it must be used at an ALC institution of learning or training.

Bergland Gives Comments About Meat Price Rise

Commenting on the results of hearings held to investigate "skyrocketing retail meat prices", U. S. Rep. Bob Bergland said in Washington this week "it is obvious that eastern chain store operators took advantage of the lack of price controls on meat and gouged, unmercifully, the American housewife."

Bergland also emphasized that all hearing witnesses, including farm leaders, packers and chain store operators, agreed that the American family farmer did not profit from retail meat price increases.

The hearings, according to Bergland, also disclosed that "kickbacks, extortion and bribery," traced to organized crime on the eastern seaboard, are common in the marketing of meat in metropolitan areas. Bergland said that a grand jury in New York was presently probing into the influence of organized crime in high meat prices and that a special assistant U.S. attorney testified that a nationwide investigation may be necessary.

Bergland said that the "combination of large retail chains, who have a near monopoly on meat distribution in Eastern metropolitan areas, and the influence of organized crime" have allowed meat prices to increase 20 cents per pound instead of the four to five cents which would have normally resulted from a slight increase in the price paid to farmers. Bergland noted that the price which farmers receive for livestock "is about the same as 20 years ago."

Bergland also said that the pressure of Congressional hearings has caused "a sharp drop" in meat prices charged to the housewife and pledged "continuing pressure on the large Eastern chains" to keep retail prices in line without destroying livestock prices."

Student Voting Is Project Objective

by Valerie Cunningham
University News Service

A 19-year-old sophomore at the University of Minnesota went home to Paynesville in February and was elected a delegate to the Stearns county convention.

There was nothing unusual about that, according to the student, Dennis Herzig, who figures that as many as 1,000 university students were elected delegates at the February precinct caucuses.

However, what may be unusual about Herzig is that he is well informed about politics on the grass-roots level and knew what to expect from his county convention.

He heads Minnesota Project 72 at the university, an organization which is working to involve the state's new voters—the 221,000 young people between the ages of 18 and 20 able to vote for the first time—in the political process, from the caucuses on up.

Many of those 1,000 new delegates were not so well informed as Herzig and for a while had no idea what their new title meant.

The day after the caucuses, a typical call to Project 72 headquarters began "I've been elected both precinct chairman and a delegate at my caucus. What do I do now?"

So Project 72, whose first goal was to get as many students to their caucuses as possible, began concentrating on educating the young delegates, getting them the information they needed to be effective participants in the county conventions.

To achieve that first goal of getting students out to caucus, Project 72 volunteers picked up the campus phone book.

In a borrowed office with borrowed telephones and a budget that could be strained by buying pencils, volunteers called as many of the 43,000 students on campus as they could reach.

Herzig estimates they contacted up to 30,000 students and that between 4,000 and 8,500 students attended a caucus.

"We didn't ask them to support any one candidate or issue," Herzig said, emphasizing Project 72's non-partisan nature. "We simply wanted them to get out and participate."

Herzig, as a student between the ages of 18 and 20 who went home to caucus, typifies the kind of participation Project 72 was trying to encourage.

The advice given was:

Don't stay around campus, where students are already the majority. Go home where you know people and can organize, and at the same time disperse the power of the youth vote.

While Herzig and his co-workers were bringing the message to university students, the metropolitan arm of the project was doing the same in area high schools.

James Carter, a university graduate student and Project 72's metropolitan director, estimates that students were contacted at 55 Twin Cities high schools. The project reached out to the entire state through Minnesota coordinator Steve Westrum, a student at Mankato state college.

Now that county conventions are over and students are back on the campus for spring quarter, Project 72 is setting the wheels in motion for a third major effort—a get-out-the-vote drive.

"We're going to hound them until they vote," Herzig promised.

"The university is one of the most poorly registered campuses of its size in the nation," he said, "and that's appalling."

Project 72 would like to see registrars come to the campus to register students. The registration effort will emphasize the Twin Cities metropolitan area, a recognition of the fact that many outstate communities do not require registration (in towns of under 10,000 population it's a local option). Another drive will be held in the fall, to reach incoming freshmen.

Sometime after November 5 the students involved in Project 72 will sit down to assess the results of their year spent encouraging young people to participate in politics.

Herzig counts the project thus far a success.

"Our most important effort has been getting young people out to the caucuses," he said. "I find it very encouraging that they went in such numbers.

"If they hadn't gone, you'd have to ask whether they ever would—we're hopefully starting a habit."

Project 72 does admit to one failure.

As hard as it was to reach the transient student population, which usually is listed in some kind of directory at least, the new young voters who do not attend colleges presented an impossible challenge.

"We just weren't that successful in reaching young people in the work force," Herzig said.

Project 72 has finally moved into more permanent quarters on campus and work has slowed down enough for the group to start writing a constitution.

Herzig hopes that the organization can be an on-going effort even after its current staff graduates and moves on. There will, after all, be a continual crop of new young voters who need to get in the habit of political participation.

When this year is ended, Herzig said, "We'll turn it into Project 73."

COAST GUARD Lieutenant Commander James W. Ewing (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ewing of Thief River Falls, was presented the coast guard achievement medal at the coast guard air station, St. Petersburg, Fla., and was commended for the part he played in rescuing a critically ill diabetic from the yacht "Barracuda" near Nassau, Bahamas. Ewing is a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school and a 1969 graduate of the University of Minnesota.

22 Crashes Show Drivers Headed Wrong Direction

Twenty-two crashes on Minnesota's interestate system last year were caused by wrong-way drivers, a department of public safety study revealed today.

Of these, three were fatal and 13 caused personal injuries. "These were not cars out of control, crossing the median barrier," Commissioner W. R. Hoaglund explained, "but vehicles whose drivers took them into the wrong roadway, and then collided with other vehicles properly in that roadway. The information available does not indicate that the drivers in the fatal accidents were in any way impaired, but in a majority of the others, the driver was intoxicated or had been drinking."

Hoaglund pointed out that these were only the wrong-way driving incidents that resulted in disaster. "Many more occur that come out more fortunately. How many, we do not know, but the incidents are numerous and hard to explain.

"The exit ramps are clearly marked to warn wrong-way drivers, and it is difficult to see how they can miss the signs. Apparently there are some cases where a driver passes the entrance ramp and then enters the exit ramp.

To eliminate this problem, Hoaglund advised drivers to plan their route in advance so they will know where they must enter or exit. If a driver misses a freeway entrance, he should continue on until he can come back and enter properly.

Recycling Sites Sought By MPCA

Minnesota pollution control agency is attempting to determine the number and location of recycling collection centers throughout Minnesota. The agency is also interested in knowing of companies throughout the state which recycle waste materials such as metal, glas and paper.

Such information should be sent to Miss Jaquelyn Burke, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, 717 Delaware St., S. E., Minneapolis, Minn., 55440. The information will be used in an agency report to the 1973 state legislature on recovery of resources.

Slow down and live.

Support Fabrics Important For Sewing Garments

If you're building a house, it needs support. Constructing a garment uses the same premise says Sarah Cox, assistant professor in clothing, University of Minnesota. She refers to the components of dress making as building blocks. And, probably the most important foundation is the support fabrics. . .lining, interlining, underlining and interfacing.

The lining is the material partially or entirely covering the inside of a garment. It is constructed separately and joined to the inside of the garment. An interlining is additional material put between the outer fashion material and the lining previously described. It usually adds warmth such as inside a coat. The underlining is material cut in the shape of the pattern section and used to back that section. Both underlining and fashion fabric are handled as one in step-by-step construction.

The interfacing is a material inserted between fashion fabric and the facing or lining. Its purpose is to add firmness and body or to strengthen the area. Fashion and supportive fabrics should be compatible in weight, fiber content, color and care factors. To test for weight and color, place good sized pieces of both fabrics in your hand and with one on top of the other, manipulate to see what effect will be obtained.

Fabric structure of the supportive fabrics is very important. Non-woven fabrics are firm and generally have little stretch or give. They can be used where there is no roll and where sharp, permanent design lines are to be maintained. . .cuffs and flaps. Woven fabrics have varying amounts of give, depending upon fiber and finish. These woven supportive fabrics are used in large areas for over-all support and shape.

The supportive fabrics are important to the appearance of your garment. You may spend almost as much for these as for the outer fashion fabric. It can be money well spent.

DADDY! look at the pencil!

It was his first trip to Washington. He was only six. Everything had to be analyzed by the standards of a first-grader!

Tell him it's the Washington Monument . . . he still thinks of it as "The Pencil." Time for his parents to learn a lesson:

Suppose he had never seen a pencil. What would it have meant to him then? Probably nothing!

A child needs standards by which to measure all he encounters. The standards may be simple—but he uses them. With them he associates the things he wants to remember.

The Church provides your child with simple religious standards. He still needs your help to grasp the truth he must master. But the standards you and he learn at Church are the foundation of his character . . . the inspiration of your own. In his terms: the pencil with which tomorrow is written.

New Egg Hauling Machine

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moser who own and operate the Moser Egg Ranch 4½ miles south of Brooks have recently installed a new egg hauling machine. The machine which is installed in the egg handling room of their laying house candles, washes, sanitizes dries and grades the eggs electronically. Two people who work with this machine can handle 4,320 eggs in an hours time. The Mosers have approximately 6,336 hens in their laying house and with the aid of the machine which is the only one of its size in the area require much less hired help. Hank and Dodo deliver fresh eggs to nearly all the nearby towns with their egg van. The Mosers invite interested persons to come and see their operation and eggs may be purchased there at anytime

They have a good landscape value, nothing nicer than an apple tree in blossom or when loaded with fruit. The Red Duchess ripens early, the Dakota in midseason, and the well known and liked Haraldson for a winter keeper.

SAVE ON YOUR GROCERY BILL BY PLANTING YOUR OWN FRUIT.

Home grown raspberries and strawberries are by far the best for flavor. The Valentine rhubarb is sweeter and redder, the best for freezing. Plant rhubarb on the south side of a building for earliness.

"When the highest type of men hear the truth, they try hard to live in accordance with it; when the mediocre type hear the truth, they seem to be aware and yet unaware of it. When the lowest type hear the truth, they break into loud laughter. If it were not laughed at, it would not be the truth." —Lao-tse

Pro-Death Logic

"The pro-death movement is here. It is with us now. It is not some hypothetical something which might happen in the future. Pro-death logic decrees, in essence, that we are to dispose of the sufferer rather than attack the conditions which cause the suffering."

These are the words of Thomas St. Martin, president of the Minnesota Citizens Concerned for Life (MCCL).

"The basic orientation of our society is shifting," he says. "A society once firmly committed to fostering the will to live—a society which once, at least in theory, viewed life as a supreme and previous gift—the same society talks increasingly about massive abortion, suicide clinics, euthanasia and the 'right to die'."

St. Martin links abortion and euthanasia by stating that "from our willingness to accept pre-natal mercy killing, it is but a short step to post-natal mercy killing. We have increasing evidence of a fascination with humanitarian killing."

He termed pro-death logic a "dangerous kind of foolishness" which plays on lofty and humanitarian sentiments and "conjures up soap opera horror stories to tug at the heartstrings of a receptive public."

The MCCL president notes, however, that words like "killing" are not in the vocabulary of the promoters of these practices. And he asserts that questions of life and death deserve hard and searching answers. Then he poses these important questions:

"Does the right to live transcend the right to be wanted, the right to be loved and the right to be healthy?

"Does the right to live transcend sociological and economic considerations? When, if ever, can the deliberate taking of human life be justified?

"When and where does medicine's obligation to preserve aged or deformed life stop? How far are we morally required to go in keeping people alive?

"Where is the line between death with dignity and mercy killing, between death with dignity in its truest and fully human sense; between a natural death with genuine dignity and induced, planned "Mercy killing"?"

We must agree with St. Martin when he says the shift in values and the new ethic is really no more than "death for some as the doorway to a happier world for the favored few. . . .For those who are allowed to live, there is a world free of tragedy. A planned world; a world with no unwanted pregnancies; a world with no suffering, vegetating old people; a world in which the elite survivors, secure in their two-dimensional Quality of Life, may rejoice in their final victory over life.

"We may rejoice, amid the realization that survival at the expense of human-ness is a hollow victory; a final, ultimate rendevous with Living Death."

There may be a hint of overstatement to some of the remarks, but the underlying truth is evident in what the MCCL chairman says. Life is too precious a commodity to entrust to the whims of man. The right to live is certainly a primary right.

Paved With Gold

Following article was written by Bill Anderson in the Chicago Tribune:

By chance, I happened to work as a clerk in one of the first grocery supermarkets in the United States, and as a butcher's helper, stockboy, and cashier.

This did not make me an expert by any stretch of the imagination, but it did turn me into a grocery watcher with a little license to talk to the people over the years who have turned them into institutions widely copied all over the world.

The personal note is made only because of the news of the last few days about the high cost of living, with the spotlight on food. As usual, statistics are flying all over the place, and there are the good guys and bad guys, labor vs. business, with pitchforks sailing between farmers and chain store owners.

Congressional hearings are developing and our solons will be looking for villains and, just possibly, for a few votes. I submit that the blame for the high cost of food should be shared by the politicians.

Look at it this way: On the farms people get up early and work like crazy to fight the bugs, the weather, twisting oranges from trees, cutting lettuce and asparagus. These people pitch hay and chop weeds, shovel out the stalls, and spray the tomato plants.

Sure, there are machines today to make it easier and faster, and it is true that most ranches and farms are really big business. There are subsidies and tax clauses. But when these factors are coupled with the financing of machinery, the high cost of lands, and the risk factors caused by perishability and the vagaries of weather, it takes someone smarter than a Philadelphia lawyer to make it work.

It is not possible to run a farm or ranch by losing money and the people who do the physical parts are just as entitled to make a living as a bank clerk or teacher. So are the truckers, the slaughter houses, the trimmers, refrigerator owners, bakers, and the thousands of other people who get food to the store shelves and then ring the merchandise up as we go out carrying more food than anyone else any place.

Open up any newspaper to the grocery section and it is not hard to see how intense the competition is between stores. And looking back just a few years, it does not take a lot of statistics to see how the variety has grown and how many things are actually cheaper than in the "good old days." Chickens were 29 cents a pound here today. How much were they 20 years ago? Eggs? Milk? Is ground beef that much higher, especially when earning power is considered?

Yes indeed, it was great in the good old days to have an artful butcher slice off a T-bone or be able to telephone in an order. A bottle of milk and a pound of butter could be picked up at the kitchen door, too. Anyone remember how much it cost, though, and what the milkman made?

Regardless of whether you defend or attack the high cost of food, and it is higher on the average, there is far more of it today (10,000 separate items in some markets), and it takes less time to earn the money to purchase from this variety. The politicians can play all of the statistical games they want to, but most of us still get more food for less time investment than in the good old days.

If you want to find a villain in the area of inflation, look at the deduction side of your paycheck. How much was withheld in federal taxes this year as compared with previous years? Has your property tax increased? Sales tax? State income tax? Amusement tax? Corporate tax? What about the assessment on your home? Have taxes made apartments more expensive?

Look at food and see how many times it has been taxes. There are more taxes than yeast in a loaf of bread. Are you getting as much in government services for your tax dollar as you are for your food dollar? My own guess is that if the people and politicians in our governments were as efficient as the people in the food industry, our streets would be paved with gold.

Behind The Headlines

Following article is from the "First Monday" publication:

It is always wise to look behind the headlines. A good current example is the unemployment situation.

In February of 1972, the headlines showed the unemployment rate at 5.7 per cent, a slight decline from January.

That is a rate that pleases no one, and major administration efforts to drive it down even further are being continued all across the board.

But a close look at the details of that rate, however, shows that things might not be as bad as critics of the administration contend.

In February of 1972, for example, the unemployment rate for breadwinners—adult married males—was only 2.8 per cent. The unemployment rate for all adult men was four per cent.

The February figures showed that 1,356,000 of the total 5,412,000 unemployed were teenagers who work mostly at part-time after-school jobs. The teenagers, therefore, accounted for more than one fourth of the February unemployed, even though they constitute a minute segment of the nation's total work force.

In the unemployment statistics survey, a teenager who says he is looking for a job—usually a part-time job—but is unable to find one, counts just as much as a father who has just lost his job. While being statistically accurate, this hardly provides a full reflection of the realities of the unemployment picture.

Another dimension of the unemployment problem is obtained by studying the February figures for unemployed adult women. It showed a total unemployment in this category of 1,595,000.

Of that total, however, 37 per cent represented women who had been out of the labor market for some time, had just decided to seek work again and so far had not yet found a job. Forty-four per cent of the women unemployed had actually lost jobs.

While no one is satisfied with the overall picture, the details of the facts do tend to make a case that the unemployment situation may not be so critical in certain major categories—and that other categories provide a disproportionate impact to the headline figure of 5.7 per cent total unemployment.

Letters to the Editor

The Times
Thief River Falls, Minn.
Dear Mr. Lundin,

Monday night, April 24, a most wonderful group of singers presented a program of music which can only be described in superlatives. The Madrigals of Franklin junior high school presented an evening concert at United Methodist church before some of the luckiest people in town.

Three old English tunes; a modern variation on the old hymn "O Happy Day"; a delightful solo called "Come In, Sun"; a moving and quiet number, "He ain't Heavy—He's My Brother"; three songs from "West Side Story" entitled "America", an exuberant song that brought down the house, a love ballad "Maria" and a duet "Make of Our Hands" ended the chorus' portion of the first half.

A baritone solo, "Sea Fever", strongly sung, preceded the intermission. The second half included "I'd Like to Teach the World To Sing", and the harmony was terrific. "The 59th Street Bridege Song" (I always knew it as "Feelin' Groovy") gave the whole audience a lift. A solo, "He's Gone Away", and old Civil War song, sung in clear bell-like tones, as a perfect contrast.

Two choral pieces closed out the program. "The Water Is Wide", a haunting melody with a beautiful soprano descant, and "The Song Is Love" sent us away knowing we had been part of an event of signal importance. By reputation we've expected great things from director John Hustad's groups, but the articulation and polish of this group was exceptional.

An exceedingly well integrated program mixed the tender and melodious with the light and bouncy. Bravo to 24 young singers, and thanks for an electric, delightful, exuberant, joyous evening. Sheer pleasure! We'll look forward to "Lil Abner" later this Spring and hope Monday's concert will become an annual event.

Sincerely,
Jonathan Law

notes from the governor

Over the past five years, industrial accidents in Minnesota have claimed more than 1,300 lives and permanently disabled additional thousands of workers. Whether they be falls on construction projects, trench cave-ins, fires or electrical shocks, these accidents have taken—and continue to take—a terrible human and economic toll.

The State of Minnesota, proceeding under guidelines laid down in the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, is nearing completion of a state plan that should have major impact on reducing this toll.

Preparation of the Minnesota plan has been the responsibility of a team headed by Dr. Robert Bester, director of the Occupational Safety and Health Project in the State Planning Agency.

Elements of the plan, to be presented for my review by June 15, will include a historical review of occupational safety and health coverage in Minnesota, recommendations of a 28-member Governor's task force, and proposals for legislation to implement 28 mandatory regulations set forth in the federal law.

If approved by the federal government and acted on by the 1973 Legislature, the plan would add approximately 200,000 persons to the 800,000 now covered by the State Occupational Safety and Health Act passed in 1969.

The plan would be virtually all-inclusive, covering farm workers and state, county and municipal employees for the first time.

If a satisfactory state plan is not implemented, enforcement of the regulations set forth in the federal act would be taken over by the federal government.

The advantages of proceeding directly to implementation of a state plan are substantial, in my judgment. They include lower workmen's compensation insurance costs and an occupational safety and health law that is tailored to meet special Minnesota needs.

The interests of both labor and management in Minnesota, I believe, will be served by following such a course.

Among the approximately 30 speakers were Wilson Riles, superintendent of schools for the state of California; Ashley Montagu, anthropologist and author; Dr. William Glaser, psychiatrist and president of Reality Therapy of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Dr. John I. Increase In Food Stamp Program Is Announced

U.S. department of agriculture has announced increased coupon allotments for all participants in the food stamp program in the 48 contiguous states and the District of Columbia in accordance with provisions of the food stamp act of 1964, as amended.

The act requires that the value of the coupon allotment be adjusted annually to reflect changes in the prices of food published by the bureau of labor statistics.

In accordance with procedures developed a year ago, at the time of the last allotment revision, the department based the allotment increases on statistics from December of 1971. The amendment is announced at this time to allow states to implement the changes by the effective date of July 1. Amended allotment was scheduled for publication in the federal register on Wednesday.

In addition, the amendment increases maximum income eligibility standards and raises purchase requirements correspondingly for households at the upper end of the income scale. The cost of increased benefits will be approximately $200 million. No household will receive a reduction in benefits as a result of this amendment.

Allotments of food stamps are geared to the cost of the USDA economy diet, with the amount of money paid by households not to exceed 30 per cent of income. Based on bureau of labor statistics data, the cost of the economy food plan for December of 1971 was $111.10 for a family of four with school children.

Accordingly, USDA raised the value of the coupon allotment from $108 to $112 for a family of four and made appropriate adjustments for other household sizes. Maximum income standard for the four-person household will increase from $360 to $373 nationally.

National maximum eligibility standards starting July 1 are:

One, $178; two, $233; three, $307; four, $373; five, $440; six, $507; seven, $573; and eight, $640.

Each additional household member over eight will add $16 to the eight-person household stamp allotment and $53 to the eligibility level.

FLYING AIRPLANES isn't enough excitement for Gary Forsberg, formerly associated with Forsbergs, Inc., in Thief River Falls and now a pilot for United Airlines. He has recently contracted motorcycle fever and looks upon cycling as yet another new sport to be tested and savored. One of his hobbies is flying World War II military aircraft and he owns a former military trainer.

Forsberg Ranks As Longest Commuter

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

A MATTER OF TIME is the only complexity for Gary Forsberg, who claims the distinction of being "Thief River Falls' longest commuter". A pilot for United Airlines, he flies Boeing 737 aircraft out of Chicago and alternates his residence between his mother's house in Thief River Falls and a "swinging singles" apartment complex in Chicago. His commuting distance from here to work is about 700 miles—but he can leave here at 3 p.m. and be ready for work in Chicago at 6:30 p.m.

"And you think you got troubles commuting?"

Gary Forsberg asked the question merely to illustrate his own situation. The Thief River Falls native is a pilot for United Airlines and headquarters in Chicago, but lists his mother's house in Thief River Falls his alternate home. Since he is here every couple of weeks, he considers himself a commuter for the 700-mile jaunt to the Windy City.

Commute 700 miles?

"It's not as bad as it may sound," Forsberg said during an informal visit on his last stay here. "I can catch a North Central flight at 3 p.m. and be in Minneapolis at 4:30. I'm out of Minneapolis at 5 p.m. on a United flight and in Chicago about 6 o'clock. By 6:30 I'm ready to go to work and will pilot a flight leaving at 8 p.m. I fly for three days and then I have four days off again."

A 1952 graduate of Lincoln high school, Forsberg was associated with Forsberg's, Inc., of Thief River Falls until 1964. Looking for more individual challenge "or something", he left the family corporation in 1964 and headed for California. In 1965 he joined United Airlines as a pilot and has been flying for the company since that time.

Fond of the Midwest and its people, he requested assignment to Chicago and his flights originate there. Since United flies only in the United States and to Hawaii (except for some overseas contract work for Uncle Sam) all of his flying has been done in this country. He has flown DC-6 and DC-8 aircraft and is now flying the Boeing 737.

Having an intense interest in World War II aircraft—flying them as well as seeking to have them preserved—he is a member of the Warbirds of America. The Warbirds are a sport aviation group dedicated to the preservation and flying of World War II aircraft. Gary himself owns a T-6 trainer which he flies to air shows and for his own enjoyment. He had the plane in Thief River Falls during the Diamond Jubilee.

Through the Warbirds of America, he has met two of the most notable pilots of World War II. One is Pete Townsend of England, who is perhaps as well known for his romantic ties with Princess Margaret some years ago as for his aerial exploits during the war.

The other is Erich Hartmann of Germany, who Forsberg describes in glowing terms as the greatest combat pilot of all time. Gary first met Hartmann three years ago at an air show in Milwaukee, Wis. A year ago they

Scout Exposition Has Large Crowd Sunday

ROPE MAKING from twine was demonstrated by these two members of Boy scout troop 60 during one phase of the scout exposition Sunday afternoon at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Methods of splicing rope were also shown by the troop. An estimated 3,500 people attended the event which was held from 2 to 6 p.m.

Attendance was estimated at 3,500 people at the annual Boy scout exposition held Sunday afternoon at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls. Cub scouts, Boy scouts and Explorers participated in the event from the Penn-Ro-Shall district and competed against a pre-set standard for ribbon placings.

Adding interest and enthusiasm to the event was the appearance of approximately 80 scouts from the Seven Oaks district of Manitoba. Included among these youngsters were a number of Beavers, a new Canadian scouting unit for boys five through seven years of age.

Audience participation was at a high level as one part of the competition was to involve viewers in the activities. Purpose of the exposition is to show the public some of the projects and interest fields of the various packs, troops and posts.

All of the Cub packs participating in the exposition qualified for the blue ribbon symbolic of top placing against the pre-set standard. These include Pack 54 led by Mrs. Sovdee from Greenbush on "Cub Scout Showmanship"; Pack 57 led by Oscar Elshaug of Thief River Falls on "Cub Scout Advancement"; Pack 60 led by Wallace Heaton of Thief River Falls on "Hands Around the World"; Pack 199 led by Dale Dillon of Thief River Falls, "Spirit of '76"; Pack 199 led by Rick Contos of Thief River Falls, on "Geology"; Pack 79 led by Mrs. Seng of Karlstad on "Bicycle Safety"; Pack 150 led by Ralph Rundell of Grygla on "Birds"; Seven Oaks Beavers on "Beavering"; and Seven Oaks cubs on "Way Up North".

Only two Boy scout troops gained blue ribbons during the exposition and included Troop 53 led by Dave Sorvig of St. Hilaire on "Weather" and Troop 56 led by Conrad Lommen of Roseau on "First Aid".

Receiving red ribbons were Troop 57 led by Ron Brenner of Thief River Falls on "First Aid Methods"; Troop 59 led by Jerry Wedul of Thief River Falls on "Winter Survival"; Troop 60 led by Irving Swanson of Thief River Falls on "Rope and Knots"; Troop 199 led by Orville Botner of Thief River Falls on "Animals and Tracks"; Troop 145 led by Sheldon Qualley of Middle River on "Second Class Requirements"; and the Seven Oaks district scouts on "First Aid".

Explorer Post 46 of Thief River Falls, led by Dan Dowers, received a red ribbon for the theme "Exploring the Under Sea World".

Blue participating ribbons in non-competitive exhibits were given to the Oakland Park nursing home, Valley home, Jack Fredeen and his antiques, Mrs. Medi Cota on liquid embroidery, Mrs. Gertrude Kuver on Christmas tree ornaments, Richard Farmes on insects, Stanley Larmoe on rocks and the Agassiz Anitque Car club.

Yellow participant ribbons were awarded to the Order of the Arrow booth manned by Steve Phelps, the Bjorkman's scout equipemnt booth and the Girl Scout booth, as well as oil painting exhibitors. The latter included Jill McClure, Mavis Haglund, D. Hoppersett, Mary Furuseth, Paul Furuseth, Joy Rhoden, Mrs. Enar Karlsson, Dwight Norrell, Fred Brodin and Mary Lundquist.

Heading the awards committee was Ron Fitch with judges including Howard Thorson, Morris Owen, Florian Kritz, Vic Kalinoski, Richard Lyttle and William Wood. General chairman was Art Heinze.

FIRST AID to injured using materials at hand was demonstrated by the Boy scouts in troop 57 from Thief River Falls at the scout exposition Sunday afternoon. Here a rolled newspaper is being used as an emergency splint to immobilize an injured arm. More photos will be printed in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

Selected Area Groups Will Be Subjects Of Test

Third and sixth graders in Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls and Goodridge are part of a group of randomly selected students in Minnesota who will be tested May 15-19 in a state-wide pilot testing program developing test materials for Minnesota's department of education.

The tests are part of an assessment program which will eventually be avialable to educators to evaluate performance levels in reading and mathematics; attitudes toward school, schoolwork, themselves and others; and other social concerns.

Tests will be administered in 246 classes in 120 of Minnesota's public school districts. Fifty-three classes in 52 private schools from 40 communities will also participate.

Council Action Includes Report

Thief River Falls city council had a busy evening Tuesday. After instructing city attorney Robert Wurst to prepare charges against police chief Roland E. Waller, the council listened to Greg Carter of the science club at Lincoln high school who presented slides showing pollution and its effects in Thief River Falls and particularly of the rivers in the Thief River Falls area. Greg was accompanied by Kathy Olson, Kathy Wald and Val Kalsnes of the science club.

The slides were taken as part of the study made by members of the science club in which they took a canoe trip on the Red Lake river and observed the effects of pollution. Tests for bacteria were also made and showed great differences in the bacteria count in various parts of the river.

A second water sample has been taken and will be tested for bacteria. This test is expected to be completed in about one week. When the results are available the Times will carry a complete story about the science club's study.

The third reading of an ordinance modifying the conditions of employment of persons under the age of 18 in places licensed for the sale of non-intoxicating liquors was approved.

The council discussed a present city ordinance which requires that city employees reside within the city limits. It was mentioned that several city employees are planning to move out of the city. Members of the council will meet with these individuals and others who are presently living out of the city before taking action.

The council accepted a bid from Tunberg Motor company for a truck for the street department at a cost of $4,385. Bids for a police car are being held for further discussion.

Plans were made to meet with Frank Phillips, representative for the Teamsters union, May 16 as he has requested.

An informal meeting with the fair board, curling club, school board and planning commission to discuss the buildings and activities at the fairgrounds is expected to be held this week.

A complaint was received from Vivian Heibert who said that there is an offensive odor where she lives and she said it originates at Peterson - Biddick's operations.

Dr. H. P. Wendt, city health officer, submitted his resignation effective today (Monday). The council accepted it after deciding that Dr. Wendt could not be persuaded to change his mind.

A complaint has been received about the young people who congregate in the area near the corner of LaBree avenue and Third street. Property owners and citizens have been annoyed by the behavior of some of the individuals and their actions have been considered a nuisance. The matter was discussed but no solution was readily available.

Minnesota Safety Council Wins National Award

Award for best performance by a state safety council in defensive driving course training in the United States in 1971 has been won by the Minnesota safety council, according to Howard Pyle, president of the national safety council.

Thirty-six thousand people have graduated from defensive driving course sessions in Minnesota.

"It is appropriate that we make this announcement as the Minnesota kick-off for national defensive driving week, which begin April 30," Pyle said. "This first national defensive driving week is intended to remind the American driver that traffic safety begins with his own performance behind the wheel of his car."

Defensive driving couse is an eight-hour program restricted to licensed drivers to improve driving safety skills. Eighty-five per cent of all accidents are attributed to driver errors contributing to over 55,000 deaths annually plus two million disabling injuries.

"Most driving errors can be traced to the lack of training," L. M. Schooley, head of the safety council's defenseve driving program pointed out, "and the majority of the drivers on our roads today have not learned accident avoidance skills".

Volunteer instructors, trained by the Minnesota safety council and approved by national safety council, present the course utilizing films, visual aids and lectures. In these sessions, licensed, adult drivers learn how to try to make every automobile trip safely despite the poor driving habits and mistakes of other drivers and in spite of adverse driving conditions.

Information on defensive driving course training may be obtained by calling or writing to Minnesota Safety Council, 315 Hamm Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55102.

Graded Basis Is Used In Sales Of Feeder Pigs

Wisconsin feeder pig marketing cooperative is the first organization in Wisconsin to buy and sell feeder pigs strictly on a graded basis.

Initiating its new program on April 1, the co-op has adopted its own grade names. They are Northland select, Northland choice and Northland good pigs.

According to co-op director of production Paul Schink, who is in charge of the project, the grade titles were selected to reflect the strong genetic base in Wisconsin feeder pig marketing co-op pigs.

Schink comments that "Our No. 1 pig has the inherent ability to grow rapidly and convert feed cheaply and can reflect management improvement and our sow and gilt selection programs."

Pigs are graded on members' farms by cooperative fieldmen. However, the final grading is accomplished at the co-op assembly barn.

"Northland select" feeder pigs are long and have thick muscling particularly evident in the thick ham and shoulders. No pig can be graded "Northland select" unless it has a big and strong frame and is moderately heavy to heavy muscled. These pigs should produce a U.S. No. 1 or a U.S. No. 2 carcass when slaughtered at 220 pounds.

"Northland coice," Schink says, "would be feeder pigs which generally are shorter and smaller framed with finer bone. They may have moderately heavy muscling but because of their short bodies will have heavy amounts of fat at 220 pounds. These pigs can be expected to produce a No. 3 carcass when slaughtered."

"Northland good pigs are generally of the U.S. utility grade and will display extremely light muscling and poor quality, a general lack of thriftiness. Some of these pigs may produce a carcass of a U.S. No. 4 grade at 220 pounds.

WEPMC management says there are two basic categories of production for producers to consider. The first would be the quality of the boars being used by the producer and the second is the capability of the sows to produce superior feeder pigs.

The cooperative has also developed a sow classification system with categories of select, choice and good. Cooperative members participating in this voluntary program, which also started April 1, will have a "Farm Inspection Report" completed on their farms.

Wisconsin feeder pig marketing cooperative operates in a four-state area, from eastern Wisconsin to the Dakotas, with main headquarters at Francis Creek, Wis., and western division headquarters at Sauk Centre, Dr. Norbert A. Dahlke is general manager.

Employment Here Down 739 From Previous Month

Employment in Thief River Falls dropped 739 workers and stood at 4,906 in mid-March 1972. This is 143 fewer than were employed in a similar period a year ago.

Moderate losses were reported in retail trade and construction industries. Small losses also were noted in wholesale trade, and transportation. These reductions can be attributable to seasonal factors and are expected to be of short duration.

Employment gains were indicated in the finance, service and government groups.

It is anticipated that employment will increase substantially in the coming months but will not approach record-breaking totals of 1971. Forecasts indicate that much of the increase will develop in the second quarter of 1972 and remain for the balance of the year.

The supply of workers is expected to increase sharply with the upcoming influx of students seeking employment for the vacation period.

Any employer that could use one or more of these youngsters for their summer operations should notify the local office of manpower services as soon as possible.

The office of manpower services also reminds area employers who need permanent help, trained in their operations, that they may be able to secure federal assistance to reimburse 50 per cent of the starting salary for hiring and providing on-the-job training for a veteran. Interested employers may obtain additional information from the local office of manpower services.

Notices Sent To Red Lake County Property Owners

Notices of "increase in Value" are being mailed from the county assessor's office to owners of property in Red Lake county who have had an increase in estimated market value in the 1972 assessments.

The law states that the assessor shall notify "in writing and by ordinary mail" the owners of any real taxable property if such property has been valued at an amount greater than it was the previous year. It also states that failure to receive such notice shall in no way affect the validity of the assessment, the resulting tax or the procedures of any board of review.

Approximately 1,500 such notices will be or have been mailed to owners of real property at an added cost of about $500 to the county. "It should be understood that this does not mean that everyone who receives a notice will have an increase in taxes but that he will only be carrying his 'fair share' of the total tax burden," states Jesse DuChamp, Red Lake county assessor.

Dates of the boards of review are given on each notice enabling property owners to obtain more information if they so desire. Questions that may come up after receiving this letter could possibly be cleared up at the county assessor's office before this meeting.

The March valuation for Minnesota increased from $49,092,000 in 1971 to $63,590,000 in 1972. Cumulative total for the first three months of 1972 was $216,770,000 compared with $125,923,000 recorded during 1971.

Mondale Sponsors Program To Aid Retired Persons

"In an effort to help provide a decent and dignified retirement for our senior citizens I have introduced a 14 point legislative program this week that would make significant improvement in social security and medicare benefits and provide relief from property taxes," writes Sen. Walter Mondale.

"These improvements are needed because the elderly are caught in a vicious squeeze of fixed incomes and steadily rising costs. In our state of Minnesoa, the average social security benefit is only $128 a month and nearly five per cent of that must be used just to pay the part B medicare payment for doctors' fees and professional services.

"We simply must do better for the 400,000 elderly Minnesotans and the millions of senior citizens who rely so heavily on social security and medicare. We must enact legislation this year that makes a major commitment to their very real needs. The package that I have proposed would make the kind of commitment that is so necessary," he said.

"Under my proposal, social security beneficiaries would receive a 25 per cent across-the-board increase in benefits. Social security experts assure me that a 25 per cent increase can be funded with no increase in the payroll tax and only minor changes in financing elsewhere.

"The proposal also provides a minimum onthly social security benefit of $100 for an individual and $150 for a couple. Retirees would receive automatic cost-of-living increases, and would be allowed to earn $2,400 a year without losing benefits.

"My package specifically requires that improvements in Social Security benefits be given to those who are already retired," Sen. Mondale added.

"Several changes also would be made in the Medicare program. The part B payment would be eliminated, as would the requirement that elderly hospital patients pay for the first three pints of blood they may require. The proposal also would include out of hospital drug costs under medicare.

"Elderly homeowners and renters with incomes below $6,000 a year would receive relief under the property tax provision in my package. They would be allowed a credit against federal income tax for that portion of the property tax that is considered excessive.

"I included this provision because far too many elderly people are being forced out of their homes by property taxes—homes in which they have spent a lifetime. Minnesota has a state law that helps elderly property taxpayers, but we need national legislation, too," he added.

"A 14-part package is, of course, a very large order. But it is the least we can do for those who have earned a better deal in their old age. I hope my proposals will be accepted when the Senate considers them in the next few weeks."

Wefald Testifies At Hearing On Trucking Problem

Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald has charged the large trucking interests would deal a crippling blow to the rural Minnesota economy if a state regulatory change they seek is approved.

"The change," Wefald charged, "would practically eliminate the state's rural livestock and grain haulers."

He was joined by spokesmen from the major farm organizations, rural livestock haulers and a score of state legislators in the strong rural protest registered at a public hearing convened April 11 by the Minnesota public service commission before an overflow crowd in the state office building auditorium in St. Paul.

Opposition focused on proposed redefining of the permit livestock hauler as one who derives more than 50 per cent of his business, by weight and revenue, by hauling livestock.

Commissioner Wefald and State Representative Harry Peterson charged the proposal is a power-play by the big trucking corporations to put practically all of the state's livestock haulers out of business by depriving them of the back-haul service they now provide for farmers and small businesses throughout rural Minnesota.

"As commissioner of agriculture, I'm increasingly sick and tired of the trends to bigness in every area of American life—big government, big corporations, big universities, big farming conglomerates — while our so-called experts stand by and watch the disappearance of our churches, schools, family farms and small businesses in rural America," Commissioner Wefald testified.

"I'm opposed to bigness for the sake of bigness. Sooner or later in America we're going to have to bring in the human equation. Rural Americans have families to feed, too," he continued.

"For too long our rural rail lines have been neglected and then abandoned left and right by our big corporations. Now, if proposed "rule 1, section q" is adopted, this will be not only a blow to our rural livestock and grain haulers, but it will be a blow to every small town businessman and farmer who depends upon them. In short, instead of limiting opportunities for these small town businessmen we should start widening and broadening the opportunities," Commissioner Wefald declared.

Select Notions To Be Compatible With Fabrics

Notions always add to the cost of a garment but frequently mean the difference between something appearing homemade or professional. Sarah Cox, assistant professor in clothing, University of Minnesota, indicates that notions must be compatible with the garment. There are many types of threads on the market, but select the one which will work best with your fabric.

A polyester knit requires the all-polyester thread with built in stretch. For cotton knits, choose cotton-bound polyester. It has both stretch and fiber compatibility. The use of silk thread with quality wool fabric is advisable. Both silk and wool are animal fibers so have similar characteristics.

Choose thread that is slightly darker than your fabric as the thread will appear lighter when sewn, says Miss Cox. For topstitching she recommends silk buttonhole twist or a double strand of sewing thread.

Match zippers as closely as possible to the predominant color of the fabric. Choose a weight that is appropriate to your fabric, too. Zippers are heavy-duty or slender depending upon the use.

Buttons trim the garment, so select them carefully. If your garment is washable, purchase buttons that will take similar treatment. The same is true of dry cleanable garments. If you use braids, tapes or ribbons, use a similar rule. Be sure dark-colored trims do not fade on the fashion fabric.

Snaps and hooks should be chosen according to fabric weight and function. Use black on dark garments, silver on light garments. In most cases, thread eyes are less conspicuous than metal ones and hold equally well. There are also lightweight plastic closures which are invisible on the garment, according to Miss Cox.

AHA Executive Voices Objection To HEW Proposal

Regulations proposed by the secretary of health, educaton and welfare requiring that hospitals increase their charity work in order to qualify for and retain Hill-Burton funding "is seeking to relieve a governmental responsibility by further burdening the private institution," according to a statement by the American Hospital association.

"The failure of government at the national, state and local levels to pay in full for services provided to the beneficiaries of these governmental programs adds severely to the financial crisis faced by health care institutions," said Madison B. Brown, M.D., acting executive president of the AHA, on behalf of the nation's hospitals. "In addition, although we have tried to cooperate fully with Phase II regulations, hospitals have increased financial problems because of these restrictions."

On April 18, Secretary Richardson proposed that all health care facilities, which have received Hill-Burton grants, loans or loan guarantees, provide free services to the poor at a level of not less than five per cent of their total operating costs or not less than 25 per cent of their net incomes, whichever is greater.

Dr. Brown emphasized that AHA has and will continue to support the broad objective of high quality health care for all people, and that this support is currently being demonstrated through services for the poor and near poor in hospitals.

He further stated that the association is "gravely concerned" by the implications for hospitals of the secretary's recommendations and is preparing a detailed statement of specific objections to those recommendations.

Chief's Corner

— by —

Roland E. Waller, Chief
Thief River Falls Police Dep't.

With my name in the headlines this past week, I thought I might give a little insight into what it's like being a chief of police. I am borrowing some thoughts from Law and Order magazine. It's the toughest job on the department.

Working here is tense, tempestuous and traumatic. It's tense in that the next telephone call or visitor may come up with the most novel or demanding problem. You don't know what that telephone ring will bring. It's tempestuous in that our area constantly rings with voices of those who think their case is the one that should have special consideration or "that officer should not have picked on me."

It may be that disorderly drunk driver that just will not be put in that cell. It may be just a group of children up visiting the department. It's traumatic when you get a situation like last fall when the two young men were killed in the auto accident or a very serious crime such as robbery or murder is committed.

The job of chief is a position of trust rather than glory. You are looked upon with a certain awe and respect but rarely loved. You are tolerated, not honored. More often the chief is hindered rather than helped. It definitely is no popularity contest. It is rather a semi-military operation where life is at stake much of the time, and human rights and welfare are always at stake.

By its very nature the job provokes resistance and opposition. Why? Because we must urge people to do something they know they should do but resent having to do. It is a job that reflects itself in criticism, rumor mongering, and as now, in outright character assassination. Who is the target? None other than the chief. It has been said that the greatest tribute that any chief can hope for is that he is firm, fair and honest.

There are three periods in the life of any chief. The honeymoon period, the inevitable test, and the sufferance period. The honeymoon period is the greatest. This is the time the new chief should get the most accomplished. He is the answer to the law enforcement problems of the city. He must work fast during this period. This is the time he can demonstrate his ability because he gets the much needed cooperation. We were able to get a reorganization of the department, a new car, and a new man during this time. I am very thankful for these accomplishments. We were able to get some remodeling done in the department. This period rarely lasts a year.

Then comes the inveitable test. I have had several tests and I am going through the greatest test right now. This is the time when local officials begin probing the character of the chief. His firmness, his fairness, his honesty is put to the extreme stress point to see how he reacts. If he holdf fast, just listen to the screams of protest. "You're too tough." "It isn't as nice around here as it was before you came." "Why are you always picking on my kid." "Why aren't you catching those other guys." "You're not using good judgment." "Why wasn't I warned this time?" This he must expect even if it means his job is threatened. They may even get the job. The action during this time is better, violent and VINDICTIVE.

If the chief passes the test period, he then moves into the sufferance period. This is his lot for the rest of his time of service. It is the time of truce or armistice. The public has accepted the fact that he will not be bluffed, bullied or bribed even though the bribe may be as subtle as a free newspaper. It definitely does not mean his job is secure, but hopefully he has the respect of the public. By this time he will have gained powerful enemies. They may respect him and probably will be fearful of him. They will watch him day and night for the slightest slip. THEY ARE OUT TO GET HIM SOMEHOW.

During this time he will have gained some good friends also. Most of these are in the so-called silent majority. Hopefully they will fight for him if they are kept informed. This is why I try to get out and talk to anyone that will listen to me. This is why I keep trying to get information into the column that the TIMES has so willingly provided for me. I welcome your inquiries as to rumors or stories floating around. I welcome your visits to the department. If you see me walking by, stop me and talk. If you have a question, please ask. I need your help.

Jorgenson Has Role In 'Elijah'

Phillip Jorgenson of Thief River Falls will be a soloist in Mendelssohn's "Elijah" which will be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. by Bemidji's civic oratorio society in Memorial hall gymnasium at Bemidji state college, according to Dr. Paul Brandvik, conductor for the oratorio.

"Elijah", which was completed in 1846, was Felix Mendelssohn's second work in the oratorio vein. It represents the final stage of sacred drama for the era and excels in unusual effects and dramatic impact.

Enlistment In Advanced Grades Now Available

Enlistments in advance pay grades are now available within two of the Navy's recently inaugurated enlistment programs, navy recruiter Bill Bashaw recently announced.

Qualified young men can now enlist in paygrades E-2 or E-3, which would mean a monthly starting salary of $320.70 or $333.60 respectively, according to Chief Petty Officer Bashaw. Advanced grades apply to the occupational specialty and the seafarer-airman programs.

To qualify for enlistment in pay grade E-2 the applicant must be a high school graduate and have completed 20 semester hours, or 30 quarter hours, of college credits; or have completed one year of vocational training, after high school graduation.

Enlistment in pay grade E-3 requires completion of 45 or more semester hours, or 67 or more quarter hours, of college credits; or two years of vocational training, after high school graduation.

"The seafarer and airman program, which is the Navy's new three-year enlistment option and guarantees a young man's choice of costs, has been modified to include additional guarantees," said Bashaw. "Under the Seafarer Program, for instance, the applicant can choose on - the - job training in the general shipboard, engineering, or construction categories."

The occupational specialty program guarantees a qualified applicant a school in one of 14 occupational specialties, which cover 67 class "A" Navy schools.

met again and visited at St. Louis, Mo. Last January Gary was in Germany and spent a day with Hartmann at his retirement home in Porz Wahn near Cologne, Germany.

"This man has a fantastic story," Forsberg said. "Let me give you some of the high points. Hartmann was taught to fly in 1939 by his mother, who ran a glider pilot school. He was drafted into the German Luftwaffe (air force) in 1941, attended the equivalent of officer candidate school and cadet training, and was ready for combat late in 1942. He arrived on the Russian front in 1943.

"In two years of combat he shot down 352 Allied aircraft, with those kills confirmed by standards more exacting than our own. Confirmation required gun camera documentation plus observation by at least one man on the ground who saw the plane hit the ground. In addition to the 352 kills, Hartman had 190 'probables' in that two-year period.

"Hartmann shot down the amazing total of 13 planes in one day. Seven times his own plane was shot down and six times it was knocked out of the air by debris from the airplane he had destroyed—but he came out of the war without suffering a scratch from combat.

"With absolute nerves of steel, Hartmann would close on an opposing aircraft to a distance of sometimes only 100 yards before firing his four 20mm cannons. He never missed."

By comparison, Forsberg noted that the United States' premier flying ace of World War II was Major Richard L. Bong of Poplar Grove, Wis., who accounted for 43 enemy aircraft in four years of flying in the Pacific theater of operations. The Germans, he said, had 96 aces with kill totals of 100 aircraft or more.

Circumstances contributed to the high German totals. By the nature of their location, they would be in combat within minutes of leaving the ground. If shot down, it was frequently over their own territory where their chance of survival was good and they could fly again—often on the same day.

But Hartmann's story did not end with the war. When the American tanks rolled onto the airfield where Hartmann was stationed, the German ace and his fellow pilots had lined up 35 airplanes, doused them with gasoline and machine-gunned them to keep them from falling into American hands. They then surrendered to the advancing American forces.

Because of an agreement made by U.S. authorities, however, captured pilots from the Russian front were turned over to the Russians. Hartmann spent 10 long years in Russian prisons until released by direct intervention by German Chancellor Conrad Adenauer in 1955.

Given command in the federal West German air force in 1956, he was later sent to the United States to check out U.S. fighter planes. Hd spent much time here, learned to speak English well and enjoys being in this country. He has even been made an honorary member of the 20th Air Force which saw much German action during World War II. Now 50 years of age, he has taken an early retirement from the West German air force.

Forsberg visited Hartmann on a trip which took mim to Paris, Rome, Athens, and Israel before Germany. He was given a tour of the front lines in Israel "and almost got shot, by the way. A sentry had his rifle leveled at us; we must have stepped across the line or something," Gary said.

Noting that the Israeli air force is comprised primarily of mercenary pilots, many of them American, he chuckled at Hartmann's greeting upon his arrival at the Cologne airport. "Vat vas you doing in Israel, Gary?" the German ace asked. "You vas looking for a job as a fighter pilot, maybe?"

Commenting that he had once applied for a job with Air America while in California, he ventured the opinion that Air America is "nothing more than the air wing of the C.I.A. (Central Intelligence Agency) and does all the 'cloak and dagger' flying for the United States around the world. The pay is good but the risk is pretty high."

While dwelling on the accomplishments of Hartmann, Forsberg emphasized that he flies with many of the American aces every day. Many of them are now commercial pilots with high seniority in this nation's airlines. An 'ace' is a pilot who has accounted for five or more enemy aircraft.

Nazism has now disappeared in Germany, Forsberg said, with only artifacts in the hands of collectors or former military men outside that country remaining. It is illegal in Germany to have in possession anything with a swatika on it, he said.

An admirer of German aircraft, which he said were often much superior to what the Allies had to offer, he almost had a chance in Germany to fly the last remaining Me 262 Messerschmitt. This jet aircraft was in production near the end of the war and far ahead of the best U.S. planes in speed and armament. It is owned by the Deutsche museum in Munich and Gary had a cockpit check-out but it rained the day he was scheduled to fly.

In addition to airplanes, Gary is interested in old cars and now owns a 1928 Chrysler sedan, a 1930 Model A Ford and a 1946 Lincoln Cabrolet. Recently he has taken an interest in motorcycles, and has one of those in Thief River Falls for use while here.

Although much of his time is spent in the air over many different parts of the United States, Forsberg says he has never really detached his roots from Thief River Falls. And we guess that qualifies him for the title as the community's most long distance commuter.

"This is the miracle that happens every time to those who really love: the more they give, the more they possess of that precious nourishing love from which flowers and children have their strength and which could help all human beings if they would take it without doubting. . . . : —Rainer Maria Rilke

Technncally Perfect

Extremely accurate splash-down Thursday by the Apollo 16 space ship ended a technically perfect voyage to the moon. The astronauts performed what they were expected to perform and returned with what they were expected to collect, arriving on schedule for splash-down within a mile of the waiting recovery ship.

Perhaps it is the technical perfection of the moon shots that causes the general public to be somewhat apathetic about them. In spite of the minor problems encountered and emphasized by the television coverage, the trip of Apollo 16 was so smooth as to be almost boring.

Americans want excitement in the events they follow. They go to auto races to see a crash. They go to boxing matches to see a knockout. They go to professional hockey games to see a brawl. They follow golfers to watch the pros blow a two-foot putt. They look for the unordinary, the bizarre, the tragic.

After the first human footprint was placed on the moon, Americans began to look upon future trips as commonplace. Excitement? A little at blast-off, a little at lunar landing, a little more at splash-down. Good shot. Good show. Ho hum. What's next? This is the American attitude.

The marvel of the whole situation is that science has devised methods and materials and equipment which can make such outstanding feats at lunar exploration so methodical and foolproof that the elements of danger and the unexpected seem so far removed. Something must be said for technical perfection.

The Good Word

As a result of the efforts of hard-working translators over many years, the Holy Bible has now been translated into 1,473 languages and dialects with 500 liguists around the world now working on some 500 new versions.

In South Africa, we read, missionaries are busy converting the New Testament into a curious bushman dialect called Kung, in which clicks of the tongue act as consonant sounds. Scholars working with the missionaries note that the sounds of Kung are unwritten and the vocabulary is limited. They are determined at their task, however, knowing that translation of the Bible into the related Nama language took from 1825 to 1967.

Missionaries have translated all or parts of the Scriptures into such languages as Ogoni, spoken in Nigeria; Kekchi, used by some Guatemalan Indians; Kambera, an Indonesian togue; and Mao Naga, an Assamese dialect.

Field translation does have some problems. One translator in the Solomon islands found that he had translated the Psalmist's phrase "the wild asses quench their thirst" into "the cannibal pigs drink water to stop hiccoughs."

A missionary in the Congo performed his own miracle when he transformed "five loaves and two fishes" into "five loaves and two elephants".

Among the Tarahumara Indians of Mexico a missionary attempted to obtain the word for jump by acting it out. The Indians chorused an expression which the clergyman happily recorded, only to learn later that it meant "what's wrong with you?"

Another translator thought he was writing "nation shall rise up against nation" in an Eskimo dialect, but made an error of one letter in a 17-letter word and actually wrote "a pair of snowshoes shall rise up against a pair of snowshoes"

Language was not the only problem in Bible translating. William Tyndale was strangled at the stake as a heretic in 1536 for translating the Bible into everyday English. When the King James version appeared in 1611, one noted scholar was quoted as saying, "I had rather be rent in peices with wild horses than any such translation by my consent should be urged upon poor churches. The new edition crosseth me, I require it to be burnt."

But the translations have been made and the central theme has been preserved over the years and into nearly all parts of the world. The Good Word has been changed but has been made available to more people and more understandable to others.

One of the recent translations, a work of 16 years by Kenneth Taylor of Chicago, is now being published under the name "Living Bible". It was inspired by the translator's child after he had explained a passage from the King James version by paraphrasing it. "Then why didn't they say so?" the youngster had asked. The new translation is intended to say so.

Tax Rebellion

Following editorial is from the Morris Sun:

"Taxation without representation" was the spark that fired the tinder of the American Revolution. Now, nearly 200 years later, taxation threatens to once again ignite rebellion—a taxpayers' rebellion against the property tax. President Nixon has called the property tax ". . .one of the most oppressive and discriminatory of all taxes."

The magazine Business Week has presented a history of the property tax and an analysis of its growing inequities that have led to court actions such as that in New Jersey where the operation of the property tax as a way to finace education was held illegal under the New Jersey Constitution. The property tax has been the principal means of financing local government. In the beginning, it was a reasonably equitable tax. As Business Week states: "There was a time in U. S. history when the property tax did make a great deal of economics sense. In Colonial days wealth meant farmland, buildings livestock, jewelry—items that could be seen and touched. The property tax then was a levy on wealth, and people could accept ti as such because real wealth was a good proxy of a person's ability to pay a just amount for services rendered by society."

Today, the story is far different. Tangible property is no longer necessarily a measure of wealth. Today, people have stocks, bonds, savings accounts and other intangibles often worth far more than their real estate. In other words, the mere ownership of a home or property is no indication of wealth or the ability to pay a progressively higher property tax.

In another respect, the property tax of today is far from fair. Its benefits bear little relation to its burden. In his book, "The Politics and Economics of State-Local Finance," economist L. L. EckerRacz writes, "Since we now move about freely, the beneficiarie of today's education, health, or welfare expenditures financed by the property owners of one community are tomorrow likely to be residents of another community. For this reason, it is neither logical nor fair to continue to distribute the cost of education and welfare services in proportion to the assessed value of property to which people happen to hold title."

The sheer growth of the property tax, aside from its inequities, is a primary source of taxpayer resentment. Business Week reports that the property tax brings in some $40 billion a year— double the total of a decade ago and rising by nearly 10 per cent a year. Sixty per cent of the property tax burden falls on the homeowner and 40 per cent on business. In some states, the tax has risen far more rapidly than the national average. In California, property taxes have climbed by 147 per cent in the last decade. Not only is the property tax inequitable in present-day society, but it is also regressive. It has accelerated the deterioration of inner-city neighborhoods by penalizing property improvements. Property tax levies have developed a vicious cycle. Cities desperate for funds boost property tax rates. Each increase drives more businesses and homeowners away. Thurs, the tax base narrows, and remaining property taxpayers are left with an even heavier burden.

Property tax relief—and reform—are now recognized as essential. But with the outgo of government at all levels soaring, the prospects of any real tax relief, property or otherwise, looks anything but promising. Plans for a national sales tax and other schemes to make taxes less offensive and confiscatory will no doubt run into stonewall opposition from affected groups. In the long run, a relative slowdown in the expansion of government services, benefits and subsidies must accompany tax relief. Whatever happens, however, with regard to the general spending level of government, recent court dicisions as well as the mood of property taxpayers makes changes in the tax system a virtual certainty.

For two centuries, U. S. citizens have demonstrated a willingness to pay taxes in support of government. They are now demonstrating once again the spirit of independence that rejects infringement upon fundamental rights—including that of property ownership.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

The big news here is the visit today of Soviet President Nicolai Podgorny. Turkey is located in a strategic area where it can control the passage of Soviet shipping from the Black Sea to the rest of the world. It has a long history of conflict with Russia and historically mistrusts them. The present visit by a Soviet President is an apparent honest effort on the part of both nations to live in peace. The recent assassination of two British and one Canadian by leftist terrorists made the visit all the more important as the Turkish press had blamed "outside influences" for the murders.

The attitude toward the Soviet President's visit was spelled out carefully which shows the delicate nature of the relationship between the two countries. I will therefore quote directly from the Turkish press.

"Turkish - Soviet relatives which started with the visit made by a Turkish Parliamentary delegation. . .and the Podgorny delegation's return of this, have marked a great improvement which has borne the fruits of the Seydisehir aluminum factory, etc. Turkey wants very close relations with the Soviet Union. However, peaceful co-existence, non-interference in one another's domestic affairs must be the principle."

It then went on to qualify this friendly statement by indicating that the "Soviet Union must feel morally responsible for these treasons, murders, and crimes committed in the name of Marx and Lenin."

It is an interesting contrast from many seemingly popular attitudes in our country. Here is a country which needs to learn many things from us. Clean and safe drinking water, for example is not very common. It is also a country that depends on us for military aid. However, in spite of these obvious deficiencies, it is a country that is very sure of itself in its attitudes toward the Soviets. The men involved in the killing of the Radar experts mentioned above are now either dead or in prison. Their attitude toward riots and subversion is very firm. The Turkish press stated it has struggled for two years to wipe out the assassinations, etc., by the leftists. It also stated that these activities could be brought to a halt if Russia wanted it so.

In our country those who incite riots such as the Chicago Seven are out on lecture tours. It would seem to me that we could learn a lesson here and start someway to discredit if not stop the hostility of the leftists at home. Gus Hall, chairman of the Communist Party, USA, for example is treated with all the privileges of any other American, and just a few days ago was in Hanoi. He wasn't there to help us, but to recieve special praise from the North Vietnamese for his great service to the "liberation forces" of their country. To be open minded and fair is part of our culture, but trusting the enemy at home is just plain foolish.

HARWOOD RETURNS!

If you were old enough to drink back in the late 40's, chances are you remember Harwood with respect, if not affection. A fine rich Canadian with its own ideas about quality. But just about the time you began to enjoy it, we disappeared. We apologize. You see, our production at that time was limited, so reluctantly we decided to keep most of it at home.

Since we went away, more Americans have developed a taste for Canadians, today's Canadians, the lighter ones. And we have developed a way to supply them with one we can truly call Harwood. Lighter, yes. Lesser, no.

Now that we are returning to America, with all due modesty, we trust America will return to us.

Especially as Harwood costs no more than those Canadians-come-lately.

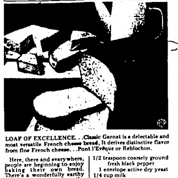
A Fine French Loaf



LOAF OF EXCELLENCE. . .Classic Gannat is a delectable and most versatile French cheese bread. It derives distinctive flavor from fine French cheese. . .Pont l'Evêque or Reblochon.

Here, there and everywhere, people are beginning to enjoy baking their own bread. There's a wonderfully earthy pleasure in preparing the most basic food for one's own family. Gannat, a classic French cheese loaf, fits this trend in baking to perfection.

Versatile, too. Fresh and fragrant from the oven, Gannat turns up as a dinner loaf or sandwich loaf, the latter especially good with ham. At tea or coffee time, it's delicious with a tart preserve such as Barle-Duc, the red-currant specialty from France.

Gannat derives distinctive flavor from Pont l'Evêque, a creation of the master cheese-makers in 13th-century Normandy. It's a small square cheese, golden outside and pale yellow within, its rind cross-hatched by the mats of straw on which it has ripened. Or you may use Reblochon, another great cheese made for hundreds of years in the rich pastureland of the Haute Savoie mountains of France. Reblochon means "second milking," so called from the early practice of making the cheese from the day's second yield. It's round and soft with a reddish rind, and the center is pale and creamy.

No matter which you use, if you take pleasure and pride in home baked bread you will be delighted with this classic French loaf.

GANNAT
French Cheese Bread
(Makes one 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2 loaf)

3 cups all purpose flour, about
1-1/4 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon coarsely ground fresh black pepper
1 envelope active dry yeast
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup water
1/3 cup margarine
1 cup (4-oz.) Pont l'Evêque or Reblochon cheese
2 eggs

Measure and sift flour, sugar and pepper. Place 1 cup of flour mixture in electric mixer bowl. Add yeast and mix thoroughly at low speed. Heat milk, water and margarine until very warm (120°-130°F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Add hot liquids to flour-yeast mixture and beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally. Remove rind from cheese and shred coarsely. Add cheese, eggs and 1 cup of flour. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Add enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough out on a floured board and knead in remaining flour—about 5 minutes. Place dough in bowl, brush top of dough with salad oil. Cover and allow to rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down dough. Knead for 2 minutes and shape loaf. Place in greased 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2 bread pan. Cover and allow to rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake in preheated 375° F. oven for 25 minutes or until loaf when tapped sounds hollow. Turn bread out of pan and allow to cool on rack.

Prowlers Beat Newfolden 4-1 In Baseball Action

If the weatherman co-operates, Ralph Skay's Lincoln high school baseball team will play five games in six days this week, beginning today (Monday) with a 5 o'clock contest at Warren.

The Prowlers will head into the busy week with a 2-0 record following Saturday's 4-1 triumph over Newfolden in a game played at Strandquist. Thief River Falls opened the campaign with a 9-1 win over Fertile.

Junior left hander Pete Sullivan picked up the win Saturday as he hurled the first four innings, giving up one run and three hits while striking out four and walking four batters. Another junior, right handed Bruce Engel pitched the final three innings and gave up just two hits and struck out two without issuing a walk.

The Prowlers picked up all the runs they needed in the first inning when they scored twice off right hander Don Nelson. Prowler center fielder Rob Almquist led off the game with a base on balls and advanced to third when senior right fielder Rick Johnson smashed a long double to center on a 3-2 count.

Following an infield out, Almquist scored on a fielder's choice with Johnson advancing to third on the play. Senior Mike Hamilton drove in the Prowlers' second run with a high pop fly to short center field that fell between three Newfolden players for a run-producing single.

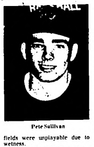
Newfolden scored in the bottom of the fourth when Sullivan issued a full-count walk with the bases loaded.

Senior Ron Voth opened the Nordic fourth with a single to deep second. Sullivan struck out the next Newfolden batter, but Dave Saurdiff drilled a hard line drive to center field. Quick reactions on the part of Almquist held the runners at first and second with one out.

Another strike out for Sullivan eased the pressure but lead-off batter Dan Magner reached base on an error to load the sacks. Sullivan struck out the side, but not until after he had issued an rbi walk to Rick Sethre.

The Prowlers finished the game's scoring in the sixth when junior Jon Jensen singled over second and went to third on a pair of passed balls and scored on Almquist's single to left for a 4-1 final.

Rob Almquist



Pete Sullivan

Four Prowler batters collected a pair of hits in the 12-hit barrage, with Almquist going two for three plus a walk. Getting two hits out of four trips to the plate were Peterson, Hamilton and Tom Hanson.

The game, originally scheduled to be played at Newfolden was reset for the Strandquist diamond when the Nordic and Prowler fields were unplayable due to wetness.

Following today's game against the Ponies, Thief River Falls will play Goodridge Wednesday afternoon on the Prowler diamond in a make up game and will host Bemidji Friday afternoon before traveling to Warroad and Roseau for a split double-header Saturday.

THIEF RIVER FALLS bowlers Jerry Imgrund (left) and Bob Kosel display the trophies they won after capturing the state Elks doubles bowling event in Minneapolis. The pair beat out 681 other teams in the state-wide five-weekend affair for the title.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL track captain Mike Fitzgerald (second from the right) presented a booster button promoting the annual Prowler-Jaycee invitational track meet to new Jaycee president Bill Wood, starting the public sale of the buttons last week. Also in the ceremony were Lloyd Mysner (left), meet chairman and Jay Borchert, past Jaycee president. The buttons are available from any member of the Prowler track squad or a member of the Jaycees. The meet, expected to draw approximately 24 teams, will be run Saturday, May 6, beginning at 10 a.m. on the Prowler track.

Prowlers Place Second In Sioux Outdoor Meet

You couldn't blame Lincoln high school track coach Jim Sims for being mad at the weatherman following Wednesday's 26th annual Sioux Outdoor track meet in the University of North Dakota's Memorial stadium.

Had the weatherman cooperated, the Sioux meet would have been run Saturday, April 22, a day when powerful Moorhead high school was scheduled to compete at Wahpeton, North Dakota. As it turned out, Moorhead won the Wahpeton meet and with the rescheduled date, found time to make an appearance at the Sioux event where the Spuds easily outdistanced second-place Thief River Falls by 64½ points for the team title.

Moorhead wiped out a possible Prowler title performance behind nine first place finishes, with the Prowlers claiming five second-places behind the Moorhead winners.

The well-balanced Spud thinclads rolled up an amazing 92 points to the Prowlers' 27½, followed by defending meet champion Grand Forks Red River with 26½, Fargo North 22, Crookston 20½ and Fargo South with 19.

Second-place finishes claimed by the Prowlers were by Rob Swenson with a 10.7 performance in the 100-yard dash, trailing Moorhead speedster Jim Gravalin's 10.5 performance; Markoe Hanson with a 23.3 in the 220, second to Gravalin's 22.6; and the Prowler 880, sprint medley and mile relay teams.

The 880 crew, Steve Beich, Mike Fitzgerald, Don Relerson and Swenson came within 1.1 seconds of the Lincoln school record with a 1:35.0, finishing behind Moorhead's 1:31.7 time. The mile relay team, Scott Olson, Jon Markstrom, Kent Smith and Paul Battleson also came within a 1.2 second margin of the existing school mark with a 3:36.1, finishing behind Moorhead's 3:30.6 clocking. The sprint medley squad, Beich, Markstrom, Hanson and John Wangberg ran a 3:51.0 to trail only Moorhead's 3:46.7 winning time.

Team captain Mike Fitzgerald provided the Prowlers with a third place in the 440-yard dash with a 54.5. Moorhead's Kevin Larson won the event with a 52.4 clocking.

Fourth-place performances were recorded by Beich with a 10.9 in the 100 and by Olson with a 54.5 in the 440, while Hanson ran an 11.0 for a fifth-place finish in the 100.

"I thought we had a good team effort from the kids," said Sims, especially considering we were coming right back after winning the Pirate Jaycee meet the night before."

Only two new records were set in running events on the rain-soaked track, by Moorhead's 880 and sprint medley relay teams.

Team totals: Moorhead 92; Thief River Falls 27½; Grand Forks Red River 26½; Fargo North 22; Crookston 20½; Fargo South 19; Devils Lake 10; Wahpeton 7; Grand Forks Central and Cavalier 8; Hillsboro and Midway 6; Walhalla 5; East Grand Forks 4½; Langdon 4; Lake Park and Drayton 3; Dilworth and Warren 2; Grafton, Winnipeg Vincent, St. Thomas and Buffalo 1.

Lincoln Netmen Hold 4-3 Dual-Meet Mark

Lincoln high school tennis team won three of four dual-meet matches last week to raise the Prowler season record to 4-3 for the year.

In their latest outing the Prowlers blanked Fertile 5-0 Friday afternoon after bowing to Bemidji 3-2 Wednesday.

Claiming wins over their Falcon opponents Friday were Jeff Wendt with a 6-1, 6-1 win over Paul Carlson in the first singles; Tim Engelstad with a 6-4, 6-0 victory over Terry Nordheim in the second singles; and Kent Hanson with a 6-0, 6-0 triumph over Kim Bolstad in the third singles.

In Friday's doubles matches, the Prowlers' Scott Lund and Ross Gutterud beat Paul Remark and Larry Olson 6-8, 6-4 and 6-2 in the first doubles while Scott Engelstad and Dale Miller combined to give the Prowlers a 9-6 pro-set win over Jim Eide and Dale Schuschke in the second doubles.

Mark Liden was the only singles winner against the Lumberjacks Wednesday as the Prowler senior beat Larry Larson 6-3 and 6-1. In the second singles, Wendt lost to the Jacks' John Kaiser 2-6, 7-5 and 6-8 while Gutterud lost to Terry Menge 6-3, 3-6 and 6-8 in the third singles.

Tim Engelstad and Hanson lost to Scott Bjella and Kirby Schofner 3-6 and 1-6 in the first doubles while Lund and Dave Forney beat Virgil Malbraaten and Dale Kullhen 6-4 and 8-6 in the second doubles.

The Prowlers were scheduled to compete on Grand Forks Central this afternoon before taking part in the annual Northwest Conference meet tomorrow at Bemidji.

TRF Trap Club Banquet Tonight

Thief River Trap club will hold its annual banquet tonight (Monday), at the Thief River Falls golf course club house.

A social hour will be held from 6:30-7:30, with a smorgasbord dinner served at 7:30 p.m.

Trophies will be presented to the 1971 league champions at the event.

Times' Classified Ads take you where the bargains are. Read them every issue.

Conference Tennis Meet Set Tomorrow

A wide open battle for the Northwest Conference tennis title is in prospect Tuesday as the league stages its seventh annual conference tournament at Bemidji. Action will begin at 10 a.m. on both the high school and Bemidji state college courts.

Thief River Falls is defending champion, winning its second crown last season 20-17 over Bemidji. The Lumberjacks had taken the title four of the previous five years with Thief River Falls breaking the spell in 1967.

Action will be held in three singles divisions and one doubles. With most teams now fielding a second doubles team in dual matches, this will probably mark the final year that only one doubles category is included.

There will be no defending champions on hand. Gone are Bemidji's Gary Conda, who took the number one singles laurels in 1971, along with Joe Rossi and Jim Kastner who captured the doubles crown. Thief River Falls Tom Nepper, who won the number three singles crown, also has graduated. There was no winner in the second singles last spring as three players finished with 2-1 marks in the round robin competition. Among them was Crookston's Brent Reichert.

Other returnees from the 1971 meet are the Prowlers' Mark Liden, Bemidji's Scott Bjella and Crookston's Mike Wilkens, Marc LaPlante and Pat Shanahan.

With only one doubles bracket, most coaches will probably reshuffle their personnel and picking winners is difficult. Liden is the favorite to take the first singles title after wins over Reichert and Bemidji's Larry Larson in dual matches.

Wilkens holds wins over both Bemidji and Thief River Falls this spring at number two singles while Crookston's Kurt Eickhof has beaten all conference foes at number three.

In doubles, Bemidji's Bjella and Kirby Shofner are unbeaten against league foes while Thief River Falls won the second doubles in matches with Bemidji and Crookston but used different teams each time.

To bolster its lineup, Bemidji will probably lift Virg Malbraaten from its second doubles unit to number two singles and drop John Kaiser from second to third. Prowler coach Whitey Olson also has been shifting his lineup in recent matches to seek the strongest combination.

Of the league's four tennis playing schools, only East Grand Forks seems out of the running for the title. "East Side" was blanked by Crookston 8-0 and lost to Thief River Falls 4-1 this spring. Bemidji stopped Crookston 5-2, and shaded Thief River Falls 4-3 while Crookston edged Thief River Falls 3-2.

This will mark the final season that the meet will include only four teams. Fergus Falls and Breckenridge, who were admitted to the conference this spring, will engage in their first conference tennis meet in 1973.

Softball Meeting Set Wednesday

A slow-pitch softball organizational meeting will be held Wednesday, May 3, at 7 p.m. in the office of the Park and Recreation department, located in the basement of the city auditorium. All men interested in playing slow-pitch softball this summer are urged to attend.

The highest single season batting average recorded in the major leagues since 1901 was Rogers Hornsby's .424 mark in 1924.

Hockey Players Protest School Board's Action

Dear Mr. Lundin:

As representatives of the Lincoln Prowler hockey team, we would like to go on record as deploring the school board's recent tabling of the reviewing committee recommendation to rehire John Schmitz for the '72-'73 season.

We feel that the board did Mr. Schmitz a great injustice by tabling without due consideration his application, since he was accepted as first choice by the reviewing committee. This committee investigated and discussed thoroughly the qualifications of the candidates for the job as well as interviewing the prime candidates individually.

How prepared and qualified was the board to make this important decision which was just one of many important decisions made every meeting? We feel they were qualified to accept the responsibility of the decision but not necessarily prepared, to be sure, as prepared as the reviewing committee. The school board had only statistics to go on when making its decision, but we feel that this was not the most important factor in this case; and even if it was Mr. Schmitz' statistics, his few years in Thief River have been very impressive.

We think the reviewing committee, made up of teachers, people closely related to sports, coaches, and a player, was thoroughly prepared to find out all the most important aspects of coaching and in so doing find the best man for the job.

They apparently thought they had when they selected Mr. Schmitz as their first choice.

Because we feel the school board has the best interest of this team in mind, we wrote this letter to let the school board and the Prowler hockey fans who think Mr. Schmitz is not qualified to be our coach next season, know that we, the Prowler Hockey team, intensely disagree with the board's actions.

All the undersigned are members of the team and are in complete agreement with the contents of the letter. Some other team members could not be contacted for their signatures.

UND Spring Football Drills At Mid Point

University of North Dakota's football team has reached the mid-point of its allowable 20 spring practices and head coach Jerry Olson and the coaching staff are busy evaluating the 60-man spring squad, which includes 26 lettermen from the 1971 North Central Conference championship team.

"Our major purpose in spring football is to improve every player's abilities. We work the team hard to see what our people can do and what limitations they ha have," Olson said.

"At this stage of spring ball," he continued, "we are most concerned with evaluation of individuals rather than our overall offensive and defensive units. We won't work on finesse techniques until the last week of practice."

Particularly pleasing to Olson was a 50-minute scrimmage held April 23rd.

"After eight days of practice, considering weather handicaps and wet fields, we were very pleased with the scrimmage. Our hitting was excellent," Olson exulted.

UND will close spring practices May 6 with a full-scale scrimmage at Memorial Stadium.

Olson said the spring Sioux squad is in good physical condition. He reported sophomore letterman defensive back Mike Nyberg of Moorhead will miss the rest of spring ball due to knee surgery he underwent last week. He said Nyberg injured his knee prior to the start of spring practices while playing basketball.

Two other UND lettermen are not with the spring squad while participating in other spring sports. All-Conference junior defensive tackle and middle guard Doug Schindler of Richfield is with the track team and freshman punter Jamie Gronowski of Mandan is an outfielder on the baseball team.

Olson reported there is strong competition for top spots at nearly every position on both units. He also said there will be shifting of players in various positions as the evaluation process continues.

As of April 25 here's how the Sioux lined up offensively and defensively:

Offense

Split end—Sheldon Joppru and Dana Stromberg, both of Thief River Falls and both lettermen.

Left tackle — Scott Persellin of Fargo, Scott Lovell of Minneapolis and Bradley Katzung of Albert Lea. Katzung is a letterman.

Center — Bill Blake of Ashland, Wis., Bryan Klipfel of Ashley, N. D. and Katzung. Blake and Katzung are lettermen.

Right guard — Curt Jeffryes of Creston, Iowa, Tom Gaucius of Villa Park, Ill., and Greg Davis of Litchfield, Minn. Jeffryes is a letterman.

Right tackle — Chet Stevenson of Princeton and Bob Nordstrom of Bismarck.

Tight end — Lawrie Skolrood of Saskatoon, Sask., and Norty Blanchard of Alexandria. Skolrood is a letterman.

Quarterback—Jay Gustafson of Albert Lea and Bruce Dauesavage of Grand Forks. Gustafson is a letterman.

Flanker — Ron Gustafson of Duluth and Tom Seaworth of Bismarck. Gustafson is a letterman.

Running back — Mike Deutsch of Fargo, Mark Blaske of Princeton and Bob Helman of Swift Current, Sask. Deutsch and Helman are lettermen.

Fullback — Mark Bellmore of Breckenridge and Mark Walker of Mayville. Both lettermen.

TOM KAYS, a 6-2 senior forward on the 1971-72 Lincoln high school basketball squad, has registered at Northland state college for the 1972-73 school year and has indicated he plans to play basketball for the Northmen. Kays started every game for the Prowlers last year and carried a 12.5 scoring average and pulled down an average of 8.1 rebounds per contest.

NSJC Golf Team Takes Part In Brainerd Meet

Northland state junior college golfers competed in the Brainerd J.C. invitational meet with seven other junior colleges on April 27. Al Adams, Northland golf coach, was pleased with individual performances of Roger Erickson and Bob Lundbohm.

Fergus Falls took top team honors with a score of 320; Itasca was second with 328, followed by Brainerd with 329. The four low 18 hole scores for each team determined the team championship.

John Hagge of Fergus Falls was medalist with a 72. Low score for Northland was Erickson who posted a 78 and a fourth place finish. Lundbohm, Steve Grundyson and David Steen comprised the other team members who competed at Brainerd.

With only Lundbohm and Erickson having any high school experience, Northland coach Adams expects difficulty in winning team matches.

Northland was scheduled to host Fergus Falls, Itasca and Crookston Tech in a junior college golf meet in Thief River Falls today (Monday), with play starting at 10:00 a.m. at the Thief River golf course.

Each student planning to attend a camp or clinic is reminded to register with Lincoln high school principal Robert Ostazeski before participating in a summer program.

A few of the area camps and clinics include basketball sessions at the Universit y of North Dakota June 4-10, June 11-17 and June 18-24; and the Otter basketball camp at Fergus Falls June 18-23, July 2-7 and July 16-21. Hockey camps will be offered at Bemidji June 11-August 1, and at Crookston June 18 to July 15.

H. B. Leonard of Boston led the American League pitchers with an earned run average of just 1.01 in 222 innings during the 1914 baseball season.

NASA Gives 16 Scholarships To NSJC Athletes

Northland area sports association (NASA) announced Friday the awarding of 16 athletic scholarships totaling $1,065 to athletes at Northland state junior college for the spring quarter.

Eight basketball players and eight hockey players received scholarships ranging from $25 to $100 each.

Awarded basketball scholarships were Tony Burke, Bemidji; Dale Hanson and Jay Forney, Thief River Falls; Kent Hanson, Karlstad; Mike Rasch, Hoffman; Willie Bayne, Oslo; Darrell Stromlund, Greenbush; and Jamie Tronnes, Climax.

Awarded hockey scholarships were Leo Marshall and Richard Ellerbusch, Warroad; Bob Lundbohm, Roseau; Mark Hughes, East Grand Forks; Rick Lindegard, Hallock; Rodney Bolduc, Minneapolis; Doug Palm, Aurora; and Paul Johnson, Thief River Falls.

Scholarships are awarded to Northland athletes during the winter and spring quarters with funds made available by contributions from area businesses and individuals. During the year 32 scholarships totaling $2,000 were awarded to Northland athletes.

Scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement and financial need. Recipients are selected by a committee on recommendation of the staff of Northland's athletic department. The grade point average of the 16 spring quarter winners was 2.66.

"These scholarships play a vital educational athletic role at Northland," stated Victor Charles, college president. "Athletes and athletic department members at NSJC express their gratitude to individuals and organizations who contributed to the scholarship fund."

TRF Triangular Meet Cancelled

Lincoln high school track coach Jim Sims has announced that the triangular track meet scheduled for the Prowler athletic field tomorrow afternoon has been cancelled due to the wet conditions of the track.

Saturday's Prowler-Jaycee Invitational meet is still scheduled, starting at 10 a.m. on the Prowler track.

In Friday afternoon action at Bagley the Prowlers easily ran away with first place in a five-team field with 132½ points. Bagley was second with 54 while Roseau scored 30, Clearbrook 19½ and Fosston 15.

England hasn't been invaded since the Battle of Hastings in 1066.

IF YOU HAVE THE GOOD TASTE TO ENJOY BEER PLEASE HAVE THE GOOD TASTE TO DISCARD ITS CONTAINERS WHERE THEY BELONG!
Fortunately, the great majority of beer consumers are not litterers. And impartial surveys show that beer cans and bottles make up only a small fraction of total litter.
Deposits or bans on beer bottles and cans will not affect the bulk of the litter and solid-waste problem. Brewers strongly support workable programs to recycle solid wastes and to control littering . . . ALL KINDS.

New & Expanded Industry Creates 9.242 New Jobs

New and expanded industrial facilities in Minnesota amounted to more than $346 million in 1971 and produced 9,242 jobs, the Minnesota department of economic development reported today.

Although the investment in new and expanded industry in 1971 was down 7.1 per cent from the preceding year, the number of jobs created was 20 per cent more than 1970. The 1971 investment figure was the second highest in history, the record being set in 1970 when $372 million was spent.

Investment in new and expanded industry in rural areas was $222 million or 64 per cent of the total. There were 5,772 jobs created in rural areas which is 62 per cent of the total.

In manufacturing, expenditures in new and expanded facilities were greatest in lumber and wood products and food and kindred products. Investment in lumber and wood products amounted to $25.5 million, and in food and kindred products, $23.3 million. Lumber and wood products created 1,600 more jobs, and food and kindred products added 1,050 more workers.

The largest investment in the state was $14 million by Northwest Paper co., Cloquet, which is primarily for pollution control and will not result in new employment.

The second largest investment—$13.75 million—was made by Blandin Paper co., in Grand Rapids, for a waferboard plant that will mean 230 new jobs.

New industry is defined as facilities new in the state or construction by a Minnesota industry on a new site. Expanded industry is construction on a site of an existing facility or immediately adjacent to it.

Family Living Center Working Near Capacity

Recently established family living center serving the Crookston area reports that most of their programs are running at or near capacity.

A public event is planned for early this fall to officially open the family living center. A nationally recognized leader in family enrichment will be coming to Crookston for this open house and program.

A spokesman for the center reported that programs would continue during the summer months if enrollments were sufficient. However, it was noted that the current pre-marriage course would soon end and that a second pre-marriage course would follow the first course should there be sufficient interest at this time.

The center has been operating out of a number of locations in Crookston. It is anticipated that a permanent location will soon be selected. A federal grant is expected to equip the center.

Present planning calls for a portion of the family living center programs to be made available in local communities elsewhere in northwestern Minnesota.

The current listing of programs include the marriage enrichment program, parent-child program, pre-marriage course, enrichment program for housewives and a course in family finance.

Persons interested in registering or seeking more information should write the Family Living Center, Box 603, Crookston, Minnesota 56716 or call Crookston 281-1746.

Farm Pesticide Use Plays Role In Food Supply

Results of the third annual special survey of farm use of pesticides show that proper use of approved pesticides is continuing to play an important role in providing consumers a low cost and high quality food supply, according to Minnesota agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald.

While farmers treated 25 per cent more acreage than in the previous year, they also significantly cut the proportions of pesticides that were used, Commissioner Wefald reported. He added that the bulk of the increased treatment is represented by the 1,468,000-acre gain in 1971 Minnesota crop production over that of 1970.

Restricted pesticides, aldrin and heptachlor only, were applied under rigid permit requirements to just over one per cent of the total Minnesota cropland, and those only for insect control on corn acreage. That was about half the restricted pesticide usage experienced in 1970.

Herbicides, for weed control, accounted for 88 per cent of the Minnesota farm acreage treated with pesticides in 1971. Insecticides and fungicides, for insect and disease control, accounted for the balance.

Corn, Minnesota's principal crop, accounted for nearly half the total acreage treated with pesticides, 5,513,000 acres. Farmers treated 3,863,000 acres of small grains, 1,960,000 acres of soybeans, 143,000 acres of flax and 13,000 acres of hay.

Employment Act Director Says Expansion Needed

Frank Adams, director of the governors emergency employment act program, announced today the results of a survey of participating counties. "The responses have persuaded me, he said, "that the program must be extended and greatly expanded."

"I am convinced that an additional $40-$50 million, used wisely, would be a sound investment of human resources in the solution of the state's pressing public service needs. Such an increased allocation is desperately needed by state and local governments and could provide a noticeable impact on the unemployed and underemployed population throughout the state."

The EEA program, enacted in 1971, is intended to create public service jobs in state and local government to be filled exclusively by unemployed and under-employed residents. Cost of the program is provided 90 per cent by the federal government and 10 per cent by local government. Minnesota was allocated $14 million and has created close to 2,500 EEA jobs. First year funding under the program will expire in August of this year.

"Even if the program was quadrupled, as several congressmen have proposed, the program would produce less than 10,000 jobs for an estimated 150,000 unemployed and underemployed Minnesotans."

Of the 59 rural counties responding to the survey, 56 have indicated a need for more positions within the near future. Forty-eight county governments have stated an immediate need for 727 additional positions over and above the present allocation. The survey did not question the needs of urban and metropolitan counties, state agencies, school districts or cities and villages.

The county auditors responding to the questionnarie strongly endorsed the continuation and expansion of the EEA program. They indicated that given enough time for planning, many other worthwhile projects could be developed in the counties if financial resources to carry out such projects were available.

Chief Of Police Is Charged By Council

Thief River Falls city council brought formal charges against Thief River Falls' police chief Roland Waller by unanimous vote at last night's (Tuesday's) council meeting in response to a request by Earl J. Melvie of Thief River Falls.

Members of the council mentioned that individuals have asked councilmen about these charges and expressed misunderstanding about the reason for them.

The charges are not a result of whether Melvie should have received a ticket or of any official police action the council explained. Melvie's complaint is about the manner in which he was treated by Chief Waller when Melvie went to talk to him about the conduct of a patrolman who handled a minor traffic offense.

The council charges were prepared by Robert A. Wurst, city attorney, and are quoted here in their entirety for consideration by the public.

"Chief of Police Roland Waller is charged with misconduct as follows:

"On the 17th day of April, 1972, one Earl J. Melvie, a resident of the city of Thief River Falls, called at the police station of the city for the purpose of discussing the handling of a minor traffic offense with said Roland Waller.

"Said Roland Waller thereupon without cause began to verbally abuse said Earl J. Melvie and, among other things, loudly and within the hearing of several other persons then present in said station, falsely accused said Earl J. Melvie of writing a bad check and having the same outstanding at that time and vehemently told said Earl J. Melvie that if he were a Christian he would have taken the ticket and paid the same and would not have discussed the circumstances of receiving the same either with himself or with the officer issuing the same."

JAMES GUNSTAD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunstad of rural St. Hilaire, was elected state FFA vice president yesterday (Tuesday) at the state FFA convention at the University of Minnesota in St. Paul.

Waller Issues Statement And Lists Demands

In a public statement issued today following city council action last night, Police Chief Roland Waller has announced plans for counter action and issued demands which he said will be presented to the police commission today.

"The time has come for me to speak out in the case that has been tried on the streets, on the radio and in the newspaper," Chief Waller said. "The incident in which I am charged with misconduct happened more than two weeks ago. The chairman of the city council and the city council as a whole have bantered or allowed it to be bantered around this city for this long period of time. As of now, none of them have seen fit to even ask me what happened. It is now time to have a legal hearing of all facts of the case."

The chief then issued a number of demands which he said he will serve to the police commission secretary A. B. Stenberg today in the absence of commission chairman William LaFave who is not in the city. The demands include:

"An immediate hearing within two days on the formal charges as provided for in the sixth amendment of the Constitution of the United States;

"That this hearing be an open hearing in a room that shall seat at least 50 spectators (the county court room is suggested);

"That all persons and witnesses shall testify under oath;

"That I be afforded full due process of the law which shall include the right to cross-examine all witnesses against me as guaranteed by the 14th Amendment;

"That I shall receive a full and correct transcript of all proceedings in the event that an appeal shall be made and for use in civil suit that shall follow these proceedings."

Chief Waller also, in his statement, invited all interested persons to attend the hearings and "make your own decision as to the validity of the charge and the manner in which it has been handled."

He also said he is preparing a formal complaint to the governor's human rights commission in which he will charge that his civil rights have been infringed upon, namely his right of religious expression and right of freedom of speech.

"I shall name the Melvies (Earl Melvie initiated the action which resulted in charges being brought against the chief), each individual of the city council and the city attorney as participants in this action of interfering with my rights," the chief's statement said.

"After the hearing I shall immediately consult with an attorney about instituting civil action against the Melvies and Robert Carlson for public slander."

Chief Waller also said he may make another statement concerning a member of the city council at the end of the hearing.

School Board Talks Salaries

In a five-hour session Monday evening, Thief River Falls board of education bargained on salaries for teachers and administrators and received a comprehensive report on curriculum and instruction from Frank Hamerlinck, director of instruction.

At 5:30 p.m. the board met with the teachers' negotiating council which included, for the first time, only local MEA representation. Under new law, Miss Ellen Clark of the MEA replaced Andrew (Mike) Lehrer of the MFT on the negotiating council for the faculty.

As a result of negotiating done during the meeting and following several caucus sessions, the teachers' council reduced its request for a percentage increase for 1972-73 from 6.75 per cent to 6.50 per cent and later to six per cent in the last offer made prior to adjournment.

The board increased its offer of percentage increase from 3.25 per cent to 3.35 per cent. The Weather Improves As Month Of April Passes

"Improving" is the word which best describes the weather for the month of April.

According to the record kept at Thief River Falls' water treatment facility, temperatures for the month were generally lower than normal. The mean was 37.85 degrees or about 3½ degrees colder than last year's 41.3 and about 2¼ degrees below the five year average of 40.13.

The most encouraging statistic for the month is that the temperatures of the last week were nearly double those of the first week. The mean for the first week was 24.3 degrees and for the last week it was 47.2. The average high for the first week was 32.7 and for the last week it was 60.3 degrees. The average low was 15.9 for the first week and 34 degrees for the last week.

The mercury reached the 60's daily during the last four days and dropped no lower than 38 during the last three. The highest temperature for the month was recorded during that time. It was 68 degrees April 29.

The lowest temperatures for the month were recorded during the first week. The coldest day was April 4 when thermometers only reached 21 degrees before dropping down to 7 degrees.

THIEF RIVER FALLS FIRE DEPT.

IN SPITE OF EDUCATIONAL efforts of the fire department and others, children do not know that they should stay back when fire department personnel are trying to control a fire. This was illustrated yesterday (Tuesday) when firemen were called to the northwest edge of Thief River Falls for a minor grass fire. The Times reporter saw children stepping on flames up to 18 inches high while adults looked on. Even though this was a minor fire, if someone's clothing had ignited when flames flared up the results could have been serious. If firemen are forced to direct their efforts toward controlling bystanders, their operations to confine a fire may be seriously hampered. On the other hand, if children aren't kept back they could be seriously hurt.

The men of the wedding party all wore black tuxedoes, black bow ties, white shirts and white carnation boutonnieres except for the groom who wore a yellow rose.

The groom's mother wore a lavendar short sleeved knit dress accented by a crystal necklace and matching earrings. Her corsage was identical to that of the bride's mother.

A reception followed at the church with Mrs. Michael King, sister of the bride, in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Gary Kaatz and Mrs. Nancy Boe, friends of the bride, serving the punch.

A three-tiered wedding cake with each layer separated with pillars, topped with three miniature wedding bells and decorated in purple and white, was cut and served by Mrs. George Ollie, godmother of the bride, and Hilda Pederson, aunt of the bride.

State Star Farmer Has Big Enterprise

Curtis Radloff, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Radloff, Hector, is the 1972 Minnesota FFA Star farmer.

The award was presented at the annual Minnesota FFA banquet, which is part of the group's annual convention at the University of Minnesota's St. Paul campus.

From a modest beginning four years ago with a gilt provided by the Hector FFA chapter, Curtis has developed an extensive swine enterprise that totaled 410 head in 1971. He has expanded his dairy operation to a total of 38 yead, and has 12 cows producing over 550 pounds of butterfat.

Radloff has conducted a crop enterprise for three years and rented 50 acres of crop land from a neighbor in 1971. During this time he has produced record yields in the Quaker Oats company quality oats program. He has used the earnings from his farming program to purchase a tractor, self propelled swather, manure spreader, farrowing house and hog equipment.

Radloff is a qualified artificial insemination technician and is responsible for breeding the entire Radloff herd, which averages 580 pounds of butterfat per cow. Despite the heavy work load and responsibility of his farming operation, Radloff has served as chapter reporter and treasurer, chairman of the Hector FFA supervised occupational experience, conduct of meetings and gilt ring committees.

He was captain of the football and wrestling teams and was an all-conference football player.

Active in 4-H, Radloff has served as president and vice president of his local club. He has been a member of the Hector student council and his church youth group. In 1971 Radloff was named Star livestock farmer by the Minnesota FFA. He won the 1972 Star dairy farmer award.

Radloff, who has three brothers and two sisters, has decided on farming as his career choice. He has enrolled in the Canby area vocational - technical institute farm operation and management program for the 1972-73 school year.

His FFA advisor is Douglas Haseck.

Donald Erickson Herd Leads In Pennington DHIA

Jerry Hamre, supervisor of the Pennington Dairy Herd Improvement association, places the Donald Erickson herd as the top in the association for the month of March. Top herds listed include Donald Erickson, 1,475 lbs. milk and 54.8 lbs. fat; James Muzzy, 1,398 and 53.8; Clyde Swenson, 1,567 and 53.3; Warren and Lowell Hamrick, 1,273 and 51.9; Carl and Duane Krohn, 1,404 and 51.3; Martin Hanson, 1,319 and 50.4; Gene Nelson, 1,206 and 49.9; Myron Erickson, 1,279 and 48.9; Marlan Augustine, 1,330 and 48.8; Knute Nesland, 1,425 and 48.0.

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows, giving the farmer a record of the earnning power of the herd for the month. If many dry cows are included in the herd, the average for the month may be low, even though the cows which are milking are high producers.

There were 38 herds with 1,358 cows on test in March in the Pennington association. Eighteen cows finished with over 500 pounds of butterfat during the testing year, in a 305-day or less lactation. They were from the following herds:

Mordy Morrison, 14,600 and 568; Mordy Morrison, 13,200 and 519; Myron Erickson, 15,510 and 552; Chester Gast, 16,330 and 543; Gene Nelson, 11,580 and 506; Clarence Swenson, 11,900 and 553; Carl and Duane Krohn, 16,750 and 625; Carl and Duane Krohn, 16,610 and 588; Marlan Augustine, 15,910 and 630; Swanson Bros., 15,690 and 581; Swanson Bros., 13,950 and 503; Swanson Bros., 13,390 and 509; Swanson Bros., 15,380 and 555; Swanson Bros., 14,820 and 522; Warren and Lowell Hamrick, 12,930 and 552; Mylo Carlson, 12,690 and 506; Mylo Carlson, 16,260 and 546; and Mylo Carlson, 13,160 and 513.

School Board Talks Salaries, And Curriculum

teachers' council made no change in its request for a seven per cent increase in 1973-74, the second year of the two-year pact which must be negotiated by law.

Two main points of contention were discussed at the session. One involved the percentage of cost of living increase for the past year, listed by the teachers' council at 6.9 per cent and questioned by the board. The other involved the question of whether or not hospitalization insurance would be included in the percentage of increase.

The board, through chairman Maynard Wedul, noted that hospitalization insurance approximates three per cent of the average salary in the district. Assuming that negotiations start at flat salary without fringe benefits, the three per cent for insurance and 3.35 per cent offered as a salary increment would approach the 6.50 per cent requested by the negotiating council, Wedul said.

Donald Hejlik, chairman of the negotiating council, expressed the group's opinion that health insurance was an existing benefit and could not be added to a flat salary figure as part of a percentage increase. "To take away something we already have and give it back as an increase completely changes our outlook on the total picture," he said.

Next meeting was set for May 8 at 6 p.m. with the teachers' council having made the last counter offer before adjournment of the meeting.

Administrators next gathered at the board table for a meet and confer session on salaries. Kenneth Murphy, vice chairman of the school board, presided during an interim absence of chairman Wedul due to another commitment.

The administrators, involving 17 people in various areas of administration in the district and present total salaries of $217,618, accepted a board-proposed concept of percentage responsibility. The concept establishes the superintendent at 100 per cent responsibility and directors, principals, assistants, supervisors and confidential secretaries at lesser percentages. A salary range is also established for the superintendent and a comparable range for other administrators in accordance with the established percentage of responsibility.

Increments proposed by the board for administrators ranged from none to $900 in positions below the superintendent. Total increase offered was $7,910 in salary and $1,447 in term life insurance for a total of $9,357 or 4.3 per cent.

Several administrators questioned the individual increments proposed by the board and another meeting has been scheduled for meet and confer on administrative salaries for May 15 at 6:30 p.m.

Roy Jorgenson, director of the Inter-County Community Council, presented a program proposed for operation through the farm management department of the area vocational - technical institute. Termed a beef specialist program, it would be designed to encourage production of beef cattle in this area and provide the technical assistance needed for more profitable beef operations.

Jorgenson said the program would be 100 per cent funded by OEO and the Minnesota department of education for the first two years and 75 per cent by the department of education and 25 per cent by the school district for the third year. After that time all federal and state support would be withdrawn.

Before acting on the proposal, the board asked that it be taken through the normal administrative channels for recommendation.

Hamerlinck was commended by the board and Supt. William Corliss for his report on curriculum and instruction. It included a summary of activity by teachers and others in attempting to define needs and goals of the district and developing a continuing pattern of education in various subject areas.

"With this beginning, the school district has made a positive move toward quality education for its constituency," Hamerlinck states in his preface to the report. "The task of curriculum development is continuous and represents a study and growth process that becomes richer through new input, interaction, tryout and redesign efforts. If, in this report, there is an end product, it is tentative and subject to change because the study process will demand this."

The report includes both short term and long range instructional goals and reasons for the recommendations. Preparing report materials after study were the district curriculum council, post-high school curriculum review committee, secondary and elementary curriculum review committees, and study committees on art, health, social science and reading as well as the report itself.

Further public information on the curriculum work is being developed for presentation at a later date.

Invite Farmers To Use Facility Loans

Pointing out that many farmers experienced problems last fall in finding storage facilities for grain, a state farm program official suggested that use of the farm facility loan program of the agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) can help prevent a repetition this fall.

Five-year-term loans up to $35,000, at a current interest rate of approximately five and one-half per cent, are available to farmers producing commodities eligible for support. Application should be made at the ASCS county office which maintains the record for the farm to which the loan application relates, according to Elton R. Redalen, chairman of the Minnesota state ASC committee.

Loan interest rate in the program was recently lowered to 46 cents per $100 or fraction thereof per month, or approximately 5½ per cent annually, a decrease from the previous six per cent rate. Lower borrowing cost of the commodity credit corporation made it possible to lower the rate.

"On farm storage has several advantages for producers. To begin with, it gives them more flexibility at harvest time. They can save field losses by harvesting when the crop is ready. With on-farm storage, they can stretch the marketing period for their crops, using a support loan to help carry them through. In years of excess production, they can reseal their grain under support loan in on-farm storage and, with proper facilities, maintain the grain in good condition. Producers with ample on-farm storage are not completely at the mercy of such events as transportation strikes, boxcar shortages, depressed markets and scarcity of commercial storage space," Redalen said.

Eligible structures under the program include new grain storage structures both of conventional design, and 'wet storage' types provided they are weathertight and suitable for use for dry storage. Multi purpose structures also are eligible for loan.

Eligible drying equipment under the facility loan program includes continuous-flow type dryers, drying systems with wagons or trailers as an integral part, batch or in-store drying systems, and new equipment which conditions or facilitates drying by aerating, circulating, or stirring the commodity.

All structures and equipment must be new, with the exception of that purchased from the commodity credit corporation.

In general, farmers who produce commodities eligible for support loans, and who need the proposed on-farm storage facility or drying equipment, are eligible for loans, Redalen said. Storage needs are determined on the basis of two years production of the eligible crops.

Complete details about the farm storage and drying equipment loan program are available at the local county ASCS office.

Milk Production In State Drops From Last Year

March milk production by Minnesota's dairy industry totaled 941 million pounds, the second best output by any state and representing nine per cent of the nation's total milk production for the month, reports agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald.

That boosted the total milk produced during the first three months of 1972 to 2,635,000,000 pounds, also holding Minnesota second among all states and providing over nine per cent of the U.S. supply.

March production was 9 million pounds or one per cent less than the same month a year ago, due to a reduction of 9,000 milk cows to a first quarter 1972 ending inventory of 970,000, according to the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service.

Minnesota's dairy cows averaged 970 pounds of milk per head during March, the same rate as the previous two years, and the third highest in the nation, although pastures normally available late in the month remained dormant this year until mid-April.

Only California and Washington, which had more favorable pasture conditions, topped Minnesota in per cow production with 1,040 and 1,000 pounds averages, respectively.

Minnesota dairy farmers made up for lack of pasture with an average daily ration of 14.5 pounds of grain and other concentrates of feed nutrients during March. Only seven other states fed heavier grain-concentrate rations. Nationally the milk-feed price ratio was 10 per cent higher than a year ago.

Nationally March milk production was two per cent above last year, five per cent higher than the preceding month and represented 1.61 pounds of milk per capita daily for all uses, up from 1.59 pounds per capita in March last year, although the milk cow inventory was down one per cent.

THE GREAT MERLIN MYSTERY SHOW
EXCITING FULL EVENING SHOW
Awe, skepticism and bewilderment are just some of the thrills in store for those who attend the performance of The Great Merlin Mystery Show.
Are there really such powers as E.S.P., mental telepathy and clairvoyance? Can the veil of the future be lifted so that we can catch a glimpse of the unknown? Merlin has amused and befuddled audiences for years by, among other things, reading the minds of people right in their own seats in the audience. It is said that Merlin's mental powers are 100 years in advance of our time. His demonstrations include the answering of questions submitted to him by people in the audience. Apparently he receive the questions as a form of mental vibration and then answers the questions according to visions that he sees in a crystal ball. Merlin absolutely disclaims any supernatural powers and answers questions, as he says, simply through extra-ordinary development of his natural psychological faculties. Of course this may be perfectly natural for Merlin but absolutely supernatural for others less wonderfully endowned.
Merlin will also present many of his famed hypnotic demonstrations including mass hypnosis using volunteers from the audience. He will cause a person to become intoxicated on a glass of ordinary water; another to eat an onion believing it to be a peach. Those who volunteer to be hypnotized will feel the weather change from 40 degrees below zero to 120 degrees above zero, all in the twinkling of an eye. After it's all over, the volunteers remember the demontration as though it had taken place in a dream. Merlin who often hypnotizes individuals with a single glance, claims that if you can concentrate he can read your thoughts and hypnotize you. Curtain time is 8 P.M. at the

Family Will Spend Year In Wilderness

by Bill Huntzicker
University News Service

Dick Swanson works hard for the issues he believes in. He is assistant dean of the University of Minnesota law school. He's 31 years old and makes $20,000 a year.

But in June, he will give it all up.

Dick and his wife, Bonnie, will sell their suburban Minnetonka home and move with their twin children, Brian and Lynn, age six, into a tent in an isolated area of northern Minnesota.

"After thinking about my life style and my career," Swanson said in an interview, "I found they are not really related to my values. I work for many things I don't really believe in and I work hard."

Swanson said he has found his career satisfying but, he said, he wants to quit before he becomes more economically tied to it.

A 1966 graduate of the university law school, Swanson has been assistant state public defender for Hennepin county and an attorney with the firm of MacLaughlin and Harstad in Minneapolis.

As assistant dean, Swanson has been in charge of admissions, scholarships and job placement. He has helped to increase minority enrollment in the law school.

Although he is concerned about the "cop-out implications" of his action, Swanson said he preferred to retreat, at least temporarily, to the wilderness "rather than to sacrifice my life and that of my children in an effort to slow a machine that can't be stopped anyway.

"I spent two rather satisfying years helping poor people who were charged with crimes. But this came to be excessively demanding on my time and my family," he said. "And it seems that with any job you're working on you have to support too many things you don't believe in yourself."

Last fall, Swanson purchased a four-acre lot at the end of a road near the Canadian border and the boundary waters canoe area in the northesastern tip of the state.

He said he and his wife have saved enough money to live there for one year, without electricity or a telephone.

"We hope that by the time it gets too cold to live in a tent, we will have a cabin built," he said. "We will cook and heat with wood and light with kerosene.

"I expect to work with my hands and my back a little bit. There will be furniture to build," he said. "My principal occupation will be the sustaining of life. And we will have to educate the children who will not be in school next year."

Swanson's wife is enrolled in a correspondence course from London to study the Montessori system of education. "From this, we get ideas about educational projects for the kids," he said.

Swanson expects to get to know his family better. "I haven't had the time to know my children as my wife has."

After his year in the wilderness, Swanson doesn't know what he will do.

"I like security as much as anyone," he said. "There may not be a doctor handy in the north country and the job market may not be very good when the year is over. There were a lot of serious questions which we had to face."

He admits that he is able to afford the retreat because of the income he has received as a lawyer. But, he said, many students entering law school don't know what they're getting into.

"If you're going to be a 'successful' lawyer, you have to work within the system 100 per cent. Most lawyers' goals in life are $40,000 to $50,000 a year," Swanson said.

He said a small percentage of law students are more interested in social issues than their own economic stability.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor,

Our school administrators have been heard to say there should be more contact with parents.

Recent, principals of our schools have been approached on their feelings of a P.T.A. in the schools where there isn't one. The teachers have also been informed.

P.T.A., thus far, has been a group of principal, teacher and organizational officers with a handful of parents. It is evident that parents don't care what is going on in the school and aren't concerned about the welfare of their children.

It is very sad when teachers and young people, high school and college age, out-number the parents in attendance at a P.T.A. meeting, which was the case at the last meeting at the Northrop school. By the way, the public was invited to attend this meeting. Max Graham was the speaker.

With all the change in the present school system, why is there such a lack of interest from the parents?

What better way of parent-teacher communication than through P.T.A.? Schools without one should give serious thought to starting one, with the first indication of this coming from the parents, however.

People accepting an office in an organization are expected to do a good job and many do, but some do nothing. Poor leadership can ruin an organization in a short time. I wonder if this is what has happened to many of our P.T.A.'s.

Any interest or suggestions, give me a call.

Sincerely,
Mrs. T. A. Stark

Letter to the Editor:

We as adults are often quilty of criticism of our teenagers. They are on occasion also critical of our adult way of doing things and are sometimes justified.

A case in point is the present situation that exists regarding licensing for driving a motorcycle (two wheel endorsement). As of April 15, 1972 a law passed by the 1971 legislature requires that safety instruction must be taken by anyone under age 18, before a two wheel endorsement can be issued. Few will argue with the need for safety instruction, but why isn't it being made available now?

Place yourself in the shoes of a 16 year old who has for several years saved and waited until he could get a cycle and an operators license. Now he has reached what was the right age, has the necessary funds but the adults have changed the rules and have made no provision whereby he can play by the rules. Probably something can be done by next year, but a year at age 16 can seem rather far away. Feel any discrimination or resentment for the adults who make and enforce the rules?

Surely if Thief River Falls is the leader in northwestern Minnesota which many claim it to be then we should be able to find the resources to solve so small a challenge. Be fair with our teens and they will respond in kind.

Sincerely
Alan Dalen

Foley Board Is Required To Retain Teacher

Foley school board has been ordered to reinstate a high school electronics teacher it attempted to discharge on the grounds of conduct unbecomeing a teacher.

In an order filed April 17, Judge Charles W. Kennedy of Minnesota's seventh district court directed that a peremptory writ of mandamus be issued, which compels the Foley board to reinstate Steven A. Markoe, who was relieved of his duties by board action.

Richard H. Murray, attorney for the Minnesota Education association (MEA) and for Markoe, said that the effect of the order is to qualify Markoe for immediate return to his classroom and for reimbursement of back wages since the board's attempt to fire him last month.

The basis of the court's order was the school board's failure to notify Markoe of its decision within 10 days after a hearing on charges that he was guilty of conduct unbecoming a teacher. The hearing was concluded February 27, but the board did not serve its decision on Markoe until March 22.

In his findings, Judge Kennedy said, "The evidence does not show a reason why findings of fact could not have been made and served within the time fixed by the statute." The judge also concluded that "the board did not comply with the provisions of Minnesota Statutes Sec. 125.12, Subd. 10 and the effort to discharge plaintiff was ineffective."

"It now appears," Murray concludes, "that Steve might have a chance to prove to the community that he is a fine teacher, a fact already understood by the students of the district." He did not mention the conduct which the board had used as a basis for the attempted discharge.

BSC Enrollment Continues Rise Despite Trend

Despite drastic declining college enrollment trends across the nation, Bemidji state college reported recently that its enrollment for the college year 1971-1972 was up 178 over 1970-1971.

Dr. R. D. Decker, made the announcement at the close of spring quarter registration Monday.

Dr. Decker said that in spite of the over-all annual increase the declining national trend was evident in the spring quarter figures as 73 fewer students were on campus this spring than at the same time in 1971.

At the end of fall quarter, BSC enrolled a total of 4,865 or 42 more than the previous year. At the end of winter term, BSC enrolled 4,779 students or 207 more than in winter of 1971. In spring of 1971 the BSC enrollment was 4,523 and this week it is 4,450 or 73 students less than a year ago.

Winter quarter graduation was given as one reason for the spring quarter decrease by Dr. Decker. Others reasons could be a desire to seek employment before the flood of June graduates, a tighter economic picture for the parents of younger students, or a desire to attend a college nearer their home.

In announcing the trend to the faculty at the close of spring registration, Dr. Decker told them that they must look at it positively. "Bemidji state is located in an area of declining population and its faculty must provide programs which will attract students from other areas," he said.

Fast Driving Is Costly Due To Auto Operation

In addition to the high cost of high speeds in relation to the severity of highway crashes, fast driving also is costly in operation of the vehicle.

The Minnesota department of public safety points out that two of the more easily measured are tire wear and fuel consumption.

Though fuel consumption varies with the size and condition of the engine and other factors, it is well known that the miles per gallon decrease rapidly at freeway speeds of 70 to 80 mph.

As to tire wear, an experiment was conducted some years ago by a major tire company test fleet. Two identical tires were driven 19,200 miles over the same route at the same time, on the same make of car, and under standard loads.

Test tire number one was driven at 65 mph for 9,200 miles; 70 mph for 5,000 miles; and 75 mph for another 5,000 miles. When the test was completed, the tire had been worn entirely smooth—no tread remaining.

Test tire number two was driven the entire distance at 60 mph, and at the end of the run it had adequate tread remaining and was still safe to use.

If a driver is economy-minded, he can save a substantial amount of money in a year's time by reducing his speed by from 10 to 15 miles per hour on high-speed highways.

Economic Stabilization

Internal Revenue Service

Q— When my landlord notified me that he was going to raise my rent, I asked the internal revenue service for an interpretation as to whether the increase was justified and the IRS said it was. Can I appeal this decision?

A— Yes. Within 10 days of the interpretation that his rent increase is justified, a tenant may appeal to his IRS district office and may also request a conference to discuss the case. In any case in which an appeal has been denied in whole or in part by the IRS district conferee, the tenant will be notified that he may appeal to the price commission.

Q— Are prescription druggists subject to posting requirements for retailers?

A— Yes. The dispensing of prescription drugs is considered a retail activity and, therefore, it is covered by Price Commission regulations requiring that base prices be posted. The fact that a professional pharmacist is employed to dispense drugs is incidental to the sale of those drugs and does not alter the retail nature of the transaction. IRS publication S-3010, "Posting Requirements for Prescription Druggists", provides detailed information on how pharmacists should comply with the posting regulations. Send a postcard to your IRS district office for a free copy.

Q— Will the internal revenue service issue interpretations or rulings with respect to prices to be charged after April 30, 1973?

A— No. The economic stabilization act of 1970, as amended, expires on April 30, 1973, with respect to transactions after that date. Generally, the internal revenue service will not issue rulings with respect to transactions that will occur after that date.

Q— Recently, the legislature in my state increased the per diem amount it pays to citizens who sit on juries. Is this increase permissible under price commission regulations?

A— Yes. Because payments to jurors are economic transactions which are not prices, rents, wages or salaries, they are not within the coverage of the stabilization program.

Q— Do I have to wait for approval from the pay board to start paying a deferred increase due next month under a pay agreement in effect prior to Nov. 14, 1971?

A— No. Existing contracts and pay practices previously set forth can operate according to their terms except that specific contracts or pay practices are subject to review when challenged by a party at interest or by two of the seven members of the pay board.

Q— Do special procedural rules apply to providers of health services who request an exception?

A— No. The general procedural rules for requesting exception to the economic stabilization regulations apply to health providers.
